Christmas Activities Are Being Started

those families requiring assistance, and it is the aim of the Needlecraft Guild to systematize charity so that there will be no duplications, for, according to Mr. LeFevre, indiscriminate charity helps no one.

Following the program launched last year, members of the 20-30 club are now busy gathering toys, which they will mend and put into shape for Christmas distribution. The Junior Woman's club has agreed to dress dolls which the men's group receives.

As is their usual custom, the American Legion and Auxiliary will send baskets to families of needy veterans and others known to need cheer. To raise money for the work, a turkey keno was held November 23 by the Legion, and members of the Auxiliary are now making aprons for a sale to be given in the near future, under the direction of Mrs. C. W. Gano.

During the past week, the Salvation Army has conducted a drive here to raise Christmas money to be used in Coquille. Until recently, this organization had no fund budgeted for relief work here in the valley, though it has given much help in the community but, under new program, all contributions received locally are used here.

Mrs. Edna Earle Stone

Mrs. Edna Earle Stone, whose home was above the Chaney railroad crossing at Johnson Mill, passed away at the Coquille Hospital at 11 a. m. yesterday, after being confined in the hospital for five days.

Funeral services were conducted at the Gano Funeral Home this morning by Rev. Harold A. Minter at 11 o'clock. Interment was in the new Odd Fellows cemetery.

She was born in Clarksville, Texas, April 25, 1875, being 60 years, seven months and ten days of age. She came to Coquille from the east about five years ago.

Beside her husband, Henry W. Stone, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Carl Oylear, of North Bend, and Mrs. Z. C. Finley, with whom she made her home, and a son, Alfred Stone, of Coquille; a sister, Mrs. D. B. Price, of Dallas, Texas; and five grandchildren.

B. P. W. Has Tamale Feed

The Business and Professional Women met in Pioneer Hall Monday evening for a tamale dinner served by the church ladies. Following dinner Mrs. Edith Walton, chairman of the Emblem committee, conducted the program which consisted of a talk by Miss Helen Stanbrough on "The Significance of the Emblem;" a talk by Miss Inez Rover on "How Many Members Wore the Emblem," to which several members responded, and a talk by Mrs. Ruth Beyers, telling what her pin meant to her. Other numbers on the program were a vocal solo by Mrs. Leona Bryant, accompanied by Miss Inez Rover, and a review of "The History of Oregon Literature," by Mrs. Harriet Osika. The club voted to purchase this book, written by Alfred Powers, to present to the Coquille library.

The club meeting of Dec. 16th will be in the nature of a Christmas party.

Pictures at the Liberty

The Coming Week

To gather material for "Wanderer of the Wasteland," featuring Dean Jagger and Gail Patrick, which comes to the Liberty tonight and Saturday, Zane Grey, noted author, spent more than twelve years traveling through desert wastes and the mountainous regions of Arizona, his son, Romer Grey, now associated with Paramount, revealed.

The writer took two trips on foot through the desolate depths of Death Valley with an old prospector. Their only beast of burden was a burro and had anything happened to the long-eared "desert canary," both would have perished miserably in the heat.

The character, Dismukes, played by Edward Ellis, is taken from the old prospector with whom Grey made the two perilous trips and Adam Larey, played by Dean Jagger, is another desert character who still lives in Gila Bend, Arizona.

The desert towns of Picacho, Yuma, and others that since have become "ghost towns" of the West are familiar places to the author through his frequent journeys by horseback and on foot gathering material for his novels, young Grey said.

The supporting players in this thrilling western drama of the gold mining days of the Old West include Larry "Buster" Crabbe, Monte Blue, Raymond Hatton, Trixie Friganza, Anna Q. Nilsson, Benny Baker, Fuzzy Knight, Charles Waldron, Al St.

John. Otho Lovering directed.

Joan Crawford and W. S. Van Dyke!

The star and director who collaborated with such success to make "Forsaking All Others," are united again in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new vehicle for the glamorous actress, "I Live My Life," which comes to the Liberty Theatre on Sunday for three days.

Brian Aherne, the English actor who played opposite Helen Hayes in "What Every Woman Knows," is Joan Crawford's leading man in the virile role of a hard-boiled archaeologist who falls in love with a society girl.

Frank Morgan appears as Joan Crawford's father in a role similar to the one he played in "Naughty Marietta."

Aline MacMahon, the "Brooklyn Duse," is prominently cast in the humorous part of the "other girl."

Eric Blower, the eccentric waiter of "Gay Divorcee," is the omnipresent butler in the new picture.

Fred Keating, the Broadway star recently seen in "The Captain Hates the Sea," plays the archaeologist's rival.

The picture is based on A. Carter Goodloe's prize-winning short story, "Clastrophobia," and deals with the romance of a sophisticated debutante and a horny-handed young archaeologist. The drama hinges on his efforts to live a skyscraper life in New York in order to be near the girl he loves, and its eventual effect upon him.

The locale of the picture shifts between the exotic Greek island of Naxos, where the lovers meet, New York City and a Connecticut estate.
