Jap Dumps Moran in Two Quick Falls, After Losing First

Japan demonstrated its superiority over the U. S. navy if you want to let Tetsura Higami represent Japan and Sailor Moran the navy. Any way Higami decisively defeated the hated Sailor Moran last Wednesday at the Coquille Community Building. Moran came out with the boastful assurance that he could take the little brown Jap without much trouble. But Higami specializes in trouble for the other fellow.

The New Orleans sailor took the first fall in 12 minutes, using one powerful heart punch as he had the brown man tied up in the ropes. As Tetsura sagged to the floor Moran hooked on his unbreakable inside jockeyknife hold to secure the fall.

Higami's spirits were not in the least discouraged and he sailed blithely into the tough sailor using his jiu jitsu and weird flailing motions of his arms. When it looked as if New Orleans might take the second fall and make it two straight falls the Tokyo man hooked on his Japanese arm breaker hold and made Moran give up. The Jap also annexed the third and deciding fall using the same hold.

In a fast and furious semi-final bout Bobby Burns defeated the flashy Marshall Carter in a surprise upset. The Florida man made good use of his famous chin snapper hold to confuse and upset the Missourian. Carter took the first fall with a body press in eight minutes. And Burns took the last two falls in ten and five minutes respectively using his chin snappers both times.

In a preliminary which may well be considered the best bout of the entire evening strong Danny Russo, the young Italian boy from New York City, took one fall and the match from Andy Tremain, of Arizona. Russo got his fall in 24 minutes after he had worn the Arizonan down with head scissors.

A large and enthusiastic crowd watched the bouts. Promoter Elliott announced his next card for Wednesday, July 28.

Probate Court Items

His widow, Lillie E. Herron, was last Saturday appointed administratrix of the $6010 estate left by Geo. H. Herron, who died last June 4. Happy Elby, Norman Wilson and Frank Denning were named as appraisers.

A petition for administration of the $1150 estate left by Samuel I. Carter was filed on Monday.

Fines Assessed by City Recorder

Recorder Leslie imposed a number of fines for drunkenness the past week. Last Saturday Frank A. Carrilleo paid one for $5. Bernard Foley, who had just been released three days before, was given a $20 jolt which was suspended on condition he leave town. Wait Smith, arrested July 12, was allowed to return to South Slough where he was working on Tuesday. Frank Briggs was another one given $20 suspended fine on condition that he leave town. He did. Berlyn Billings declared no cop could take him to jail and Officer McCreary had to work him over pretty thoroughly before Billings was convinced that there was one cop who could. Half of the $10 fine assessed was paid. Claud Stout, of Lee, promised to pay his $5 fine on the 30th. He was arrested on Wednesday.

Fishing Starts on the Rogue

Trolling and casting for salmon on the lower Rogue river bay is beginning in earnest right now, according to W. D. Sibley, Gold Beach insurance man who was in Bandon Tuesday. He stated that Mrs. K. L. Staninger, of Port Orford, caught the first salmon Sunday. It weighed 28 pounds. She was trolling.

The "fishing cobbler," W. P. Brinkley, scored high in Sunday's competition, netting the limit of three, all of which were caught while casting from from the shore.

The largest chinook caught this season on the lower bay, according to Sibley, weighed 40 pounds.

The first fish of the season, both on Canfield riffle and in the lower bay, were caught by the "fishing editor" Reuben Young, of Gold Beach. Young formerly carried a slogan under the masthead of his Curry County Reporter that read: "This newspaper will be out Thursday if the editor isn't fishing." Now that he has become the ace fisherman of the lot, his friends, according to reports, are expecting the slogan to be replaced.—Western World.
