Week's Program at the Liberty

Warner Oland, known to moviegoers the world over as the impersonator of that bland Chinese detective, Charlie Chan, once again assumes the role he so intelligently interprets the latest mystery release, "Charlie Chan's Courage," which opens at the Liberty tonight. Preview reports indicate that the film, which was adapted to the screen from Earl Derr Biggers' novel, "The Chinese Parrot," abounds in thrills, blood-chilling mystery and drama. Donald Woods, who helps Chan clear up the mystery, supplies the romantic interest along with the lovely Drue Layton.

"Housewife," which comes to the Liberty as the preview tonight and Saturday, is a dynamic love drama spiced with hilarious comedy, and with an especial appeal to women inasmuch as it shows, for the first time, how the wife inspires her husband to success. It has an unusually strong and well balanced cast with George Brent, Bette Davis and Ann Dvorak forming the triangle in a unique domestic entanglement and John Halliday crashing in to complicate matters as the lover of the neglected wife.

Warner Bros. melodramatic thriller of Uncle Sam's jack-tars, "Here Comes the Navy," opens at the Liberty theatre Sunday for a three-day run, with James Cagney and Pat O'Brien co-starred and 3,000 sailors taking active part.

The picture is said to carry some of the most breath-taking thrills ever witnessed, in addition to supplying plenty of hilarious comedy and a glowing romance. The action takes place aboard the U.S.S. Arizona; at the dirigible field at Sunnyvale, Calif., with the U.S.S. Macon; at the Naval Training Station at San Diego, Calif., and at the Navy Yards at Bremerton, Wash.

One of the stirring scenes which comes in as part of the background of the picture is the weighing of anchor of the entire Pacific Fleet to start its cruise for American waters on Presidential command. This is the first time such a scene of an entire fleet in action has ever been shown in a picture.

There is thrill after thrill in the picture, two of the most breath-taking being the rescue of a gun crew from a flaming turret and the saving of a man who has been carried aloft clinging to a ground wire of a dirigible by a sailor sliding down the rope with a parachute strapped to his back and dropping with the man to the ground.
