

B. P. W. Met Monday

The gingham party for the Business and Professional Women's Club was characterized by gingham gowns of all descriptions—plaid gingham, dotted gingham, figured gingham, striped gingham and plain gingham.

The short business meeting which was to precede the social festivities of the evening was so prolonged that it was necessary to forego the entertainment planned by Mrs. Georgia Richmond and her social committee.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: president, Belle R. Gould; first vice-president, Georgia Richmond; second vice-president, Harriet Gould; secretary, Edna Robinson; treasurer, Ula Leach.

A full report of the Marshfield convention was given by the various members who had attended. The members of the club voted to hold the annual Mother's Day banquet in the Coquille Hotel. Five new members were elected to membership in the club. They are Mabel Ulett, associate member, and Flora Compton, Kathleen Collier, Geneva Agostino, and Vera Gaslin.

Miss Muriel Dae, accompanied by Mrs. E. A. Woodyard at the piano, gave six delightful violin solos. Miss Dae's generosity was well appreciated by all the club. At the conclusion of her numbers, acting upon a motion by Mrs. Bertha Smith, a rising vote of thanks was accorded Mrs. Woodyard for helping out with club programs so many, many times.

Miss Kathleen McClintock next entertained with a reading entitled, "One Year After." Miss Ines Rover played a piano solo and Mrs. Leona Bryant sang several numbers to her own accompaniment. All the pieces on the program contributed toward points in the contest which ended that same evening. The side captained by Jennie Lindroos was adjudged the winner which entitles them to an evening's entertainment sponsored by the losing side under Frances Oddy.

Following adjournment, refreshments of sandwiches and coffee were served by Mrs. Richmond and her committee, Jennie Price, Frances Oddy and Lela Elrod.

Playground Committee Meets

Another link was added to the chain of activities when the Playground Committee met in regular session Monday evening, April 16, in Guild Hall.

Mr. Purvance reported for the ground and equipment committee that the Smith Wood-Products would donate the lumber for the back boards of the basketball courts.

The committee is grateful to Mrs. Vinton who turned over $29.00 as proceeds from the dance given last Saturday, explaining that this was her own personal contribution, for the Playground Committee had not sponsored the dance. The committee trusts that this statement will clear up any erroneous opinion on the matter.

Mrs. Knife and Mrs. Mulkey were appointed by the chairman, Mr. Osika, to plan for opening ceremonies to be held shortly after school is out the last of May. It was decided that all children could participate in playground activities who had actually been in school for at least one year and also those who have graduated from the grades but have not as yet entered high school.

Mrs. Esta Ellis reported for the budget committee the following contributions as a result of the cooked food sale and solicitations for equipment:

Cooked food sale, $33.53; equipment donations, $33.53; supervisor's salary, $1.00; one indoor bat, E. W. Gregg; one ball, Lamb's Hardware; three pounds cotton, four rolls bandage, three rolls tape, five bottles iodine, one large bottle mercurchrome, one pair scissors, Hudson's, Fuhrman's Rackleff's; one bag, Gould's.

The next regular meeting of the committee will be held the third Monday evening in May.

W. C. T. U. at Bandon Cottage

The local W. C. T. U. enjoyed a fine day at Bandon beach Friday when Mrs. Richmond invited them to a picnic dinner at her cabin. After lunch a business meeting and short program was given, the rest of the day being spent in trips on the beach and sewing at the cottage. Those enjoying the day were: Mrs. E. M. Beckham, Mrs. Eva McCue and Mrs. Delbert Loree, of Bandon, Mesdames Frank Leslie, Flora Dunn, B. A. Davis, Geo. Davis, Pearl McHenry, D. D. Dale, Sadie Jayes, C. L. Willey, Kenneth Thompson, W. E. Thompson, Fred Schaefer, C. C. Farr, Georgia Richmond and Mr. John Quick. The next meeting will be with Mrs. C. L. Willey May 11.

Senior Prom Greatly Enjoyed

The first Senior Ball since 1929 was given by the Senior Class of Coquille High School on the night of April thirteenth at the L. O. O. F. Hall. Approximately two hundred invitations were issued and the program dance was thoroughly enjoyed by the many who attended. Floor baskets of wistaria and cut flowers formed the chief decoration of the hall and a large bowl of white roses ornamented the table in the dining hall where punch was served by two Freshman girls, Marilyn Compton and Audrey Taylor.

The main feature of the evening was the introduction of the May Queen and her attendants who had been elected that day by the student body of Coquille High School. Faye Hurrell received the majority of votes for Queen and her six attendants will be Anne Barton, Rose Matney, Faye June Nosler, Tessie Ruble, Beryl Unsoeld, and Freda Wilson.

Patrons and patronesses for the Ball were Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Bunch, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bryant, Dr. and Mrs. W. V. Glaisyer, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Leslie, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Ward and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hartley.

Committee chairmen responsible for the dance were: president, Manley Matney; adviser, Miss McClintock; decorations, Faye June Nosler; program, Lois Harry; and refreshments, Bob Bailey.

Good Pictures on Liberty Program This Week

A gay and hilariously insane saga of two slap-stickian heroes who let the world laugh with, for and at them while they peddle flavored lipsticks, participate in a cross-country automobile race, make love to beautiful girls and wise-crack gaily, is "Hips, Hips, Hooray," musical extravaganza starring Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, with Ruth Etting, Dorothy Lee and Thelma Todd featured. It will appear at the Liberty on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

"Hips, Hips, Hooray" combines laughter, music and gorgeous girls in its tomfoolery. Wheeler and Woolsey are seen as cosmetic salesmen whose office is the city street. By a stroke of luck, they find themselves promoting the sale of Miss Frisby's beauty preparations. Soon, Woolsey is falling in love with the languorous Miss Frisby, Wheeler is falling in love with her assistant Daisy, and the world is falling in love with flavored lipsticks.

The luck runs smooth until George Meeker, the concern's manager, jilts his sweetheart Ruth and forms designs on Daisy. He frames the boys to get rid of them, making them the innocent thieves of $10,000. To escape detection they flee in a racing car which is entered in a cross-continent race. The climax is crammed with incidents said to set an audience howling.

With America's favorite radio and stage tune, "The Last Round-Up," as the basis for its story, Paramount's picturization of Zane Grey's novel, "The Border Legion," appropriately entitled "The Last Round-Up," is coming tonight to the Liberty Theatre.

Randolph Scott, Barbara Fritchie, a newcomer to Hollywood in her first picture, Monte Blue, Fred Kohler and Fuzzy Knight head the imposing cast.

The story, a vivid account of the thieving "border legion" opens with a terrific gun fight in which the "legion" is driven from California.

Headed by Monte Blue with Fred Kohler as his right hand man, they hit for Arizona. Enroute, Blue rescues Randolph Scott from a mob determined to lynch him for a murder he did not commit.

Now an outlaw, although guilty of no crime, Scott casts his lot with the gang. Later he meets Barbara Fritchie, ex-sweetheart of Blue, who previous to his bandit days, had jilted him. Scott and Miss Fritchie fall in love, but when Scott attempts to take her away, his plan is frustrated by Blue. When Scott later takes Blue's life, the bandit chieftain takes a liking to the young fellow. Then, however, develops a three-cornered pursuit of Miss Fritchie by Blue, Kohler and Scott, and in a thrilling finish, mid much gun-play, the two lovers are united.

Ginger Rogers is said to climb one more step toward screen heights with her performance in "Rafter Romance," comedy-drama coming to the Liberty as the preview both Friday and Saturday nights.

"Rafter Romance" concerns the ludicrous and embarrassing adventures of a young girl who goes broke in Greenwich Village, and is forced to share an attic with a struggling young artist, whom she hates actively and who returns the compliment. She never sees, meets or knows him there, as their work keeps them apart. Eventually, their meeting outside evolves into love, and he brings her to his home... her home.

J. C. Penney Co. Observing Thirty-Second Anniversary

Was It Luck? Ask James Cash Penney about his phenomenal rise from a dry goods clerk at $2.27 a month to the chairmanship of the board of the J. C. Penney Company, which last year did a business of $178,790,900. He'll tell you it was hard work and saving.

"I know that it was not luck," he said recently. "I distinguish between luck and opportunity. Yet I realize that hard work alone is not enough to make a man successful. Many men have worked hard and conscientiously and still failed to achieve business success because they lacked vision, singleness of purpose and the co-operation of others."

"Trust in hard work" is an oft-repeated precept of Mr. Penney's. "My whole life has been given to the selection and training of young men and women," he said. "I believe it the duty of older people to share experience with them. I wish I knew how to make them understand what I mean when I tell them to put their trust in hard work."

Mr. Penney's first job was a salesman in a dry goods store in Hamilton, Mo., where he received $25 for a trial period of eleven months. As the third year approached his health failed and he was ordered West by his doctor. In Denver the best job he could find paid him six dollars a week. Soon afterward he started his first independent business venture by opening a butcher shop in Longmont, Colorado. Because he refused to bribe the chef of the local hotel with a pint of whiskey a week, he lost the hotel trade, and since the hotel furnished most of the business in the town, he soon afterward lost the butcher shop. He went to work for T. M. Callahan in the local dry goods store and it was here that the idea of building up a system of stores first took shape. Mr. Callahan and his partner, Mr. Johnson, were at that time engaged in creating the first partnership system of dry good stores, and young Penney had the vision to see that this partnership idea had unlimited possibilities. He accepted a one-third interest in a store which he and Mr. Callahan and Mr. Johnson opened in Kremmerer, Wyoming, and, shortly afterward, when Mr. Callahan and Mr. Johnson decided to separate, Mr. Penney bought a full interest in the stores they had operated at Kremmerer, Rock Springs and Cumberland. These three stores were the nucleus of the present nationwide organization. Today, 32 years later, nearly 1,500 department stores bear the name of J. C. Penney.

Mr. Penney gives full credit for the success of the company to his associates. He said recently, "I owe so much to my business associates that I am sometimes at a loss to distinguish what it is I owe myself." Because of the partnership plan on which the company was founded, Mr. Penney is known the country over as the "Man with a Thousand Partners."

Mr. Penney retired as president of the company in 1917 and became chairman of the board of directors. He was succeeded in the presidency by Mr. Earl Corder Sams, a man whom he had hired ten years before in Store No. 1 at Kemmerer.

This month, the 32nd Anniversary of the Penney Company, is being celebrated in nearly 1500 stores from coast to coast.
