Riverton News

The party given for the grade school basketball team at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hartwell last Friday night was a complete success. It also proved to be a birthday party for Billy Rae. Miles Hartwell was unanimously elected honorary captain of the team for the year. Mr. Hayward, the coach, was high point man in the games played, after dinner, but resigned in favor of Billy Rae, who was second. Those who enjoyed the delightful evening were Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Hayward, Mr. and Mrs. Mullens, Lee Roe, Rex Chappel, Billy Rae, George Kight, Oran Holbrook, Orville Hull, Miles Hartwell, Max Mullens, Grant Hartwell and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hartwell.

Miss Ruth Irvin, English instructor, drove out to Roseburg Monday night and met her mother, Mrs. J. P. Irvin, of Redmond, and brought her here for a visit.

The school board at Coaledo contemplates sending its seventh and eighth grade students to Riverton, starting next Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Steward and small son, of Englewood, are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Steward.

Spring is here, the flowers are all in bloom, the grass is green and the water looks so warm! One dive was plenty, however, for those bathing enthusiasts last Sunday and Monday. The ferryman, however, was so very anxious to go swimming that he went off the boom pole near the ferry with all his clothes on.

Miss Helen Nulf, of Leneve, was visiting her many friends in Riverton Monday. Miss Nulf is a graduate of '34 high school class and up to a few weeks ago has been attending the Eugene Business College of that city.

Mrs. A. C. Dye and daughter, Marie, has been attending the Eugene Business College, have returned home. Mr. Dye drove to Eugene after their Saturday afternoon. Aubrey E. Haan, who is principal of the schools, and his mother, Mrs. Flora Haan, who have been occupying the Dye residence, have moved out. Mrs. Haan has gone to Ashland to spend the remainder of the winter with her daughter. Mr. Haan will board at the E. A. Smith home.

Adolph Molth, who is employed at the Smith plant in Coquille, is recovering this week from a severe case of flu.

Friday evening a group of the young people will meet with Miss Woodward at the community hall for song practice. This group is interested in working up some Easter music for the program which is to be held on that date.

Word has been received that Lew Sonneland and John Phillips are able to get around now. The many friends of these two men will be glad to hear of their recovery.

Several boys met with Miss Woodward at the school house on Monday night for their regular weekly music lesson. The class in sight-reading is coming right along their instructor says.

On Easter Sunday of this year there will be a change in the usual Sunday morning schedule for the Sunday school. Sunday school will start an hour earlier and the ladies will come prepared with their pot-luck dinners, to stay until afternoon. A short program will follow the usual session and then dinner. The choir and minister from the Baptist Church in North Bend will come and present several musical numbers, including a baritone solo. Everyone is urged to attend and join with the rest in the services.

A young people's society is in the making among the young men and women of the community. A complete study of the Bible is one of the purposes of this group.

Several of the young folks attempted the old and well-known climb up to Bald Rock last Sunday afternoon. The trip up was rough and very tiresome, but when the height were gained at last, they all agreed that the bramble scratches and sore feet were worth it. Looking out over the valley at this height is a beautiful scene, with the timber framing the fields which have already received their new spring coats of green. Those comprising the party were: Harriet Jensen, Bette Yoeman, Carlina Alley, Viola and Helen Johnson, Don Phillips, Jack Turner, Fay and Ben Holmestott and Phil Jensen.

Notes of Interest From the Coquille Schools

High School News

The Linfield College Quartet entertained the students at an assembly Wednesday morning. Monday afternoon the Dixie Jubilee Quartet rendered in professional style the songs students enjoy.

Classes this week are preparing for competitive assemblies. The first one was given Friday, by the freshmen under supervision of Miss Gould. Much pep has been shown by the students over these assemblies.

After the spring vacation the seniors are preparing for the remaining entertainments of the semester. The Junior-Senior Banquet and the Senior Ball are coming up for due consideration.

Charles Reiter has assumed charge of the Ag Department for the remainder of the year. The Ag boys welcome Mr. Reiter to their department and he has taken charge in a very efficient manner.

Frank Biasca won first place in the Smith-Hughes sectional contest held at Roseburg, March 23.

Lincoln School

The re-opening of school brought a number of new students. Billy Weber entered the 6Y, Hanny Cardwell the 7X, Billy Cardwell the 8Y, Jean Reiter the 8Y, and Sally Carroll entered the 8Y just before the vacation period.

This week marks the opening of the track season. The boys, under the direction of Mr. Sayre, began work Monday; the girls, also under the direction of Mr. Sayre, began on Wednesday.

Most of the teachers of the Lincoln school spent their vacation in or around Coquille. Mr. and Mrs. Beck, however, went to Vancouver. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson spent a few days in Medford. Miss Barry spent her vacation with her parents in Marshfield and Mrs. Tyrrell made a trip to Grants Pass.

Probate Court

A petition for the administration of the $20,200 estate left by Miss Louisa Bullack, who died last week, was filed by Jas. Watson on Tuesday. The real estate is estimated to be worth $20,000.

J. Arthur Berg yesterday filed a petition for the appointment of a guardian for Geo. W. Bird, recently committed to the asylum. His estate is estimated to be worth $2200.

Calling cards, 50 for $1.00.

Pictures at the Liberty

The Coming Week

"Big Heated Herbert," a comedy romance, comes to the screen of the Liberty Theatre today as the feature attraction.

There is an all star cast headed by the inimitable comedy team, Aline MacMahon and Guy Kibbee, whom audiences will remember for their hilarious team work in "The Merry Frinks" and "Gold Diggers of 1933."

The picture, based on an uproariously funny story by the famous author, Sophie Kerr, while largely comedy, is spiced with a delightful romance with the charming Patricia Ellis and Phillip Reed in the roles of the lovers. Their affair runs the gamut of exceedingly rough paths, however, in the shape of paternal wrath on the part of a crabbed and crotchety parent.

Aline MacMahon, as the mother, takes a hand in smoothing the way for the lovers by taming her nagging and ill-natured husband by giving him a dose of his own medicine, which provides some highly amusing and novel situations.

Guy Kibbee, in the title role, provokes the family discord by his stubborn insistence that his children be brought up in poverty and ignorance just as he himself had been, although he has attained to affluence.

Screaming headlines smashed the corrupt political machine of a great city. How those headlines came into being is the basis of the highly thrilling film, "Name the Woman," featuring Richard Cromwell, Arline Judge and Rita La Roy which shows as the preview Friday and Saturday nights. Tyrannized by a ring of grasping politicians, a city of several millions finds the spotlight turned on the insidious festering within the government by an adventurous young cub reporter and the daughter of the reform candidate for mayor. The resultant action is exciting, breath-taking entertainment.

"Sequoia" (pronounced "See-quoyah"), unprecedented drama of wild animal revolt against man, opens Sunday at the Liberty Theatre as something out of the ordinary in motion picture entertainment.

"Sequoia" is something more than a motion picture. It is a magnificent document that will bring out the better side of mankind, that makes the soul revolt against man's inhumanity to the other creatures of the earth, that thrills the eye and the mind with its beauty, that hypnotizes with its charm, that brings a new and inspiring belief in the true greatness of the motion picture.

There's the enchantment of a great forest, the beauty of nature in all its glory, the intense drama of wild hearts of the big woods, living in terror of all mankind, with the odds all against them, and there's the strange romance of two animals, a mountain lion and a deer, born in bitter hatred of each other, who battle their mutual enemies to protect each other's lives.

In every theatre where "Sequoia" has been previewed the audience has burst into applause, not one, but dozens of times. Sophisticated men and women of the picture business sat on the edge of their seats, thrilled to the marrow, as a full-grown mountain lion crouched on a rock ledge ready to spring, as the deer, which had been his friend throughout his cub days, bounded gracefully down the runway beneath him. In a theatre of silence so deadly you could figuratively hear it, they sat spellbound watching this graceful buck prance into what appeared certain death, only to see the lion and the deer recognize each other. In a flash the puma leaped in front of the deer, and the latter, obviously in ecstasy, reached down and nuzzled his supposedly life-long enemy, kissed him, fondled him, in a scene that no romantic young couple could possibly duplicate for genuine emotional thrills.

Buried at Bandon

Lester Sidney Robbins, 79 years of age, who died at Trout Lake, Wash., March 27, was buried at Bandon this week, the body being received by Schroeder Bros. Mortuaries here. He is survived by a son and a daughter, Jess Robbins and Mrs. Eula Johnson, both of Bandon. Interment was in the I. O. O. F. cemetery at Bandon.
