When Dr. W. V. Glaisyer and family returned last Friday evening from their trip to Tacoma they were accompanied home by Miss Wahnta Mills, of Eugene, a sorority sister of Betty at St. Helen's Hall. She is spending the week here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Cuning returned last Sunday from a week's trip to Portland. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Virgil Hamilton, a friend who is spending a week here while Mr. Hamilton is calling on customers in Washington cities.

Marilyn Compton, who went over to the Golden Falls camp of the Camp Fire Girls on Wednesday, was brought home the same day, suffering from a fracture of the small bone in her left arm, just above the wrist. She received it when she fell from a swing.

Wednesday morning Mrs. Lufe Compton drove over to Golden Falls above Allegany taking the four girls from Coquille who are attending the Campfire Girls camp there. Those going from Coquille were Doris and Marilyn Compton, Georgianna Johnson and Dorothy Glaisyer.

Ray Schott, formerly with the Coos county highway department but who has been with the state tax commission and living at Salem for the past three years, was shaking hands with old friends here Wednesday. He and Mrs. Schott were returning from a vacation trip into California.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Ganq and two sons arrived here Monday for a week's visit with his brother, C. W. Gano, and family. The visitors' home is in Bellingham, Wash. Part of their time in this section will be spent by the two families in making the loop trip to Crescent City, the caves and Grants Pass.

Mrs. Jennie Price returned Tuesday evening from a month's visit with her two daughters in Montesano, Wash. She was accompanied home by her eight-year old grand daughter, Barbara Barrow. She was also accompanied from Gladstone, near Portland, by Mrs. Inez Chase who had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Maurice Harvey, and her mother, Mrs. Wm. Rich, for ten days.

Mrs. J. E. Norton is enjoying a visit from her mother, Mrs. Alice Stark, and her brother, A. H. Stark, who with his wife and two sons arrived here Wednesday from their home in Meridian, near Boise, Idaho. They will spend several days of their week's visit here at the Norton cottage on Bandon beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Nettleship and son, Jack, came in last Saturday from Yakima, Wash., to spend a week visiting relatives, and are making their headquarters at the H. S. Norton home. Mrs. Nettleship was Erma Price, sister of Mrs. Norton, before her marriage nine years ago. They came down the Coast highway and were so pleased with it that they expect to return home the same way.

Farrs Return from Outing

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Farr and Edythe and Leonard, who returned last week from their two weeks' vacation trip, enjoyed a most wonderful outing, even though Mr. Farr and Leonard did have to stay out in the broiling sun, with the thermometer over 100 degrees and alongside pallisade rocks up in Washington, while they assisted his uncle in digging a small truck out of the sand. The car had been driven in about 200 feet before it stopped and to get out they cut up a four-foot box into strips, placed them under the wheels, drove four feet and then did it all over again. It required five hours to get back to the highway.

At Seneca in eastern Oregon they visited the L. J. Locker family. Mrs. Locher was formerly Miss Minnie Kalbus, home demonstration agent in Coos county when Mr. Farr was county agent. Their home was formerly in Burns but Mr. Locher is now in charge of the office of a Pine lumber mill company at Seneca. They have three children and Mr. Farr reports that Mrs. Locher finds the practical duties of managing a house and children somewhat different from the theoretical viewpoint she had in Coos county ten or twelve years ago.

Spanish War Vets to Picnic

The Spanish War Veterans camp at Marshfield is going to hold its annual picnic on Sunday, August 13, at South Bay. It will be a basket picnic, the camp to furnish hot coffee and cream, and all the Spanish War Veterans and their families in this community are cordially invited to attend. The picnic committee has declared this day to be open season on the National Economy League, and the National Chamber of Commerce and all veterans who attend will be assured of an opportunity to talk pensions till they bust.

Delegates will be back from the State Encampment at Salem, and will be there in person to tell all that took place.—Wesley P. Bruer, Camp Adjutant.

Testing for Bridge Foundations

Marshall Dresser, from the State Highway commission's office is here to make tests for the foundation for the new bridge between North Bend and Glasgow, says the Coos Bay Harbor. The tests will be made by means of a pile driver equipped with a powerful water pump, a series of iron pipes, nozzle and hose. Instead of driving the piling a hole will be made with the pipe and waterpump, after which the piling will be sent to bedrock.

Tests will be made for each pier if possible, or if the formation is found to be fairly level then for only a part of the piers. Mr. Dresser says that bedrock is the ideal foundation but that certain clay formations are also recognized as substantial and equal to the bedrock.

B. P. W. Picnic in Grove

Still another picnic of the past week was that of the Business & Professional Women in the Myrtle Grove park Monday evening. About 20 of the local members attended and after a very enjoyable meal Mrs. Bertha J. Smith gave a brief report of the biennial national convention which has just been held in Chicago.

The next meeting of the club will be a business session, on Aug. 7.

SOCIAL NOTES

A very pleasant and profitable afternoon was spent at the home of Mrs. E. M. Wilson on South Maple street yesterday when the missionary society of the Pioneer church gave a silver tea and missionary program which opened with group singing. Mrs. Alex Peterson and Mrs. F. G. Leslie conducted the devotional exercises. Mrs. Esta Ellis had charge of the lesson, "The place of women in the church." A number of questions and answers brought forth a lively discussion. The ladies were then highly entertained with echoes from the conference brought back by Mesdames James Richmond, Lyman Carrier and Ernest Purvance, who had just returned from attending the Northwest Conference of the Methodist Church South, at Troy, Idaho. It is with much gratification locally that Rev. and Mrs. P. D. Hartman are returned to the Coquille Church for another year. Following this a real musical treat was afforded the company. Miss Elois Wilson favored the ladies with a vocal solo, accompanied by Margaret Purvance. Miss Helen Dunton played a very beautiful piano solo and Margaret Purvance sang a group of songs, accompanied by Miss Dunton. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses: Mesdames Henry Ellis, L. W. Oddy and B. A. Davis to the following members and friends: Mesdames Lee Peterson, Clyde Minard, S. A. Ball, Birdie Skeels, M. W. Way, George Wilkins, Wm. Davis, Alex Peterson, B. C. Minard, James Richmond, F. G. Leslie, Lyman Carrier, R. B. Rogers, Lee Neely, R. T. Slater, D. D. Dale, C. D. Winder, A. T. Fox, Misses Elois Wilson, Bonnie Dunt, Margaret Purvance, Miss Helen Dunton, of Portland, and the hostess, Mrs. Wilson.

Mrs. G. Russell Morgan, of Hillsboro, who is here visiting with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hamilton, was the inspiration for a little evening bridge party given by Mrs. T. B. Currie at her home in the Nosler apartments on Wednesday of this week. The guests arranged a handkerchief shower for Mrs. Morgan that evening, which greatly pleased and surprised her. Attending besides the honored guests were Mesdames A. O. Walker, Fred McNelly, E. L. Kay, Tracy Leach, A. B. Collier, H. W. Pierce and hostess, Mrs. Currie.

County Employees Picnic

Court house officials, employees, and their families, to the number of 67, enjoyed a very fine evening picnic at the Tedsen camp at Norway last Friday and so pleasurable did it prove that it may become an annual affair. Beside the eats there were all sorts of games played, races run, some went swimming, while others just enjoyed the being out of doors. A wedding gift to Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Caughell was presented for the group by Assessor J. P. Beyers. It consisted of a silver metal fork and a handsome set of crystal goblets.

Is a Caravan Advisable?

Ed Miller, manager of the Coast Highway Association, met with the County Chamber of Commerce Monday evening at Myrtle Point, and asked the opinion of those present whether a motor caravan to Victoria, B. C., some time in September would be desirable. He did not wish to start planning such a motorcade unless the people along the route approved. The Victoria Publicity Bureau has asked that a motor caravan come up from California, Oregon and Washington this year, but those who expressed themselves Monday evening thought the plan should wait a year.

County Agent Jenkins reported on the last meeting of the Coos & Curry County Fair board which set Sept. 13-14-15-16 as fair dates. He also said that plans were formulating for a better four days' race meet than has been held for some time past.

Henry G. Kern and Judge Thompson reported on the last meeting of the state highway commission which they attended, along the lines already reported in the county press.

Cliff Day, secretary of the county chamber, reported the request of the Conoco Travel Bureau at Denver, Colo., for several hundred copies of the Coos county recreational booklet. The present supply in the county is less than 500, and the county chamber has no funds to provide more. It was suggested that he send 250 copies.

The Conoco Bureau is one of the best mediums for distributing Coos publicity in the middle west that has yet been found, and it has been frequently demonstrated that that bureau gets the pamphlets into the hands of those who later come this way.

Those present for the meeting were the president and secretary, H. G. Kern, Cliff Day, and Wm. Vaughan, of North Bend; Ed Kreiger and C. T. Nunn, of Marshfield; R. L. Stewart, Geo. Jenkins, D. F. Thompson and H. A. Young, of Coquille; Jno. D. Carl, Geo. E. Hampton and J. L. Burtis, of Arago; J. D. Clinton, of Myrtle Point; Ed Liddle and E. O. Sempert, of Powers.

Fire Training in Conservation Camps

Recently the Rangers on the Siskiyou National Forest have completed a thorough training and organization of fire crews in each of the E. C. W. camps on the Forest. This training was made a real job, and the Ranger, with the help of the Camp Commander and Camp Superintendent, went into a very thorough training of the men in the methods of fire prevention around camp and in the woods, fire chasing, fire location, organization of crews, and the making of records and reports. In other words, the Siskiyou Forest, instead of having a protective organization of around 60 men this year, will have an organization of between thirteen and fourteen hundred men.

VACATIONS and HEALTH

By Dr. ERNEST H. LINES

CHILDREN IN SUMMER MONTHS

FOR children, the summer months are playtime. Free from the tasks of the schoolroom, they look forward eagerly to the games and pleasures of the vacation period. But intelligent and careful planning for the holidays is as essential for children as for adults. Since the routine of school health education is suspended, full responsibility for health falls on the shoulders of parents.

The vacation period of the average city child is usually spent with adult relatives at summer resorts, at organized camps, or in the year-round city environment. It is the unfortunate children who spend the last type of vacation who require the closest supervision.

They should be particularly warned against over-exertion and heat prostration, against eating foods handled by street vendors, and against the dangers of accident from automobiles. The most tragic aspect of the child's vacation period is the increased number of avoidable accidents to children due to the failure of parents and children to carry on the safety campaign waged throughout the school year.

Although swimming is excellent exercise for children, particularly since it teaches them how to take care of themselves in the water, care should be taken to avoid the pollution of "the old swimming hole." Children who go to summer camps should be examined in advance by the family physician and a record should be sent to the camp authorities so they may regulate the child's activities in accordance with his physical condition.

Explosions Many accidents to children occur from the explosion of dynamite caps left lying around vacant houses, summer cottages and other places

This is the second of a series of 12 articles on Vacations and Health. The third, on Camp Life, will answer the questions: 1. What first aid should be administered for snake bites? 2. How should a camp site be selected? 3. How should firearms be carried?
