Coquille Woman's Club Enjoys a Profitable Meeting

An unusually interesting meeting of the Woman's Club was held Tuesday afternoon at the Episcopal Parish house with a splendid attendance, about 50 ladies being present. After the pledge to the flag, Mrs. George Bryant conducted a chorus of songs, Mrs. M. O. Hawkins accompanying. The president, Mrs. R. A. Wernich, occupied the chair. Mrs. C. C. Farr has assumed the duties of secretary, Mrs. O. T. Gant having resigned. Reports from several chairmen of departments indicate a prosperous year ahead. Mrs. Lafe Compton reiterated her request for records for the school. The MacDowel club has contributed $10 for phonographic records for the schools.

Mrs. Jack LeFevre reported that the needlecraft and welfare work has been very successful and many needy families have received aid, 87 or more garments having already been given out.

Mrs. M. Earl Wilson, membership chairman, reported 15 new members. Mrs. A. L. Beck, president of the Junior Club, reported 19 members and five more promised.

As the club was observing Liberty Day a literary program was featured for the afternoon, fitting the occasion. Mrs. Albert Pancoast, of Bridge, sang several Irish songs, costumes as an Irish lassie, to the delight of all. Mrs. Marvel Brode, also of Bridge, accompanied her. Coquille is singularly honored in having two acknowledged poets in its midst, Mrs. Frances Holmstrom and Mrs. E. Dimick, who graciously consented to come and read some of their poems. Especially fine were Mrs. Holmstrom's "The Mountains Lifted Me" and Mrs. Dimick's "At Candle Lighting Time." Many of Mrs. Holmstrom's poems have been printed internationally.

Mrs. Pearl Ellingsen was present and announced a new list of best seller books in the library.

Miss Edna McGraw, of Marshfield, who is a favorite of the club, having previously appeared on its programs, gave a book review of Mrs. Ann Morrow Lindbergh's latest book which is replete with many thrilling adventures, which perhaps no other woman has been permitted to experience. The book is in the library and is being read by many admirers. Miss McGraw has a rare gift of perception and interpolation and carries her audience with her. The very excellent program was highly appreciated.

Tea was served by Mesdames Frank Rover, A. P. Davis, R. A. Wernich, H. E. Hess, S. M. Nosler, Geo. Bryant and C. V. Smith. Others present were Mesdames Birdie Skeels, Ora Maury, Jennie Adams, C. C. Farr, R. L. Stewart, C. W. Gano, Hal Pierce, G. H. Tillmann, Jack LeFevre, K. P. Lawrence, Lafe Compton, J. E. Paulson, U. E. McClary, A. L. Beck, Southard, Frances Holmstrom, A. R. Dimick, Albert Pancoast, Marvel Brode, Edna McGraw, Paul Workman, R. B. Rogers, J. A. Berg, M. O. Hawkins, C. J. Fuhrman, George Ulett, M. Earl Wilson, L. H. Hazard, Keith Leslie, O. C. Sanford, Geo. Jenkins, Lloyd Oddy, F. L. Greenough, J. D. Rankin, E. L. Vinton, M. S. Rasmussen, Ted Hornecker, Geo. Sherwood, Lloyd Rosa, Pearl Ellingsen and Una Richter, president of the Marshfield Civic Club.

Smith Wood-Products Workers Ass'n Has Nice Party

The members of the Smith Wood-Products Workers Association met at the Community Building on the evening of November 11th and were entertained royally. First of all, if you got past Thurman Hickam, the sergeant-at-arms, you were immediately given a ticket by Ernest Embree, for one of the five doorprizes to be given at the close of the business meeting. After a very short meeting, the president, Stewart Taylor, turned the meeting over to the entertainment chairman, Adolph Molthu. The first door prize, a large slab of bacon, was won by Lonnie Clark, then Russell Martindale walked off with a 50-lb sack of flour, the second prize. Geneva Agostino, claimed the third prize, a 20-lb bag of sugar, and Sherman Morris the next prize, a bag each of cornmeal and oatmeal, which he carried off, one under each arm. E. L. Smith won the 5th and last door prize, a 3-lb can of Golden West coffee. A. A. Thomas, accompanied by a darky who his hearers believed was Lee Finley, sang a few numbers for the pleasure of the members. Next on the program, two coons appeared on the stage, banjos in hand, and they may have been Lee and Thad Finley. They played and sang and the song about the apple tree and wooden leg was especially interesting. The writer recalls that Gerna Bower and Adolph Molthu were on the stage for a few minutes but cannot recall what they said. As soon as no more entertainment could be inveigled from those entertaining, a delightful lunch was served and the honors go to Minnie Kolkhorst, Bessie Judd, Florence Clinton and Esther Gisholt.

After refreshments were served, games were played. Harold Kolkhorst had charge of a dart game and Don McCune a rope pulling game. Prizes were given for the winners in both games. Those who were too old to enjoy these games sat around the fire and visited and all enjoyed a very pleasant evening.

be worked out. He asked for a frank expression as to the city's desire for cleaning up the river front, the installation of a floating dock for the accommodation of pleasure craft, and the utilizing of the Coquille river as one of the city's outstanding attractions.

A. N. Gould responded to the suggestion with the remark that everyone he had mentioned the subject to, desired the improvement if the drift and debris could be kept out of the river where it interferes with the operation of "kicker" boats.

Mr. Norton replied that the Port of Bandon would see that the river was kept clear of drift. The commission has not paid attention to that matter because its attention had not been called to it. He also stated that funds for some of the improvement could be secured if the city authorities and the people generally wanted the improvement made.

The sentiment of the meeting was to carry on and make the Coquille river an ideal spot or vacationists, tourists, fishermen, etc.

Don Gillespie suggested three corrections which would improve fishing on the Coquille river. One was a better enforcement of the law against set nets—one man reported he encountered 62 between Riverton and Bandon. The others were closing the river to commercial fishing and blasting out of the rocks in Brewster canyon so that the salmon could ascend to the headwaters to deposit their eggs; either that or fish ways by which the salmon could overcome the natural obstacles. These matters were left to the chamber's fish and game commission, consisting of Mr. Gillespie, A. N. Gould and Drue Cunningham. The highway discussion by the members is mentioned in another article.
