

R. H. Lawhorne
County Commissioner

Democratic Candidate for Re-election

During the past three years Coos County's debt has been reduced greatly and will continue so if present plans are carried on. Cash revenues have been materially increased. County properties sold brought a reasonable return. Miles of roads and bridges have been built. Thousands of yards of rock have been spread for maintenance with a fair and just distribution of funds over the county as far as possible considering amount of traffic. Relief demands have been large. Wages have been materially increased. Many other demands and obligations have been met. While doing this we have spent several thousands of dollars below our Budget allowances. Coos County's welfare must be protected—but we must reduce our indebtedness while we do so. All the above statements can be verified from county records.

IN MEMORY OF OUR DAD,
T. E. SCROEDER

Dear Dad, whose hands were ever striving
To bring relief to kinsman or to friend,
We miss you more than words can ever measure,
For you have reached at last, the journey's end.
We know that joy awaited you in heaven,
When other loved ones came to greet you there.
You've found at last the perfect understanding
Which mortals vainly strive to reach, in prayer.
We'll strive to help each other o'er life's highways
Where feet are bruised by rocks, or pierced with thorn
Until we all shall reach the final sunset
Which comes before the resurrection morn.

Eighth Grade Graduation
at Fat Elk School Friday

The Fat Elk school children and their teacher, Mrs. Harry Oerding, invite the friends and patrons of District, No. 19 to attend eighth grade graduation and 4-H club achievement exercises at the Fat Elk school house Friday, May 13, at eight o'clock.

The following program has been arranged:
Club work on display and open for inspection; model club meeting; school program; eighth grade graduation. Rev. George R. Turney will be the speaker.

The annual school picnic will be held on Sunday, May 15, at the Roth farm. It will be "pot luck." Each family is requested to bring one covered dish and enough buttered bread for his own family. Bring plates, forks and cups. Coffee furnished. Dinner served promptly at one o'clock. Come early.

Walt Disney's First Full-length Animated Feature in Multiplane Technicolor Vivid Icturization of Grimm Brother's Fantasy

Movie fans are about to have their hopes realized, for something new and enchanting, in "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," the first Walt Disney animated film to be made in full feature length, in Technicolor, with dialogue, songs, dances, and a complete musical score. The picture was three years in the making, its cost being estimated at $1,500,000.

The plot of "Snow White" is an adaptation of one of the most loved of the Grimm Brothers' tales. First published in the early part of the last century, this book has been translated into every civilized language. Its readers are numbered in the millions. A sterling favorite with generations of Americans, past and present, it is equally popular abroad.

Meeting "Snow White," the dainty, lovable little Princess, on the screen is the same as greeting an old friend one has not seen for years. Her adventures begin when the wicked Queen, jealous of "Snow White's" budding beauty, first degrades her to the level of a scullery maid. Even then the Queen's magic mirror informs the sovereign that "Snow White," though attired in rags, is still the fairest in the land.

The palace huntsman is ordered to take the Princess to the forest and kill her. But he permits her to escape. She is befriended by the pitying birds and animals and finds refuge with the Seven Dwarfs in their woodland home. Thither comes the wicked Queen in the guise of a Witch. "Snow White" eats a bewitched apple given her by her rival, and falls into a death-like slumber. So lovely is she that the dwarfs, instead of burying their beloved little housekeeper, place her in a coffin of glass and gold by which they keep watch. The tiny chaps have already wreaked vengeance on the Witch, who has fallen to destruction over a precipice. Then came the handsome Prince, who loved "Snow White" when she was only a scullery maid, awakens her with a kiss, and the sweethearts leave together for their castle home.

This is only a sketchy outline of the action in the RKO Radio Picture, which is studded with detail. There are laughs a-galore, inimitable incidents too many to describe, as well as dramatic thrills, romance and pathos.

while over all is the fascinating bizarre atmosphere of Fairyland exquisitely developed in three dimensional color photography.

Song hits in "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," include the dwarf's marching song "Hi-Ho;" their washing song; the songs by Snow White, "Some Day My Prince Will Come," "With a Smile and a Song," "Whistle While You Work" and "The Wishing Well Song," and the Prince's song, "One Song." The melody of "Some Day My Prince Will Come" is the picture's theme music.

"Snow White" and the Seven Dwarfs had its world premiere in Los Angeles during last Christmas week to a stupendous public acclaim.

SNOW WHITE MAKES MERRY

In Walt Disney's full-length feature, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," the heroine sings several songs. One of them is heard in the above scene from the RKO Radio Picture produced in Multiplane Technicolor.

Marihuana

Parents in general seem to know very little regarding the dangerous drug, Marihuana. If they would only arouse themselves as to the grave danger of the use of this drug it could more easily be stamped out. It has long been a menace in southern and western Asia, Africa, in Mexico and is beginning to be felt strongly in the United States, especially in the southern and western states, Pacific coast and in cities.

smoking what they believe is tobacco. Once the habit has been established, the addict is sure of his customer as the call for the drug after the habit is formed is almost irresistible. There is no doubt that a large number of crimes can be traced to the use of this drug.

Articles on this subject have appeared in many magazines and newspapers. Some which have been noted were found in the following: Cosmopolitan, May, 1938; American Magazine, July, 1937; Readers' Digest; Union Signal; News-Telegram; Oregonian; Journal, and some of the local papers.

Let's warn our young people and do everything possible to protect them against this enemy of body and mind.
