Riverton News

The high school boys were promised by the school board that if they would clean up all the debris left because of the fire and finish the tennis court, that they, the school board, would pay for basketball transportation the rest of the season. Wednesday afternoon the boys made a very good showing on the work. They got most of the poles up for the tennis court and finished burning the gymnasium trash.

Monday morning the Randolph school bus was late and many of the parents brought their children to school in order that they should not be late.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Barkley have moved into the O'Dell house for the remainder of the school term. Mr. Barkley is athletic coach in the high school and was forced to move from the Clausen house he has occupied all winter because Mr. and Mrs. Griffin, who own the house, have moved back here from Klamath Falls where they spent the past winter.

Miss Ileen Harris has been ill this week, suffering from intestinal flu. She is recovering rapidly.

Miss Helen Nulf, who is attending business college at Eugene, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nulf, for a few weeks, before returning to her studies in the college town.

Dorothy Glaisyer and Lucille Sherwood, of Coquille, rode their bicycles from Coquille to Riverton and back Saturday afternoon.

The old rivalry was keen and there was a tension on the part of both teams as the hour approached for the annual game between the on-rushing Coos River team and the local boys on the Bandon floor. The second teams played first and ended 33 to 13 in favor of Coos River. Chard for Riverton was high point man but was put out on fouls in the last quarter. Coach Barkley ran in most of his second team at the start of the first team game and everyone wondered why. They soon learned, however that these boys were the best fighters and really got into the spirit of the game. The game was very close, with one side making a basket and then the other. At the half the score was 16 to 17 in Coos River's favor. About the middle of the third quarter Coach Barkley sent his cold first string in, but Coos River ran away from them before they could get warmed up and into good action. Ross Jenkins and Howard Hull played a good game. The final whistle blew with the score 28-38 in Coos River's favor.

Mr. and Mrs. John Phillips had as a week-end guest Mrs. Randeman, of near Marshfield.

The singing club under the direction of Miss Edythe Woodward met last Friday night. Several new members were taken into the club and its director is well pleased with the interest shown by the young people as well as the adults. However, all who possibly can are urged to join and to make arrangements with Miss Woodward.

Last Saturday night, at the community hall, Mrs. Harry Hubbell, lecturer of the Grange, presented an enjoyable program for the entertainment of the valley folks. The first part of the evening a pantomime entitled, "Hiawatha," was staged by some of the Grangers who were: Ray Norris, Mrs. Dave Tosten, Perry Neal, Harold Henagin, Alphonse Sayer, Fay Holverstott, Clynard Holverstott, Mrs. Blanche Yeoman, Miss Edythe Woodward, Mrs. Althea Harrah and Mrs. Florence Norris. Following the program the guests were coupled off to play a series of progressive games, after which a lunch was served by the ladies. The following prizes were awarded for the games: High score, Harry Hubbell; low score, Mrs. Sinclair; door prize, Bette Ann Yeoman. Dancing completed the evening's pleasure and all present reported a very enjoyable time.

D. V. Yeoman, of Cape Creek camp, F-29, spent the week-end with his family.

Law. Sonneland and Mrs. Joe Burkeheimer are both confined to hospitals, the former at North Bend and the latter at the Knife hospital in Coquille. Norman Powell missed several days of school last week due to eye trouble and Miss Lois Teters is still ill at her home with appendicitis. Last week Mrs. Alphonse Sayer injured her foot but is now able to be about with the help of crutches.

The attendance at Sunday School last Sunday was much larger than it has ever been before. Mr. Byerly, superintendent, was back to take over his duties again.

Work on the community hall is well under way and every day finds the structure more complete.

Mrs. Bertha Graham, of Denver, Colorado, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Teagarden, of Fairview.

P. T. A. Presents Pictures

Mrs. A. O. Walker, president of the Parent-Teacher association, and Mrs. Jas. Brady, chairman of the membership committee, presented the pupils of the fourth grade in Mrs. Walton's room with two beautiful pictures. One, "The Blue Boy," was won by securing the greatest number of members. This pleasing portrait they keep. The original is owned by the Henry Huntington estate of California, and is considered Gainsborough's masterpiece.

The other picture, "The Flagg," is very colorful and was won for the month only, by securing greatest attendance at the last P. T. A. meeting. The fourth grade in Mrs. Walton's room hopes to keep this picture, too. It will go to the room which has the greatest parent attendance at the next meeting to be held Thursday, February 14th, at 2:45 in the high school.

As the next meeting will commemorate "Founders' Day," a large attendance will be expected and a small contribution will be taken.

WILL ROGERS, in the title role of George Ade's famous comedy, "The County Chairman," believes that "It's the same in love as in politics... Wait for the last returns!" And this seasoned campaigner knows enough of both to swing the returns his way. "The County Chairman" is a Fox Film production.

Pictures at the Liberty The Coming Week

What is believed to be the first genuine pictures of human life among the head-hunter savages and Papuan natives in the wilds of New Guinea is brought to the screen in "Red Morning," to be shown Friday and Saturday at the Liberty.

The pictures were secured by James Shakelford and George Dromgold, noted cinema adventurers. Armed with cameras and sound equipment they spent almost a year in unknown parts where white men never before trod—and never will again, they were caused to believe. They traveled to the colorful and dangerous-locale of New Guinea and Fiji Islands, "shooting" the tribes' religious ceremonies and their habits.

"Red Morning" is a dramatic thriller of the South Seas, its story concerning a heroic girl sailing the tropical waters, battling savages and crooked white men alike.

Preceded by the most glowing of advance reports, the comedy with music, "Lottery Lover," will be shown as the preview for two nights.

Preview audiences in Hollywood, it is said, have called this film one of the most delightful of a decade. Its sprightly story concerns a crew of carefree young cadets on their first leave in Paris and its notable cast includes Lew Ayers, "Pat" Patterson, Peggy Fears, Reginald Denny, Alan Dinehart, Walter King, Sterling Holloway and Nick Foran. At the very feet of the cadets, as their training ship swings into harbor, a garter falls from the skies. And the one girl-shy lad in the whole roistering outfit draws the winning ticket to woo its owner, glamorous queen of the Parisian revues.

Will Rogers has played an amazing variety of roles. In the fifteen talking pictures he has made to date, the star has been an oil millionaire, a mid-western farmer, a hobo, a meat packer, a druggist, a Kentucky judge and many other things. But until now Will has never enacted the role for which he is perhaps best fitted of all—a politician. In real life he is one of the best-informed and keenest students of politics in the entire country, but until he made "The County Chairman," which will begin a three-day engagement at the Liberty on Sunday, he has never had an opportunity to transfer such a character to the screen.

Will, it is said, is seen in a role superbly suited to his talents—that of a fire-eating boss who owns the town, but who gives more than he takes throughout his career. He's a small-town war-horse, with plenty of big town ideas.

In his cast, the star has the support of many well-known players who have appeared with him in earlier successes.
