Christmas Money

As overheard by the eavesdropper on Wednesday, Dec. 8:

Act 1. The eavesdropper was working near the highway he heard a car stop close by and looked up and observed two men get out of it and stand beside their car.

Act 2. A second car came by and suddenly stopped. A burly man got out of this second car, and with loud talk rapidly walked towards the first, paused directly in front of the radiator and loudly called out the number of the car. Only the last two numbers were remembered by the eavesdropper. "That's all I want," the burly man loudly exclaimed. "I'm going to turn you in for drinking liquor on the highway in defiance of law. Then he rapidly strode back to his own car."

Act 3. Both young men standing by the first car plainly became panic-stricken and called to the burly one with plenty of finger wiggling and sidewise wiggles of the head to "Come here, come here a minute."

Act 4. The burly one started to walk back, and kept saying: "You can't play that racket that's getting too damn thin. But he continued to walk and stopped in front of the first car the panicky ones stepped close up, so close that their garments blended together. There was a flash of a hand, which disappeared in the burly one's pocket. The burly one stepped back and exclaimed loudly: "I know you're not drunk. You only got two or three drinks in you, that's all. But why do you do such things in public. Why don't you hide somewhere when you drink?" Then he strode back to his own car, entered and slammed the door and drove away.

(Fictional construction by Eavesdropper):

Act 5. The wife of the burly one exclaims, "How much this time?" The burly one replied: "Look with your hand and see, I'm driving." The wife slips her hand in his side pocket and flashes a ten, and three fives. Then she exclaimed "Honey bunch, two or three touches like this, and our radio goes in on that big new one we were looking at last week," and she tucks the bills away in her own purse.

(No Fiction about this): The last two numbers which were remembered by the eavesdropper would be the difference between 15798 and 15779.

Social Activities

Mrs. Harold Varney entertained the "Pythian Home Club" Tuesday for one o'clock dessert luncheon. The ladies spent the afternoon in sewing, finishing articles for the Pythian Home. Those present were Mesdames Sam Arnold, Jack Arnold, E. A. Wimer, W. E. Cross, Frank Schram, Fred Hickok, E. L. Perrott and daughter and the hostess. The ladies will meet with Mrs. Jack Arnold in January.

Mrs. C. V. Carmichael entertained her neighborhood bridge club for one-thirty o'clock dessert luncheon Wednesday. The room and tables looked most attractive with Yuletide decorations. Mrs. Geo. Johnson won high score at contract and Mrs. L. A. Greene received consolation. Those present were: Mesdames K. P. Lawrence, Fred Hudson, L. A. Greene, Fred Jensen, George Johnson, George Holbrook, Roy Rowell and the hostess.

The "Friendly Dozen" met at the home of Mrs. A. G. Trendle on Sanford Heights Wednesday afternoon for their regular meeting and Christmas exchange. The house looked lovely with bouquets of chrysanthemums and Christmas decorations. The members had a most enjoyable time sewing, knitting and chatting. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Catherine, to the following members: Mesdames George Matney, Fred Wheaton, Fred Nosler, H. W. Kelley, Aaron Wilson, Harry Wise, Ella Black, Louis Fugelson, Sam Arnold and a guest, Mrs. Nellie Harry.

Mrs. J. A. Lamb entertained her bridge club for seven-thirty o'clock dinner Tuesday evening. The house was a veritable bower of beauty with Christmas trees and Yuletide decorations in every room. One tree was a vision, covered with white Deco Floss, white ornaments and lights; in this room was a lovely centerpiece of white with white cat-tails and other decorative flowers flanked by white tapers. The dining room exemplified the holiday season with sprays of holly and pine and red tapers in novel red holders. The table had a most attractive centerpiece of silver reindeer skimming over a pond of glass and at the end a cute Christmas tree with novel adornments. After a delicious dinner, the ladies had their Christmas exchange and an evening of cards.

Mrs. Bert Folsom won high score at contract and Mrs. Muri Pettit received the travelling prize. Those present were: Mesdames J. L. Smith, Bert Folsom, Hal Pierce, Muri Pettit, Geo. Lorenz, H. A. Young, Effie Miller, Ed Lorenz, Edna Hartson, Ula Leach and the hostess.

The Episcopal Guild ladies met in the Parish House Wednesday afternoon for their regular meeting. After the business session, a social time was enjoyed, followed by refreshments, served by Mrs. C. J. Fuhrman and Mrs. Annie Robinson. Those present were: Mesdames A. J. Sherwood, W. H. Mansell, Charles Stauff, George Lorenz, E. W. Lorenz, L. H. Hazard, Ida Owen, Geo. Taylor, Sr., J. S. Barton, Clarence Tuttle, Jas. Watson and J. D. Gillespie. There will be no more meetings until the first Wednesday in January.

The Eagles Auxiliary Sewing club met in the I. O. O. F. hall Wednesday for a no-host luncheon at one o'clock. This was also a party and Christmas exchange with a Christmas tree and all the trimmings. A grand time was had playing games, etc. Those present were: Mesdames E. C. Yarbrough, Ed Tuel, Wm. Schroeder, E. A. Wimer, R. O. Culbertson, C. P. Seich, Chas. Lewis, Wm. Roth, W. O. Cary, Hannah Josal, John Werch, O. E. Mattoon, Bob Chard, J. Hickbottom, Tom Wheeler, Michael Jacobsen, Pete Biasca, Ernest Battey, Mary Wimer, Ernest Whereat, Roy Cole and Schroeder.

"Danger-Love At Work"

At Liberty, Sunday

New ways of loving and newer ways of laughing in the new kind of laugh-hit that is the funniest "com-mo-tion-picture" of the year will bring a liberal education in hilarity to the screen of the Liberty Theatre when "Danger-Love At Work" opens Sunday. Ann Sothorn, Jack Haley, Mary Boland and Edward Everett Horton are starred in the daffiest comedy ever produced by the Twentieth Century-Fox merrymakers.

In or out of bedlam no one has ever seen the likes of the frantic romantics and haywire hilarity of this outstanding comedy. In a nutshell (a very fitting place, by the way) this new kind of rib-tickling tale is a simple story simply devastating of Girl meets Boy, Boy meets Family, Boy loses Mind! The Girl is Ann Sothorn, the daffiest debutante who ever came out-of-a-trance; The Boy is Jack Haley.

the most bewildered Romeo who ever faced a shotgun. The Family is altogether pixilated, with a cuckoo for their crest and a strait-jacket their coat-of-arms. The Mind—well nobody does, it's all grand fun!

Feature No. 2

"SOPHIE LANG GOES WEST" Sophie Lang, the girl who teals diamonds and hearts with equal ease, turns Hollywood upside down in the new adventure - mystery film, "Sophie Lang Goes West."
