A Wildlife Conference

The North American Wildlife Conference, held at the invitation of President Roosevelt February 3 to 7, marks the beginning of a new era in wildlife conservation and restoration, according to F. A. Silcox, chief of the forest service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, chairman of the conference.

The primary achievement of the conference, he said, was the creation of the general wildlife federation which will coordinate the efforts and policies of millions of people vitally interested in or dependent upon the nation's wildlife resources which are estimated to represent an annual value of approximately $1,000,000,000.

"Including representatives from Canada and Mexico distinguished for their activities in the fields of wildlife conservation," Mr. Silcox said, "some 2,000 individuals attended the conference."

"An organization once ratified and made the official voice of several millions of citizens—with research facilities at its command through co-operation with private and governmental agencies concerned with wildlife problems—will be a force for the protection and furtherance of wildlife conservation without parallel in history."

license fee on all card, pool and billiard tables at $50 a year for each table. That idea did not prevail but the city attorney was instructed to draw an ordinance jacking up the license fee from $20 a year to $100 annually, payable semi-annually.

Harry Ross and Ben Atkinson were given the contract for building the city's new warehouse on the lots recently acquired from A. L. Simpson, across the street from the Masonic Temple. Their bid of $481.65 was the lowest of six submitted.

The building is to be 30x40 feet in dimension and covered with corrugated iron, but the bid did not include the cost of the covering, which the city will buy. Erection of the framework, all lumber and placing the covering on the building were included in the contract given the successful bidders.

The annual license for the Liberty Theatre was set at $60 per year, this being in line with licenses paid by other show houses in the county of the same seating capacity.

A temporary permit was granted Geo. R. Johnson for erecting the building at the west end of the Cream O'Coos plant.

The application of C. L. Elkins for a package store license was approved.

Harry A. Slack made application to the council for an easement across city property at the south end of Willard street for a steam pipeline for the Western Condensing company. The line will be well wrapped with asbestos where it crosses Willard street, south of the S. P. tracks and on a level with the railroad trestle. The right of way or easement is effective as long as the company, its successors or assigns shall use the pipe line for carrying steam to its plant in the old Nestles warehouse.

Farr & Elwood Cancel Contract with Consolidated

service to Marshfield, Myrtle Point and Bandon.

Miss Vera Gaslin, so long the bookkeeper at Farr & Elwood's, will act in that capacity for the Consolidated which has rented storage space and unloading facilities at the local warehouse.

Following is Mr. Farr's statement which gives additional information about the strike which was a source of considerable discussion here this week:

We have been released from our contract with the Consolidated Freight Lines and will no longer be their agents in the Coquille territory. This has been made necessary by the truck drivers' union making demands upon us that we pay union scale of wages $4.75 and $6.00 per day for handling the freight shipments of The Consolidated Freight Lines and also pay the former employees of ours union wages for the time they were on picket duty at our plant.

The union scale of wages would have cost us $247.00 per month to handle the Consolidated Freight Lines shipments, just for wages alone to say nothing of bookkeeping expense, office and quarters' rental, management expense, and other items of overhead. There has never been but one month since we have handled the Consolidated business as their agents that the commissions they paid us equalled $247.00. This explains why it was impossible for us to continue the operations under union control.

The Consolidated Truck Lines have rented space from us in our building at Taylor and Second streets and will, we understand, continue to carry on their freight operations under strict union control.

County School Notes

From Mrs. Mulkey's Office

The Coos County 4-H leaders' meeting will be held in Millington school on Friday, Feb. 21, at 8:00 p. m. The meeting is open to all who are interested in 4-H work.

The organization was formed in Coquille on the third Friday of January and the following officers elected: Gertrude Bogard, Myrtle Point, president; Florence Oerding, Prosper, vice president, and Anna Christensen, Valley View, secretary-treasurer.

At the meeting Friday the constitution and by-laws will be adopted. George Jenkins and John Billings will be present to contribute to the program. Each leader will be ready to give some facts relative to his club. The Millington cooking club girls will provide refreshments.

The executive committee of the rural teachers' organization will meet Saturday in the home of Martha E. Mulkey, Coquille. Saturday, being Washington's birthday, the court house will be closed. The officers will make final plans for the spring rural meetings which will be held in March. The officers are Cora Mackey, of Roy, president; Virna Hermann, Charleston, vice chairman; Audrey Dodson, Bunker Hill, vice chairman, and Leola Norten, Millington, secretary.

The Allegany Forestry club will plant trees Friday, Feb. 21. At this time they will have a program appropriate for Arbor Day. February 14 was Arbor Day for the territory west of the Cascades, so no doubt several schools will be celebrating by having Arbor Day exercises during the month of February.

Much interest is being shown in the adult emergency education classes. These classes are being offered in North Bend, Marshfield, Myrtle Point, Coquille, Bandon, Eastside, Empire, Bunker Hill, North Bayside, McKinley Camp and Bradford Camp. The teachers of these classes are paid by the federal government and the instruction is free to all.

Girls Are Guests of B. P. W. Club Monday

Three Camp Fire girls were honorary guests of the Coquille B. P. W. Monday evening. They were Dorothy Glaisyer, Marilyn Compton and Kathleen Brady. Betty Brady received mention but having moved from Coquille was unable to be present. These four girls have attained the rank of torch bearer. This is the highest rank ever attained by a Camp Fire girl in Coquille.

The girls after being introduced by Inez Rover, each gave a short explanation of the Camp Fire work. Mrs. Leona Bryant is the guardian for the troop represented by these four girls.

Mrs. Roy Barton sang two solos accompanied by Mrs. Maud Woodyard. Miss Beneva Volkmar and Miss Dorothy Dutch each dressed in costume told of the wives of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

Mrs. Bertha Smith received the prize for answering correctly the most questions taken from the National and States papers of the B. P. W., namely the Independent Woman and the Oregon Business Woman.

Mrs. V. L. Hamilton was elected to membership. The publicity committee was in charge of the meeting. The members of the committee are Mrs. H. A. Young, Beneva Volkmar, Ida Oerding, Lena Williams and Martha Mulkey.

The next meeting will be held March 2 in the Pioneer Hall at which time the members will enjoy a 6:30 dinner. The members are requested to bring their families or other guests. The program will be in charge of the International Relations committee, with Clara Bosserman as chairman.

"Glass Snakes"

There are a number of lizards in the South that are known as "glass-snakes" or "joint snakes." They are lizards and not snakes because they have movable eyelids and an ear opening. They have a tail which breaks off easily. There is, of course, no truth in the story that the glass snake hunts up the discarded tail and puts it on again, or that the tail or other discarded part seeks out the main body of the snake.

Paint Was Colonial Luxury

Paint in Colonial times was mainly a luxury, antiquarians have recently discovered. At first, crudely mixed paint, inspired by the Indian red paint derived from clay, enhanced the appearance of room panelling or floor. When mahogany for cabinet work came into use, homely furniture was often painted deep red in imitation of the expensive tropical wood.

Blackbeard, the Pirate

Blackbeard was the nickname given to Edward Teach. He was born in Bristol. The date is not recorded. He probably started out as a common sailor and took to piracy in 1716. He was called Blackbeard from the length and thickness of his beard. He was killed by an expedition sent out under (Lieut) Robert Maynard.

Ducks Have Downy Nests

Ducks line their nests with down plucked from their own breasts, mixed with breast feathers. They cover their eggs with the same soft mixture to keep them warm and hide them from destructive crows, when they slip away to feed.
