Referee Elliott Knocked Out in Wild Melee Last Friday

In the wildest night ever seen at the Community Building last Friday, Jack Lipscomb, the Indiana beast, won a fall from Don Sugai, knocked Referee Elliott down, then cruelly jumped on his back, and was nearly mobbed by enraged fans.

It was an evening of whopping free-for-alls with each match rougher and tougher than the one before. Lipscomb annexed the first fall in eleven minutes with his split crab hold after battering Sugai from pillar to post. Lipscomb swung his fists from all angles and threatened to bend Referee Elliott to the showers if he interfered.

In the second fall both Sugai and Elliott attempted to pare down Lipscomb's roughness to something resembling wrestling. As Lipscomb turned to heckle the official, Sugai flashed a perfect drop-kick clear over Lipscomb's left shoulder which connected with the Hoosier's chin and stretched him full length on the canvas. As Lipscomb got to his feet, Sugai again kicked him on the button to take the fall in six minutes.

As Harry awarded the fall to Sugai, a hundred things seemed to happen at the same time. Lipscomb slugged the referee, who fell forward on his face. The Indiana fanatic jumped on the hapless official's back with both feet and the kicked him twice for good measure. Fans grabbed Elliott and pulled him beyond the maniac's reach, while other maddened fans jumped into the ring and took control.

Carried to the dressing room, Elliott was in no condition to continue, so Dick Trout went out for the third fall as substitute referee. Lipscomb, far from having his spirits dampened by the threatening crowd, carried on his mean tactics with wild abandon. After five minutes the crowd was ready to go in after Lipscomb but Trout beat them to it by disqualifying him and awarding the match to Sugai.

The other two matches were as hot as exploding firecrackers. That dynamic Italian, Ernie Piluso, took two straight falls from Pat O'Brien in a wild fray. O'Brien came out with both fists flying, and after taking just so much, Ernie went plumb crazy. He dove across the ring and hit the Boston beanster amidstships and then tackled him twice more with prodigious rushes to take the first fall in nine minutes.

Ernie really showed the Irishman how to get rough in the second fall and ended the match five minutes later by using his famous back-breaker.

The first one-hour match of the triple main event program saw foxy Thor Jensen pull a fast one—it was one of the cleverest tricks ever seen on a mat. With the score one fall apiece, Trout got an Indian death-lock. Jensen from this position got a double wrist lock on his opponent and trapped him in his own hold so that Trout looked like a big baboon which had just been spring noosed.

Next wrestling card will be Wednesday, Feb. 3, as the Community Building will not be available until then.

Bulldogs Swamp Red Devils

Coquille High's winning ways in basketball came to sudden halt last Friday evening in the North Bend community building when the Bulldogs, going wild in the last half, swamped the Red Devils, 40-17. The score at half time was 11 to 5. At the end of the third quarter the score read 29 to 12.

Coach Hatton's boys were unable to pierce the defense of Vic Adams' charges nor stem their offense.

line the basis for which benefit payment will be made this year. It is expected that many farmers in the county will be interested in this discussion since with the addition of the range program, most farmers will be eligible for benefits on some phase of their operations in 1937, Jenkins stated.

Following the lunch hour and starting at 1:15 p. m. the use of limestone, ground shell and commercial fertilizers including a discussion on soil testing and other related subjects, will be discussed by Dr. Stephenson or Dr. Powers and the subject of irrigation will be handled during the afternoon by Mr. King.

Following the discussion given by the specialist on each subject time will be provided for a general discussion and while the the meetings are not arranged especially for new settlers, the program should be of special value to them and all farmers of the county are urged to be present at one of the meetings and present their soil management problems as the subjects are discussed.
