"Convention City" Coming to the Liberty, Sunday--Feature and Preview for Friday and Saturday Nights

What is the menace behind this sudden movement of Adolphe Menjou and Guy Kibbee in "Convention City"? Could it be Mary Astor, Joan Blondell, or one of the ten stars featured in the hit coming to the Liberty Theatre on Sunday? Our guess is that an uprising of the female representation is causing the hasty departure of the lady-killers. You'll have to see "Convention City" to find out.

More love tangles than have ever been seen in one picture before will be unfolded on the screen of the Liberty Theatre when the comedy, "Convention City," will open Sunday. The many love affairs are said to lead to the maddest, merriest situations imaginable.

The plot of the story is unique and novel, centering about the riotous happenings at the annual sales jam-for at Atlantic City, and painting the conventionists as neglecting business in order to turn play-boys.

A couple of wives who drop in unexpectedly on the carousals add to the hilarious entanglements. Joan Blondell, as the gold digging, blonde-haired vamp, causes most of the troubles with her roving eyes and her siren smile. Men attending the convention fall for her by the earload with disastrous results to their bankrolls.

A strong all star cast includes, besides Miss Blondell, Adolphe Menjou, Dick Powell, Mary Astor, Guy Kibbee, Frank McHugh, Patricia Ellis, Ruth Donnelly, Hugh Herbert and Hobart Cavanaugh.

"The Thundering Herd," another of Zane Grey's thrilling novels has been filmed by Paramount, and will be shown tonight and Saturday night. Movie fans will be pleased to see another of their old time favorites, Monte Blue, who has an important supporting role in this Zane Grey epic. "The Thundering Herd" is set against a moving background of buffalo. In the days when that animal roamed the western prairies in great droves, much money was to be made in selling buffalo hides.

"Eight Girls in a Boat" is the title of the preview which will appear both Friday and Saturday nights. It tells in interesting fashion the story of what happens when an innocent, sheltered girl dares experiment with romance. It is laid against a background of an exclusive girls' school whose walls and stern rules thunder "No Men Allowed!" One girl falls in love with a young medical student outside the wall. Tragedy is inevitable. She tries to keep her secret to herself, but fails. It is only through the sympathy and understanding of one of the teachers at the school that the girl finds the happiness for which she yearns.

A CORRECTION

In giving you the details for your article last week about my early day school, I made a typographical error by stating that the intermediate grade was in the Christian Church. I should have said the Christian Science church.
