

SOCIAL NOTES

Invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Glenda Kendall and Clifford Judd, which is to take place Sunday, February 4th, at two p. m. at the Pioneer Church. In the bridal party Miss Dora Kendall will be her sister's maid of honor, Miss Audrey Kendall, a younger sister, will be bridesmaid and Elmer C. Briner will act as best man and Alvin Shaver as usher. The wedding march will be played by Miss Margaret Purvance and Miss Martha Carrier will accompany on the violin.

Many delightful affairs have been given Miss Glenda Kendall, who has been a very popular bride-elect of this season, one of which was a tea given Saturday afternoon from three until six o'clock by Miss Kay Miller, with the affair held at the Kendall home on Spurgeon Hill. At a beautifully appointed table, decorated with yellow spring flowers and yellow tapers, Miss Margaret Purvance and Miss Anne Van Scoy poured, while Misses Audrey Kendall, Harriet Webb and Gretchen Neal served.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Detlefsen entertained with a waffle breakfast Sunday at twelve-thirty o'clock at their home on the Fishtap road in honor of Miss Glenda Kendall and Clifford Judd. Covers were provided for beside the honored couple, Miss Dora Kendall, Miss Bernice Eggleston, Belmont Ireland, Elmer Briner and the hosts.

Lyman Carrier, one of Coquille's outstanding citizens who left Tuesday for eastern points where he has accepted an appointment with the Department of the Interior, was given a farewell party Monday evening at the Pioneer Church hall, with the evening starting with a pot-luck dinner and about one hundred attending. Mr. Carrier, who has been a faithful worker of that church, was presented with a beautiful leather brief case. Many touching speeches were given that evening, all in compliment to the deeply respected gentleman whom the community as well as the church regret losing. On Sunday, following the church services, about thirty people enjoyed dinner together at the Carrier Bandon beach cottage, with a very enjoyable day spent by all who motored down.

Another affair given for the pleasure of Lyman Carrier was the surprise party last Friday evening when the Justamere club ladies and their husbands gathered at his home and spent a very enjoyable evening. The hours were spent in playing hearts. Mrs. Carrier also sang a few numbers, Mrs. Hawkins accompanying her. The ladies of the club presented Mr. Carrier with a pocket size memorandum book, which they hope he will be able to put to use. Present that evening were Messrs. and Mesdames C. J. Fuhrman, M. O. Hawkins, F. L. Greenough, W. S. Sickle, Nels Osmundson, J. L. Smith, Bert Folsom, J. A. Lamb, Paul Van Scoy, Mrs. E. E. Johnson, Mrs. A. J. Sherwood, and Mrs. R. E. Carruthers, of Astoria.

A luncheon party was given last Thursday by Mrs. George Lorenz in compliment to Mrs. Lou Kime, who is leaving Coquille soon for California, where she will make her home. Sewing and conversation were the afternoon pleasures for those included: Mesdames Lou Kime, J. W. Laird, Caroline Lorenz, E. W. Lorenz, Arthur Ellingson, Muri Pettit, Edna Hartson and Mrs. Ella Nelson, of Bandon.

The Woman's Guild of the Episcopal Church met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. W. H. Mansell and Mrs. E. L. Vinton as hostesses. Attending were Mesdames Lloyd Rosa, George Lorenz, E. W. Lorenz, Muri Pettit, James Watson, C. J. Fuhrman, Geo. W. Taylor, C. K. Norcott, Ray Thomas, R. L. Stewart, Louis Charnecki, Bert Folsom, A. J. Sherwood and Roy Neal.

Mrs. George Sherwood was the delightful hostess to the O. D. O. club ladies at her home Wednesday afternoon with the following present: Mesdames Fred Kunz, C. W. Gano, B. B. Sanders, H. G. Prey, L. A. Christenson, Guss Tillmann. Their next club meeting will be held at Mrs. Tillmann's home.

At the home of Mrs. W. E. Cross yesterday the Laf-a-lot club members were delightfully entertained, with sewing and conversation as diversions. Mrs. Cross included several extra guests: Mrs. Lee Stonecypher, Mrs. Harold Simons, Mrs. Swain Donsted, Mrs. Martin Schmidt, Mrs. Tom Detlefsen and Mrs. Guy Tennant, of Bridge. Mrs. Tennant was honor guest that afternoon and a shower was held for her pleasure. Members present were Mesdames E. A. Wimer, William Myers, Ed Detlefsen, George Gilman, Joe Nilsen, Millie Waters, O. K. Rakestraw and W. D. Simmons.

The Justamere club ladies were guests of Mrs. Lyman Carrier today for one o'clock luncheon, with covers laid for Mesdames Nels Osmundson, L. H. Hazard, W. S. Sickle, H. A. Young, J. A. Lamb, A. J. Sherwood, O. C. Sanford, Paul Van Scoy, M. O. Hawkins, F. L. Greenough, R. A. Wernich, E. E. Johnson, Hal W. Pierce, C. J. Fuhrman, Bert Folsom, J. L. Smith and R. E. Carruthers.

Thursday for dessert luncheon Mrs. R. L. Stewart entertained her contract club with the following present: Mesdames L. H. Hazard, W. S. Sickle, J. A. Lamb, F. L. Greenough, R. A. Wernich, George Chaney, Paul Van Scoy, Ray Thomas, Louis Charnecki, A. E. Bradford and R. E. Carruthers.

Junior Strictly Femmes

The "Strictly Fems, Jr." held a peppy meeting at the home of Louise Woodyard. The meeting was called to order by the president, Patricia Peart. The election of officers took place as follows: president, Maxine Knight; vice president, Doris Chapman; secretary, Barbara Leslie; treasurer, Patricia Chapman; reporter, Patricia Peart; committee chairman, Louise Woodyard; sergeant-at-arms, Bettie Kern. The newly elected president then took charge of the meeting. After the meeting was adjourned, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Bettie Kern. Louise Woodyard made a very charming hostess and the evening was spent with much enjoyment.

"Little Women" to Be at Liberty, Sunday

Charles Farrell and Bette Davis are co-starred in "The Big Shake-down," which comes to the Liberty Theatre tonight and tomorrow.

Farrell and Miss Davis, who play for the first time together, make delightful screen lovers. Farrell will be remembered for sterling characterizations in such recent pictures as "Aggie Appleby, Maker of Men," "The First Year," "Wild Girl," and "Tess of the Storm Country," and in many others with Janet Gaynor.

Miss Davis, who recently has risen to stellar roles, is best known for such pictures as "Bureau of Missing Persons," "Ex-Lady" and "The Working Man." Ricardo Cortez is the villain of the production. He does not hesitate to put his own sweetheart on the spot, when he jilts her for another light o' love.

The picture is a thrilling drama dealing with a new type of racketeering which has come in since the Reveal made the liquor game less profitable. It is based on the story "Cut Rate" by Sam Engels and Niven Busch and was adapted for the screen by Busch and Rian James. John Francis Dillon directed.

Lee Tracy is starred in one of the fastest moving pictures of his career in "Turn Back the Clock." The Saturday night preview is an extraordinary yarn of a man who is allowed to relive his life through stirring events of the past decade. Tracy plays the owner of a small cigar store in New York, married and barely able to make ends meet. Sometimes he wonders how different life would have been had he married a wealthy girl from his home-town. By an ingenious twist in the tale, he is given an opportunity to relive his life and things turn out far different than he had anticipated.

And now the screen fans walk arm in arm with Louisa M. Alcott into the romantic glories of the Sixties, back to the days when women were dainty as well as beautiful, and men bowed with the grace of knighthood. The sentence should be enough to make the lovers of "Little Women," and they number into the millions, weep with joy.

Here is the immortal sister quartette:
Jo, played by Katharine Hepburn.
Amy, played by Joan Bennett.
Meg, played by Frances Dee.
Beth, played by Jean Parker.

And men were men, too, when Jo stirred the countryside with her all but daring refusal to marry Laurie, the rich boy next door, and her goings-on in the great city. Into the clothes and character of the dashing Laurie comes Douglass Montgomery.
Paul Lukas is the lumbering, lovable Fritz Bhaer, the learned man of the city whose courtship ends in the old homestead of the March's.
John Davis Lodge is Brooke, who marries Meg.

Others in a cast that embraces more than twenty popular players are Edna May Oliver, Henry Stephenson, Spring Byington, Samuel Hinds, Mabel Colcord and Nydia Westman.
Executive Producer Merian C. Cooper of RKO-Radio Pictures, which has made "Little Women" with religious fidelity to the original, has indeed honored the memory of the great author and given the present generation a panorama of an era as well as entertainment of the highest order. It will be shown at the Liberty on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Pupils in Recital Next Tuesday
Mrs. E. A. Woodyard will present pupils in voice and piano, both beginners and advanced, in recital at the Episcopal Parish House next Tuesday evening, Feb. 6th, at 7:30 p. m. All friends and others interested in music are cordially invited to attend. Several young people from Bandon who are studying with Mrs. Woodyard will appear on the program.

Last Saturday afternoon grade children who study piano with Mrs. Woodyard met at her home for their regular monthly studio recital. Prizes were awarded Donna Dean Bosserman, Louise Woodyard, Marvine McClellan and Betty Emery. Refreshments were served by Marvine McClellan and Evelyn Gano.

Calling cards 50 for $1.00.

Public Funds on Deposit Must Draw Interest

Under a new law enacted at the special session public funds deposited in a bank and accepted by that bank must draw some rate of interest, the rate to be determined at the time the deposit is made. This is the gist of a decision of the Oregon supreme court, written by Justice Rand, affirming the opinion of Judge Norton of Grants Pass on an appeal from Josephine county, says the Harbor.

Chief Justice Rand held that "where the plaintiff bank accepts deposits of public funds of the city of Grants Pass, some rate of interest must be agreed upon between the city and bank and such rate, after being agreed upon, must be paid by the bank if it cares to accept the deposits of the city."

The opinion did not make it mandatory upon the bank to accept city deposits, and this question was not made a part of the appeal. Under the new bank code the rate of one-fourth of one per cent has been agreed upon and this, it is supposed, will be the rate paid by all banks accepting deposits of public funds, such as city, school and county money.

Sea Island
Sea Island, off the coast of Georgia, formerly known as Long Island, was owned by John Couper, who also bought the northern end of St. Simon's island in 1793. Long island was used as a pasture for his cattle. The island was sold in 1895 to a company which planned the erection of a hotel on the beach. The Colister hotel was subsequently built and the island was renamed Sea Island. It is noteworthy for the many specimens of shells that are found on the beach.

Jellyfish
A jellyfish has every mechanism of life, including eyespots, tentacles, nerves, mouth, stomach and eggs, yet the animal ratter comprises only one half of 1 per cent of the creature, the remainder being a translucent, jelly-like substance almost wholly composed of water.—Colliers' Magazine.

Indians Did It First
The present accepted style for foot racers the world over—running on a straight line, planting one foot directly in front of the other—was borrowed from the American Indian, who probably got that way jogging along a narrow trail.

Squirrel Daring Robber
The squirrel is a daring robber. He feeds on bird eggs, fruits, herbs, flesh and nuts, the latter being sorted and secretly stored in quantities sometimes equaling one bushel. Such large stores are necessary because the squirrel does not hibernates.

Hebrides Are Numerous
The Hebrides, the group of islands off the west coast of Scotland number more than 500 individual islands. The far greater part, however, are unoccupied, only about 100 being habitations of man.
