ARAGO

The junior class under the leader-ship of Clyde Lillie is completing plans for the most elaborate carnival ever given by the Arago high school Friday night, April 23. A general admission of five and ten cents will be son Hayes, the talented guitar player of Gaylord, assisted by Milton Hammack, will furnish the music charged for the program which will be a finished entertainment. Harrimack, will furnish the music. A oneact play presented by the pupils of Mrs. Ray's room, "The Unexpected Guest," with the following cast, Laura Bernice Lillie, mother; Dorothy Stevens, Aunt Jean; Beth and Ruth, sisters; Mary Jean McAllister and Anne Watkins; their chums, Norma and Madge, Peggy Blondell and Maxine Rackleff. The plot contains-mystery, robbery and a surprise ending, agreeable to all. This play will be given promptly at eight o'clock. The second play, "A Mock Wedding," will include a cast of new and old stars in this community: bride, George Hampton; groom, Mary Watkins; minister, Orvus Miller; Mother, Father and Sister of the bride, Annie Deardorff, Leatha Munford and Clarence Schroeder; Butler, Herbert Carl; Ringbearer, Charles Webb; Flower girl, Ernest Hammack; Guests at the wedding, Poli Negri Pearl Hampton, Mutt and Jeff, Lawrence Rackleff and Jean Watkins. After the program refreshments may be bought at the refreshment counter, booths will be opened for busi-ness where games of skill baseball throwing, darto and beand may be played, a pinball booth by the 4-H club and a fishpond which has been generously filled by merchants from neighboring towns and finally a big auction of all that is left with clever but unrevealed auctioneer in charge. All in all an evening of amusing en-tertainment is offered with a guaranty that it will be hard to keep your money in your pocket. The juniors are anxious to end the school year with the student body free from debt and a fund sufficient to feed the sen-iors bounteously and to decorate the gym beautifully for the graduation exercises on May 19. Other mem-bers of the junior class are, Ellis Rackleff, Stephen Aasen, Esther Barnett, Neoma Miller, Ivan and Tennesee Robison, Milton Hammack.

Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. David Root on Wednesday. In spite of the stormy day which kept most of the ladies at home much of the sewing was finished. Those present were: Mesdames J. L. Burtis, Ward Evans, Sam Root, Tyrrell Woodward, and Edith Woodward.

Mrs. Winnifred Ray, who has taught the upper grades at Arago for the past five years, has resigned to accept the principalship at Broadbent for next year. Mrs. Ray has been a popular and efficient teacher and Arago is sorry to lose her. She has been the 4-H club sewing leader for several different years and in many ways has rendered service to the community outside of her regular school work. Broadbent is to be con-
