he temple in search of secret temple lances. Oscar, an ambitious (more or less) newspaper reporter, Jim Robinson, accompanies Sally. The adventures of these two Americans in a Hindu cult will tickle your sense of humor for many hours to come.

Oscar, while sleuthing about the temple in hopes of a scoop, meets Laneera, a simple native girl, Lyn-Jell Southstone. Laneera thinks Oscar is the answer to her prayers and he result is a screamingly funny triangle much to the chagrin of Oscar.

The key to the temple mystery is held by the old nurse, confidante of Naida, played by Mrs. Marie Wagner, in a sympathetically beautiful characterization.

The unique setting is enhanced by spectacular lighting effects. A galaxy of choruses in attractive costumes, and a wide variety of musical numbers are interwoven throughout the plot of the show.

The Temple Dancers who interpret the weirdly, beautiful ceremonials of the cult are: Maxine Stevens, Lorraine Perrott, Vera Gaslin, Blanche Jandon, Zelma Bosserman, Faye Jurrel.

The Alibi Babies, a snappy, tapping chorus includes: Dorothy Yarrough, La Velle Dale, Eileen Percy, Jessie Summers, Joan Weekly, Virginia Hartson, M. L. Knight.

The Dancing Scags—Barbara Oederirk, Dorcy Glaisyer, Marion Hess, Margaret Belloni, Georgianna Johnson, Marilyn Compton.

Laughter Lane—Margaret Stewart, Mary Robb, Beverly Norton, Margaret Smith.

Love Dreams—Doris Ann Wood, Barbara McClaren, Mary Ann Walker, Jo Ann Knight, Mildred McCarthy, Geraldine Cole.

The All-Americans—the Girl, Doris Compton; the Eleven, Robert Waggoner, Powell Yarrough, Kenneth Waggoner, Howard Hickam, Lynn Perrott, Raymond Williams, David Robbins, Elton Schroeder, Norman Ricketts, Monroe Swindall, Tom Thrift.

Curtain rises at 8:15 p. m.

MacDowell Music Club

The MacDowell Music Club held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. George Bryant on Knowlton Avenue, Tuesday, November 26.

The opera, "Il Trovatore," was the subject of study for the afternoon. Henry H. Hartley, accompanied by Mrs. Hartley, sang a selection from the opera. Miss Margaret Purvance played a group of incidental numbers, and Mrs. George Bryant read her opera.

Plans were made for the presentation of the cantata, "The Vision of Scrooge."

The guests for the afternoon were: Mr. and Mrs. Hartley, Mesdames Bradford, Ulett, Sayre, Rover, Smith, Hazard, Compton, Hawkins, Farr, Barton, Beck, Wilson, Bryant, Gage, Emery, Rankin, Norton and Miss Inez Rover.

J. R. Hayden Buried Tuesday

J. R. Hayden, father of Mrs. P. C. Roper, of Myrtle Point, and Miss Myrtle Dae, of this city, passed away last Sunday morning at the Mast Hospital in Myrtle Point, after an illness of nearly a year.

The body was taken to Junction City on Monday. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at Franklin and he was laid to rest beside his wife who passed away in April, 1913. He had been a merchant in Franklin for twelve years before coming to Coos county. He was associated with Amzy Mintonye in conducting a service station at Bandon, prior to his illness.

Mr. Hayden was 70 years of age, and besides his two daughters, leaves a son, George Hayden.

county report. This committee will also study methods of improving markets for surplus cattle. The next meeting of the dairy committee will probably be held early in January, according to tentative plans which were made at this meeting. At this time, these and other problems of the dairymen will be considered further, Mr. Jacobsen stated.

The dairy committee was the second group to meet to assemble data for the Farm Outlook Conference in Coos county, the poultry committee having met on November 15. The agricultural economic committee, Adam Donaldson, chairman, will meet at the county agent's office at 1:30 on December 18.

Soil's management committee date will be announced later. Ray Deadmond is chairman of this committee.

It's Not a Land Boat

The gas-boat, "Golden West," which has made Coquille a port of call on several occasions in recent months, was the subject of an article by Lewis A. Lapham, waterfront reporter for the San Francisco Examiner recently. Mr. Lapham, not knowing the geography of Coos county, included such towns and hamlets as Norway, Arago, Powers, Langlois and Denmark, which if he had omitted and written Coquille and had located Dr. J. D. Rankin in Coquille would have been correct.

A portion of Mr. Lapham's article follows:

"We sing today of a packet, the little motorship Golden West, which, despite her 64 feet of good wooden length and 44 net tons, chugs out of here every ten days for Bandon, Ore., and points beyond, points you've never heard of, like Prosper, Randolph, Norway, Arago, Powers, Langlois, and Denmark," says Mr. Lapham.

"The Golden West is owned and operated by two gentlemen from Bandon, a Dr. Rankin and a Dr. Donahay, and carries 100 tons of cargo below her one hatch and 60,000 feet of lumber on her decks when she's fully loaded, at which point, incidentally, she draws some six feet of water.

"She's powered with twin gas engines, and for all that she's the smallest commercial craft that piles out of here—if you exclude the crab boat—she proudly claims twin screws. It takes four men to run her, a captain, an engineer, a mate and a sailor, and one of them does the cooking."

Two in for Drunkenness

Bill Brown, fined $40 by Recorder F. G. Leslie for being drunk on the street here, was incarcerated in the county jail on Monday to serve it out at $2 per.

W. H. Lawrence was brought to the county jail on Tuesday to serve a 15-day sentence imposed by Justice Bolt for being drunk and disorderly at Marshfield.

Ralph Thomas, brought over from North Bend the first of the week and then taken to the county farm, was brought in to jail here on Wednesday and was to have a hearing as to his sanity today.

R. C. CAMPAIGNS TO PREVENT ACCIDENTS

Program Inaugurated in Local Chapters to Cut Down Farm and Home Accidents

The American Red Cross has launched a nation-wide campaign to eliminate hazards in the home and on the farm that now take an annual toll of nearly 35,000 lives, according to a recent statement by James L. Fieser, vice chairman in charge of domestic operations.

"Every Red Cross chapter is being asked to play a part in this campaign," Mr. Fieser said. "Hazards in the various communities will be pointed out. The children in our schools throughout the country will be given a list of the home hazards and asked to enroll parents or relatives in the fight against them."

Nearly five million men, women, and children were temporarily disabled in the homes of America last year by accidents, officials of the National Safety Council have revealed. Most of the accidents in which persons were killed and injured could have been prevented, according to this safety agency, this fact alone largely motivating the Red Cross drive for accident elimination.

Active cooperation of social, civic, educational, veterans', and other groups has been secured. Red Cross inspection forms or home check lists will be distributed to homes where there are no children with the help of these organizations.

Due to inaccessibility and lack of compensation coverage, little or no pioneering has been done in the field of farm safety, the Red Cross states. However, more people were accidentally killed in agricultural pursuits last year than in any other occupation, making the need for safety education and farm home inspection apparent.

Other agencies now active in the accident-prevention field point to the fact that, because of its nearly 13,000 chapters and branches, the Red Cross has a unique opportunity to successfully promote a project of this nature.

Home accidents injure many more than do automobile accidents; they kill nearly as many, claiming an average of about 80 lives daily. In terms of dollars and cents, for the practical minded, home accidents cost more than $1,000 per minute.

Accidents of all types are Public Enemy No. 4. Only three diseases cause many deaths each year, heart disease, cancer and cerebral hemorrhage.

"The home is not the place of safety it is commonly supposed to be," said Mr. Fieser in commenting on the new Red Cross service to the community. "The Red Cross, as a part of its chartered obligation to prevent death and alleviate suffering, is conducting this humanitarian program to cut down the mounting toll of avoidable personal injury and death in the homes of the country."

The annual Red Cross roll call, running from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day is one of the means of backing such a campaign. All citizens of the United States are offered the opportunity to join and assist in the work of the organization.
