

Ford Branch Manager Here

J. J. Hague, branch manager of the Ford Motor Co. at Portland, was a Coquille visitor on Monday, conferring with the Ford agency here, the Niles Motor Co.

Speaking of the new Lincoln-Zephyr V-12 for 1937, the preview of which Mr. Niles attended at Portland last week, Mr. Hague said: "This remarkable showing the Lincoln-Zephyr V-12 has made the last year indicates the widespread approval of this car by the public. Celebrating the first anniversary of the Lincoln-Zephyr car as we are at this time, we are proud that in one year it has advanced to a position of prominence in the medium-price field. This we feel is due to 'years ahead' advanced styling, exceptional value and many exclusive features."

West Coast Telephone Company Reduces Rates in Oregon

The West Coast Telephone Company has announced a substantial reduction in toll rates and in certain of its other rates applicable in the Coos county district. Toll rate reductions become effective October 1, 1936. The reductions in the other rates become effective October 10, 1936.

People in southwestern Oregon will probably be most interested in the reduction of toll rates which has been announced. Rates have heretofore been based on a 1½ minute initial talking period with only one class of toll service being offered. The new rates provide for all classes of toll service including day station-to-station service, night and Sunday station-to-station service and night and Sunday person-to-person service. The initial period on all classes of calls will be 3 minutes in length instead of 1½ minutes in length. The initial period rates for practically all calls are substantially lowered.

For example, the previous rate for a station-to-station call between Coquille and Marshfield was 25c for 1½ minutes of conversation or 55c for three minutes of conversation. The new rate will be 15c for a three-minute station-to-station conversation. Rates between other points are correspondingly lower.

The new classes of toll service offered by the company include station-to-station service which is service between one telephone and another telephone (that is, when you call for your party by telephone number) and person-to-person service which is telephone service from one person to another person (that is telephone service where you call for a particular person.) Night and Sunday service which is given on both station-to-station and person-to-person calls, is effective from 7:00 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. and all day Sunday. It is estimated that the new toll rates will result in savings to southwestern Oregon telephone users of approximately $3000 per year.

The rate for residence extension telephones has also been reduced from 65c per month to 50c per month for wall telephones. The rates for handset telephones or french-type telephones as they are sometimes known, have also been lowered. The rate for the handset telephone of the desk type is only 15c additional to the rate for the old style desk instrument instead of 25c as heretofore charged. The rate for the wall handset type of instrument is the same as the rate for a standard desk telephone. This is a reduction of 25c per month over the rate previously charged for wall handsets and a reduction of 15c per month in the case of the desk type handset.

Service connection charges have also been reduced. The service connection charge of $1.50 will apply in the future when a telephone is re-installed on telephone wiring previously used. In such installations the service connection charge will only be $1.50 instead of the $3.50 as charged in the larger towns and the $2.50 charge as made in the smaller towns.

Total reductions in rates as announced by the company for Oregon will amount to a saving of over $9,500.00 per year to telephone users.

New Way of Cooking Vegetables

Oregon boasts a healthful climate, a fertile soil, and a vigorous people; but to have perfect health and keep it is a problem. How many people are suffering from anemia and take their iron from a medicine bottle when they might have prevented this condition by getting their iron from vegetables? Perhaps they are eating a sufficient quantity of vegetables but have lost all the iron and vitamins from improper cooking.

As Americans, we have not made a great reputation for ourselves as vegetable cooks. Some of our restaurants are famous for their sea foods, their pastry or steaks but have you ever heard one advertise that they excelled in spinach souffles, or French fried onions. Let us find a farm house which can serve foamy, mashed potatoes, emerald-green tender cabbage, bright green garden peas, or sweet onions boiled in milk, and then beat a pathway to its door.

Miss Jessie Palmier, county home demonstration agent, is giving her second series of meetings on vegetable cookery at the following places and anyone who is interested may attend:

- North Bayside Grange Hall—10:30 a. m., October 16.
- Catching Inlet at Mrs. Sarah Erickson's—10:30 a. m., October 20.
- Fairview Grange Hall—10:30 a. m., October 21.
- Bandon—10:30 a. m., October 22.
- Arago at Mrs. Hammock's—10:30 a. m., October 23.
- Gaylord Community Hall—10:30 a. m., October 27.
