Gaining Higher Heights

is visiting with Mrs. Benham again.

HE story is told by an aviator that once, during his course of training, he was compelled to effect a forced landing. His plane was wrecked and an investigation was held. Throughout the trying experience, there seemed to be much confusion and condemnation, but finally not the forced landings that count; it is how we rise and take off again. Afterward, as part of the discipline, he was compelled to repeat the full course. At first this was resented, but later he recognized that it was to his complete advantage, for in addition to the usual training, the extra months of practice and study gave him greater poise, knowledge,

How many of us, in contact with fellow workers, with relatives and friends, and in daily endeavor to ac-complish acceptable work in the world, often feel that we have failed. that we have fallen short of the high ideal which we have set for ourselves as a goal! Fear, doubt, discouragement, and injustice often seem to ment, and injustice often seem to haunt our footsteps. Frustration and delay would baffle us. . . Comparing our own progress with that of another, we may listen to the argument of defeat. And yet wherever we find ourselves, anywhere, in any place, Love can restore health, order, peace, and righteouspeas. Cook is Love aland righteousness. God is Love al-ways. He has never forsaken us. . .

The understanding of spiritual law discloses the nothingness of so-called material law and its claims. Failure and disaster come from ignorance of God's law; while health, prosperity, and progress are manifested as one gains the knowledge of the universal, impartial law of good. God knows only good for His children. . . . A little girl used to walk and play so heedlessly that she was constantly falling and hurting herself, with tears and fretfulness as the inevitable re-sult. She was taught this verse from the Psalms (116:8): "For thou hast the Psalms (116:3): "For thou hast delivered my soul from death, mine eyes from tears, and my feet from falling." Her child-thought accepted this so simply and practically that she was healed, and thereafter her days were filled with unfettered activity. No outlook can be so dreary, no

It reconstant alertness and quires constant alertness and prayer-ful watching of our thinking, but this should be neither irksome nor dis-tasteful. Doing good, loving God and man, is not a thankless, cheerless experience. On the contrary, and sometimes to our astonishment, we and a capacity for joy, talent, freedom, and self-respect that never was known while we were following the selfish, fearful, material round of thinking. Serving God includes findthinking. Serving God includes find-ing and serving a truer, higher sense of seifhood; of seeing man as the son of God. As one serves God he sees disease, discord, hate, and all temptation to sin, as falsehoods— lies which argue for themselves alone. These subtle claims are fabrications of mortal mind, without power or reality. They never touch God's son the real man.

Mrs. Eddy writes (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 126): "Who hath not learned that when alone he has his own thoughts to guard, and when own thoughts to guard, and when struggling with mankind his temper, and in society his tongue? We also have gained higher heights; have learned that trials lift us to that dignity of Soul which sustains us, and finally conquers them; and that the ordeal refines while it chastens."

From the human standpoint alone does the struggle to be Christlike seem to meet with ridicule, frustration, or defeat. Yet all such experiences teach us to guard our thoughts, our tempers, our tongues. They teach ences teach us to guard our thoughts, our tempers, our tongues. They teach us to live with people amiably; and through these lessons we may grow in grace. Every seeming fall is of value, if, because of it, we seek and find God, and thereby our true self-hood, and learn to express more love to our neighbor. It is satisfyingly sweet to "rise again, stronger than sweet to "rise again, stronger than before the stumble," and to attain in some measure to that "dignity of Soul which sustains us, and finally conquers." — The Christian Science Monitor.
