Fairview

The entertainment held at the community hall in Fairview last Saturday evening proved to be a big success with dancing following the main program. Santa and Mrs. Claus distributed candy, nuts, and popcorn to the kiddies and old folks as well, then presented the gifts, which were enjoyed by all. The people taking part in the main program were trained by Miss Edythe Woodward and Mrs. Althea Harrah and presented the following numbers: song, "Jingle Bell," by everybody; song, "Up on the House-top," school; recitation, "If You're Good," Freddie Dow; exercise, "Making a Christmas Tree," John Saylor and primary room; pantomime, "When Old Kris Comes," Billie Berry, Melvin Johnson, Chas. Stevenson and Lucille Hatcher; exercise, "Come Again, Santa," primary room; play, "Making a Movietone of Santa," fifth grade; song, "Star of the East," Sunday School class; play, "Just Like Papa," fourth grade; song, "It Came upon the Midnight Clear," advanced girls; reading, "Peter Buys a Present," Raymond Norris; string quartette, "Long, Long Ago" and "Joy to the World," Marjorie McGhee, Erwin Henagin, Raymond Norris and Harold Norris; recitation, "A Good Boy," Donald Boone; play, "Mother Goose," primary room; trio, "Good King Wenceslaus" and "We Three Kings," Harold Young, Erwin Henagin, Norman Powell; play, "Christmas Carols," advanced room; recitation, "Dear Santa Claus," John Saylor; "Silent Night," women's chorus. These ladies, teachers in the Fairview school, are certainly to be commended for presenting one of the most enjoyable programs the valley folks have yet had the pleasure of seeing.

D. V. Yeoman, road foreman with the Siuslaw national forest, Cape Creek camp, at Yachats, Ore., spent the Christmas holidays with his family.

Thursday, Dec. 20, the school bus of this district was compelled to detour by the Lee route to get to Coquille because of fallen trees on the Fairview mountain, making the road impassable. Because of this delay, the bus was unavoidably late. An occurrence of this sort is certainly unpleasant to the driver and those who ride the bus and they hope to see much of the roadside timber cleared away soon so that the daily trips can be made without fear of falling snags.

Among the younger folks home for the Christmas holidays are: Sam Korhner from Eugene; Faye Holverstott, from Corvallis; and Harold Berry, from North Plains. Sam is here visiting his mother, Mrs. David Tosten, and will return to Eugene next week.

The Fairview Sunday school had an unusually large attendance last Sunday, considering the people who attended the program Saturday evening. Approximately fifty people were present, the number being just one more than the previous Sunday.

Most of the valley residents spent Christmas day at their homes, but those who went visiting were: Mr. and Mrs. John Phillips and Foster Phillips, who spent the day with friends in Marshfield; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Holverstott and family and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Benham and family who journeyed to Bridge to visit Mrs. Carrie Benham.

Riverton News

Wednesday evening the Young People's Club held another meeting. Mr. and Mrs. James Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Young, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Panter, Mr. and Mrs. Barkley, Rose Matney, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Moulth, Maurice Nulf and Aubrey Haan were new members voted into the club.

The high school girls' athletic association is using a point system to get their numerals. Louise Carlson, June Danielson, Genevieve Haga, Ileen Harris, Evelyn Miller, Esther Watson, Katy Paep and Harriet Miller have earned ten points toward theirs.

The industrial art class is studying the priming and grinding of the valves of two gas engines which were furnished by Melvin Ward. Others in the class are making footstools, milk-stools and figure-four traps.

Mr. and Mrs. Hepler and children, Benny and Billy, spent their Christmas in the Willamette valley with friends and relatives.

Riverton high school was host just before vacation to several former students and friends, including Clarence and Harold Hustin, Howard Schroeder, a graduate of '34, Mrs. George Steward, Mrs. Hepler, Mrs. Edgar Barkley and Earl Edgemon.

Santa Claus was forced to send his regrets to the high school Christmas party here, so Maxyne Martin and Esther Watson substituted for him in distributing the gifts. The assembly was in charge of the girls league association, which presented a short play before the presents were given out. The play was entitled, "The Stolen Pajamas." This little skit was well acted and brought forth peals of laughter from the audience.

At the close of the program Mr. Haan, principal, gave a short talk wishing everyone Merry Christmas. The grade school Friday evening presented the finest Christmas program heard here in years. It was in the form of an operetta, "Topsy Turvy Christmas." The leading parts were taken by Frankie Edgemon, Joyce Moody, Rex Chappell, Dora Gilman, Max Mullens and Billy Ray. The program was given free of charge and a good crowd was there to see it. One group remarked that they had come 52 miles to see it.

Christmas Party at Fairview

There was a Christmas gathering at the S. K. Hatcher home at Fairview on Tuesday. The day was spent in a good visit and in the telling of stories and jokes of days gone by and a Christmas dinner was enjoyed. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Pictures at the Liberty The Coming Week

James Cagney comes to the Liberty Theatre tonight and Saturday in his latest picture, "The St. Louis Kid," which is said to be the most ritously funny as well as the most thrillingly dramatic production in which he has yet appeared. The story by Frederick Hazlitt Brennan revolves about a milk trust war which Jimmy has unwittingly started by a speech conjured up to get himself out of jail for having knocked the milk magnate cold. The milk war leads to a score of thrilling situations in which Jimmy is arrested for a murder he did not commit, his girl is kidnaped, and another war with the band of abductors. The breath-taking action, interspersed with hilarious comedy winds up in a novel and astounding climax.

Jimmy has the role of a red-headed, hot tempered Irish truck driver who gets into trouble every minute. Patricia Ellis has the romantic role and proves as efficient in rough methods as Jimmy himself, for she smacks him for a row of milk cans when he smashes her car. But she makes him like it so well that he rushes to her rescue when she is kidnaped. She doesn't confine her smacks to Jimmy, however, but lets a detective have it in the jaw when he gets fresh. There is a strong supporting cast with Allen Jenkins in the leading role as Jimmy's dumb pal who is responsible for a large part of his troubles.

A gay, romantic comedy of a handsome beauty doctor to whom thousands of women flock for his "special" treatments, "Kiss and Make-Up," will be the preview both nights. The supporting cast includes Lucien Littlefield, Mona Maris, Toby Wing, Dorothy Christie, Henry Armetta and the thirteen Wampas Baby Stars of 1934.

Resplendent in its strikingly beautiful settings and costumes, filled to the brim with sly, ingratiating humor, telling a romantic tale that cannot fail to delight every onlooker, and echoing the never-to-be-forgotten melodies of Franz Lehar, "The Merry Widow" comes to the Liberty Sunday and Monday for two nights only. With a cast that could not be improved upon and the superb direction of Ernst Lubitch this picture floats along like a bubble of merriment to tell its story of the debonair prince and the bewitching widow whom he waltzes away to romance amid the nocturnal delights of gay Vienna and Paris. Maurice Chevalier and Jeanette MacDonald have never enjoyed a greater triumph. They sing the Lehar songs as they have never been sung before, backgrounded by a magnificent symphony orchestra. Una Merkel and George Barbier help in the humorous scenes and the eye-filling dances and Albertina Rasch ballets are a joy to behold. "The Merry Widow" is the grandest thing to come out of Hollywood in a long, long time.
