orchids, gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Philip Johnson, sister-in-law of the bride, who wore an Elizabethan type gown of rose pink slipper satin. The dress was fashioned with drop shoulders, pointed bodice and very full skirt. A similar gown was worn by Miss Diana Dollar, the bride's other attendant, in an aquamarine blue tint.

Both attendants carried bouquets of carnations centered with lilies of the valley.

Mr. Joseph Kash was best man for his brother, and the officiating clergyman was Father Peter Doherty.

Mrs. E. E. Johnson, mother of the bride, was attired in a light blue crepe gown trimmed with kolinsky fur, and her corsage was of orchids. Mrs. Anthony Joseph Kash, the bridegroom's mother, wore an ice blue silk gown with orchids. Mrs. Dollar, at whose home the wedding took place, was in an ensemble of pink.

Ushers at the service were the Messrs. Philip Johnson, Stanley Dollar, Jr., Calvin Slagle Jr. and John Barrett.

A wedding supper was served following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Kash will sail today, aboard the President Coolidge, for a honeymoon in Honolulu. They will be at home to their friends in their Oakland residence after January 15.

Coos county people played a prominent part in the wedding.

Mrs. R. Stanley Dollar will be well recalled as Miss Esther Johnson, youngest daughter of Alfred Johnson, Sr., for years one of the leading lumber operators in this section. Mr. and Mrs. Dollar turned their home, one of the most beautiful in Piedmont, over to the bridal party and both were most gracious in welcoming old friends of the bride and family.

Mrs. Philip Johnson, matron of honor, formerly resided in Coquille, as did her husband and Calvin Slagle, Jr., two of the ushers.

At the wedding supper, B. F. Lawrence, now of Indianapolis, but who long gave Coquille as his home, acted as toastmaster.

A pleasant touch to the wedding was supplied by the fact that the bride's bouquet was caught by Miss Diana Dollar, the beautiful and charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Stanley Dollar.

Coos county people and former residents, present at the wedding were: Mrs. R. S. Knowlton, Mrs. Jennie Williams and son, Maurice, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Lukens, Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Lawrence, Mr. Calvin Slagle, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth P. Lawrence, Mrs. Ida Albert and daughters, Miss Dorothy Albert and Mrs. Elmer Stone, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Johnson.

Chance to Go to Alaska

Would you like to go to Alaska? Call or write your nearest army recruiting office for more detailed information for army recruiting resumes in full swing on January 2nd.

Early last fall a vigorous campaign was launched by the army recruiting headquarters in Portland in an effort to secure as many enlistments as possible towards filling the huge quota placed upon the Portland district at that time incident to an enactment by the congress earlier in the year authorizing an increase of some 46,250 men in the peacetime strength of the army. This campaign was suspended in the fall, but is to be resumed again on the first of the new year, according to an announcement by Major H. D. Bagnall, the Portland district recruiting officer. Of particular interest to the prospective applicants for enlistment are the large number of local assignments for the various army units at Vancouver Barracks, Washington, and Fort Stevens, Oregon, which will then be available. These include the famous 7th Infantry at Vancouver Barracks, and the 3rd Coast Artillery, Medical Department, Quartermaster Corps, Ordnance Department, and of particular interest, the 7th Infantry, at Chilkoot Barracks, Alaska, an assignment which is not normally available. For those not familiar with our Alaskan territory, it may be added that the military post of Chilkoot Barracks is less than a mile from the town of Haines, Alaska, and in the heart of what is probably the finest fishing and hunting country in the land.

For the convenience of young men outside the vicinity of Portland there are four branch offices operated in other cities, these are located in Salem, Eugene, Medford and Pendleton, Oregon, and interested parties should either write or call at the Army recruiting office nearest their home. Application may also be made direct at Vancouver Barracks, or Fort Stevens, Oregon. The Portland office is located in Room 323 New Post Office Bldg., at Southwest Broadway and Glisan Sts., in downtown Portland, and will be pleased to furnish descriptive literature upon request.

Pictures at Liberty Tonight

The screen pals of "The Champ" and "Treasure Island," Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper, are together again in a thrilling story of circus life, "O'Shaughnessy's Boy," which shows tonight and Saturday at the Liberty. The Big Top was erected with menagerie tent, side show and performers' quarters completely reproduced for the circus spectacle.

In his new role for Fox Film, Edmund Lowe returns to the screen as the dapper crime buster of "Thunder in the Night," a fascinating mystery melodrama. Featuring Karen Morley and Paul Cavanagh in the chief supporting roles, the pictures comes to the Liberty as this week-end's preview. The whirlwind action of the film covers a brief six hours in the life of a Budapest detective. From the murder of a man in a hotel during a stormy evening, the trail of clues leads Lowe to the palace of the president of the cabinet. Because Lowe hopes to protect Paul Cavanagh, the president, and his lovely wife, Karen Morley, he attempts to conceal his information, but the prefect of police, Russell Hicks, is determined to humiliate Cavanagh, and forces a showdown. The climax of the picture is contrived at the scene of the crime, where all the suspects are gathered. Here Lowe ingeniously and dramatically reconstructs the killing, finds the murderer and brings the picture to its happy close.

The Zodiac Club

Fragrance of firs, the gaily bedecked Christmas tree drying pungently in the warmth of rooms still a little cluttered with the remnants of the Christmas festivities, souvenirs of the holiday party, bits of Christmas seals and stickers clinging to gifts recently opened, all were ecstatic memories of a Christmas party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Wheeler last Friday. The Christmas lunch and Santa Claus were enjoyed by all the Zodiac club members and their families. Each of the children received gifts and bags of candy from old Santa Claus. The club members held their Christmas exchange party with a jolly Christmas spirit and many games were enjoyed by all present.

P. T. A. Notes

Room mothers have been appointed for the Washington school: Mrs. Robt. Dutton, 1st grade; Mrs. Guss Tillmann, 2nd grade; Mrs. Ray Brown, 3rd grade, Miss Stanbrough's room; Mrs. Fred Kunz, 4th grade, Mrs. Walton's room; Mrs. Jack Tozier, 5th grade.

A Christmas party was given by the room mothers of the 4th grade in Mrs. Walton's room. Mrs. Kunz, room representative, assisted by Mrs. Fuller, presented the children of this room with surprise refreshments, acted as Mrs. Santa Claus and delivered thought packages to those who were unable to attend the party. In general they carried on the party program, making it one of the nicest parties given in this room.

The new, pleasant way to give Cod Liver Oil vitamins

TO YOUR CHILD

Raw winter weather often keeps children indoors. What sunshine they get is weak in the rays that produce vitamin D. Vitamins A and D are especially important in winter. A helps protect little bodies against infection in general. D prevents rickets, builds sound bones and teeth.

Give your child these vitamins in tempting chocolate-coated tablets: MCKESSON'S VITAMIN CONCENTRATE TABLETS OF COD LIVER OIL. Children like the candy flavor. Each of these tablets also provides one grain of dicalcium phosphate. Each tablet furnishes all the vitamins in one teaspoonful of Cod Liver Oil, U.S.P.X. (revised 1934). Give them to your children and take them yourself. Buy them at your druggist's. A dollar bottle contains one hundred MCKESSON'S VITAMIN CONCENTRATE TABLETS.
