W. C. T. U. Held County Meeting at Bay Tuesday

The Coos County Women's Christian Temperance Union held a splendid Institute at Marshfield Methodist church Tuesday, which was attended by some forty men and women.

Departments represented were: Official Papers, Peace and Publicity by Coquille.

"Alcohol Discredited as a Medicine," by Mrs. Holburn, a nurse of North Bend, who has had many years of experience in the profession and who stated that alcohol in medical care was now almost a thing of the past.

Mrs. Martha Mulkey, county school superintendent, spoke on the work being done by teachers in the county to teach the effects of alcohol on the human system.

The speaker of the day, Mrs. Ada Jolley, of Portland, state president of the organization, gave one of the finest educational talks and demonstrations ever heard in the county. Seeing is believing, and those who were fortunate enough to be present were more than pleased with her presentation of what alcohol is and what alcohol does, its usefulness outside the human body and its injurious effects inside the body.

Solos were sung by Mrs. E. V. Harrington and Virginia Horton, of Marshfield. Rev. G. V. Fallis, of the Methodist church, had charge of the devotionals.

Personal letters were written to President Roosevelt requesting the proposed naval maneuvers of the United States battleships be prevented, as it was felt this would be an unwarranted affront to our neighboring nation, and liable to bring serious consequences. The W. C. T. U. believes that understanding friendship and profitable trade are more to be desired than expensive preparation for war.

Riverton News

The Juniors and Seniors, along with some of their best pals, packed their troubles in the old kit bag, left that home, and all went to Bandon beach Thursday evening. They played games and roasted weinies over a roaring fire.

The Randolph play, "The Hermit's House," was even more of a success than was hoped for. The characters presented this difficult mystery play with such realism that several in the audience screamed when shots were fired and weird sounds issued from the stage. Much credit is due to the able director, Gertrude Russell, but the actors and actresses were superb in the interpretations of the characters. The cast included Edith Horning, Mary Young, Ruth Lenon, Elsie Wilcox, Marjorie Williams, Jack Hultin, Kenneth Yeager, Mervil Hultin, Nelson Russell, Gerald Russell, Pete Sloten and Rollins Horning. Everyone enjoyed the dancing afterward and the newly waxed floor helped.

Mrs. C. Irvin, of Redmond, returned her home this week after a visit of several weeks with her daughter, Miss Ruth Irvin, who is English instructor in the high school. Miss Irvin accompanied her mother as far as Eugene.

The seventh and eighth grade students put on a very interesting afternoon program before the school and patrons Friday afternoon. Just as the audience was well seated in the music room of the high school a little boy appeared over the top of the curtains and spoke a poem. On second look, however, one realized it was not a boy but Mayme Royer and the poem was one of her own composition. Little Marilyn Freeman, the mascot of the school next sang two songs. The third was a topsy-turvy play where all the girls took boys' parts and all the boys took girls' parts. It was called "Crossed Wires." Royer and Doris Morgan gave a very good tap dance, which they had learned by themselves. This was followed by Joyce Moody and Doris Morgan in another dance. Fred Porter, still in his girlish costume for the play "Crossed Wires," gave an interpretative reading, "The Little Boy at the Circus," but because of his costume was changed to "The Little Girl at the Circus." "The Wedding of Rudy and Nanette" was most informative for those young men who want to get married. The cast included Lucille Danielson, Frankie Edgmon, Oran Holbrook, George Knight and Carolyn Fetch. Doris White played a delightful number on her Hawaiian guitar, accompanying her vocal number. The last part of the program was a play, "Sail Right In" and was the story of young folk with troublesome little brothers and meddlesome little sisters. The cast included Max Mullens, Miles Hartwell, Doris Morgan and Joyce Moody.

Joe Varney moved this week to San Francisco, where he will resume work. His wife and small daughter, Claudia Lee, will follow him there as soon as school is ended.

Mrs. Mabel Bean, accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. George Martin, drove out to Roseburg Wednesday.

W. R. C. District Convention at Bandon Last Week

On Wednesday, April 10th, the first convention of the Women's Relief Corps, district No. 9, was held in Bandon at the G. A. R. Legion Hall. The meeting was called to order at 10:30

a. m. by the chairman, Mrs. Lucille Kroening.

The following officers for the convention were chosen: Mrs. Effie Laub, president; Mrs. Leona Foley, senior vice president; Mrs. Gena Chase, junior vice president; Mrs. Eva McCue, treasurer; Mrs. Rebecca McCue, secretary; Mrs. Mary Wagner, chaplain; Mrs. Florence Hansen, guard; Mrs. Anna Truman, conductor; Mrs. Roxie Haskin, assistant guard; Mrs. Sarah Wickham, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Mabel Howard, musician; Mrs. Mattie McGuffin, assistant conductor; Ethel Ticknor, press correspondent, and the color bearers are No. 1, Mrs. Ida Hill; No. 2, Grace Ward; No. 3, Mrs. Linda Goodrich; No. 4, Mrs. Clara Wheeler.

At noon the meeting adjourned and all went to the dining room, where a bountiful dinner was served to the large crowd, including many visitors. The afternoon session was called to order at two o'clock with the newly elected officers of the convention in their places. During the afternoon the Coquille Corps took charge and put on the initiatory work at which time, two new members were admitted to the Coquille Corps. Colonel C. T. Blumenrother was a guest of honor and in his talk, he praised the local Women's Relief Corps for their support of the G. A. R. during times when their help was needed greatly. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Coquille, the date to be decided upon later.

There were forty-six members present at the afternoon session. Those present from Coquille were Mesdames Clara I. Wheeler, Blanche Davis, Sarah Wickham, Flora E. Dunne, Roxie Haskins, Estelle Dunn, Linda Goodrich, Rebecca McCue, Leona Foley, Mattie McGuffin, Ella Scheehan, Gena Chase, Amelia Hill and Mary Staninger.
