Job's Daughters Regular Session

The Job's Daughters met in regular session last Monday evening at the Masonic Temple, the meeting being one of unusual interest. The report of their food sale held on the previous Saturday was that the girls made fifteen dollars, ten of which they will send in to the state educational fund, which is for the benefit of the girls needing help along educational lines. On October 2nd, the Coquille Bethel will meet with the Marshfield Bethel for joint inspection by their grand guardian, Mrs. Grace Falls. For October 14th, members of the local Bethel who reside in Bandon, numbering seven, have rented a hall for the purpose of entertaining the Daughters. On the program for Monday evening this week were Mrs. Roy Barton, who gave several delightful vocal numbers, and Mrs. Bertha Smith, whose talk on "Obligations," and the "Definition of Friendship" was especially fine, concluding with the following poem:

THIS IS FRIENDSHIP

I love you, not only for what you are, but for what I am, when I am with you.

I love you, not only for what you have made of yourself, but for what you are making of me.

I love you for the part of me that you bring out.

I love you for putting your hand into my heaped-up heart and passing over all the frivolous and weak things that you cannot help seeing there, and drawing out into the light all the beautiful, radiant things that no one else has looked quite far enough to find.

I love you for ignoring the possibilities of the fool in me and for laying firm hold of the possibilities of good in me.

I love you for closing your eyes to the discords in me and for adding to the music in me by worshipful listening.

I love you because you are helping me to make of the lumber of my life, not a tavern, but a temple, and of the words of my every day, not a reproach, but a song.

I love you because you have come more than any creed could have done to make me happy.

You have done it without word, without touch, without sign.

You have done it by just being yourself.

After all, perhaps this is what being a friend means.

Catches Leopard Seal

Fishermen on the Coquille river often get surprises, and this was the case in a ginet haul made by Bill Carlson recently when he took in his net and found a leopard seal as well as salmon in it. The seal was about six feet long and weighed probably 150 pounds. The belly was of dun color while the back was beautifully spotted.—Western World.
