

Golden Gayway Planned in 1939

Gayway is the name chosen for the amusement zone of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, to be held on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay. The girl is Zoe Dell Lantis, Exposition beauty and the most photographed girl in the world.

"The Goldwyn Follies" at Roxy Tonight, Fri., Sat.—Features Gershwin's Songs

Presenting a dazzling array of stars and a variety of talent that staggers the imagination, "The Goldwyn Follies," the glorious Technicolor musical extravaganza which marks the first entertainment in Goldwyn's 25 years of picture-making to carry the producer's name, begins a three-day engagement at the Roxy Theatre this evening (Thursday).

The musical, which also marks the producer's swing to the color standard, has been produced on a scale more lavish, more opulent and more magnificent than anything the screen has ever known.

Goldwyn invaded every field of entertainment to find stars to augment the screen cast headed by suave Adolphe Menjou, The Ritz Brothers and the beautiful, rising young star, Andrea Leeds.

From radio he took Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, the comedy sensation of the world; Kenny Baker, Jack Benny's silver-voiced romanticist; irrepressible Phil Baker and his accordion; from grand opera, lovely Helen Jepson and the sensational newcomer, Charles Kullman; from the world of the dance, the beautiful Zorina and George Balanchine's American Ballet of the Metropolitan Opera; and from musical comedy goggle-eyed Bobby Clark to clown with petite Ella Logan.

Then there are hand-picked Gergeous Goldwyn Girls as well as Hollywood's 12 loveliest and most talented tap dancers; Jerome Cowan, Nydia Westman, Frank Shields and a hundred more who fit into the pattern of one of Ben Hecht's best stories—a comedy of Hollywood which casts Menjou as a film producer out of touch with his public, and Andrea Leeds as the typical American girl whom he hires as "Miss Humanity" to keep him posted on what the public wants.

"The Goldwyn Follies" boasts the last and perhaps greatest score written by the late George Gershwin, studded with several very singable song hits, including "Love Walked In," "I Was Doing All Right," "I Love to Rhyme," and "Love Is Here to Stay." The lyrics are by Ira Gershwin.

The music for the beautiful ballet numbers, as well as the hit song, "Spring Again," is by Vernon Duke. The ballets were conceived and staged by George Balanchine. The Ritz Brothers specialties and songs, including the hilarious "Pussy, Pussy," are by Sid Kuller and Ray Golden.

Richard Day designed the breathtaking settings, while the eye-filling costumes are work of Omar Kiam.

"The Goldwyn Follies" was directed by George Marshall for release through United Artists.

Advices No Price Fixing

The man who until recently dictated the prices that consumers must pay for all products in Germany has warned America that government price-fixing and the stifling of competition is ineffective and dangerous. The warning was sounded by Dr. Carl F. Goerdeler, former Commissioner for Price Control in Germany. He warned also of the "dangerous tendency" to shift to the government "functions which private business can carry out more efficiently."

Government price-fixing should be adopted only as a last resort, he declared here, and added:

"Increased production, higher technical efficiency and lower taxes are better remedies than price-fixing. If government will only leave prices alone and not confront business with new uncertainties, the different parts of the economic system will protect themselves against too frequent changes."

Six States Have No Driver Qualification Requirement

lion cars on the highways of the U. S. today.

The licensing of operators started in Oregon in 1920, but there are still six states in the union where the state has no control over operators. They are unlicensed and no qualification is required of the man or woman who may want to drive the possible death-dealing machine.

In Oregon the vision test was inaugurated in 1931 and the requirements, under the law, for permission to drive have been growing steadily more stringent.

He designated as the A. B. C. of safety, engineering, enforcement and education. The engineers are constantly improving car construction, but the peak of perfection has by no means been reached. Highway engineers lay out better highways, more straight and wider, and that lessens accidents somewhat.

The enforcement angle is one where it is impossible to catch all offenders. There are 109 of 165 members of the state police force dealing primarily with traffic cases. They cannot be on the spot, always, when a violation occurs.

In education is the real opportunity for decreasing the terrible toll of death by automobiles and the highway department is trying to instill in the young drivers, just coming on, the need for care and—more important than all else—courtesy. Taking the right-of-way, passing on a curve or below a hill-top, are a few of the more common causes of accidents, and all show a lack of courtesy.

Mr. Rosson urged all his hearers to make a pledge and keep it—"I pledge myself to drive my car constantly under control, and with due regard to the rights of others."

The keeping of that pledge by all drivers would practically eliminate all accidents.

Thorough Understanding

IN EVERY RESPECT

Families have learned that this institution "understands" every detail of the situation which arises when the necessity for a funeral occurs. The necessity frequently comes suddenly. But our "understanding" has developed through long years. We are helpfully "understanding."

Council Calls For Street Widening - Paving Bids

Hall, and on the four sides of the court house, by taking out the earth parking strips and paving between present curb and sidewalk was ordered. They are to be opened June 6 and it is expected to have the work completed before the rains start in the fall.

Mr. Gould's estimate of the total cost of the street widening and paving job is $10,251. The county intends doing the work around the court house, rocking the space between curb and sidewalk, and then oiling it.

The Chief Pontiac application for permission to install a new electric sign in front of its show room in the Farr & Elwood building was acted upon favorably. It was the first under the operation of the new sign ordinance.

Andy Anderson and Howard Hickam, junior chamber of commerce representatives, presented that body's request for permission to install the permanent tennis courts on the city lots just west of the Legion Home, where the former earth tennis courts were laid out. They reported that the junior chamber now had several hundred dollars available for the project but that if the city's WPA appropriation was included in the list of those which the city will seek to have done with WPA labor and funds. Their petition was referred to the park commission.

J. E. Quick made his annual request to the council that the storm sewer through his place between First and Second streets be repaired before another winter's storms floods him out entirely.

Water Superintendent reported that a new line was needed on Willard street in the Odd Fellows cemetery vicinity. New users there and corroded small pipe have made it almost impossible to get any water service there. He recommended 250 feet of two-inch and 100 feet of one-inch pipe as necessary. The matter was referred to the water committee with power to act. The same treatment was accorded his report that a new line was needed to serve the houses on the east side of the street in the block south of the Henry street bridge.

Fish Hearing To Be Held

The Oregon State Planning Board will hold a formal public hearing on its study of commercial fish operations in Oregon, on Monday, May 23, beginning at 1:30 p. m. in the Green Room of the Portland Hotel, according to announcement of Ormond R. Bean, chairman of the board.

On March 29th the planning board held a public meeting in Portland at which information on commercial fishing in the Columbia river was presented by representatives of the Oregon Seine and Pound Net Fishermen's Association, the Columbia River Fishermen's Protective Union, and other organizations.

Recently the planning board's study was extended to cover commercial fishing operations on all rivers of the state, including coastal streams.

The public hearing on May 23rd is being called by the board at the request of several groups of fishermen who desire to present additional data and information on these subjects. All agencies and associations interested in commercial fish operations in Oregon are invited to attend and present information on this subject. It is requested that all organizations having specific information to present submit formal statements in writing to the State Planning Board at the hearing.

W. C. T. U. Meeting May 13

The W. C. T. U. held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. C. C. Farr Friday afternoon. They plan to hold a rummage sale in conjunction with the Myrtle Point Union at Myrtle Point, opposite the postoffice, May 16 to May 21 inclusive. Rugs, aprons, new and old articles, will be offered for sale.

Mrs. J. R. Bunch gave a splendid talk on "Ideals of Child Health Day and Mother's Day." May 1st, has been dedicated by congressional resolution as Child Health Day. The Children's Bureau, U. S. Dept. of Labor, Washington, D. C., announced the following slogan for 1938 May Day: "Speed children on the road to health." The objective of this year's observance of Child Health Day is a co-operative effort in every community to make full use of all its own resources to insure to every child safe birth, normal growth and protection against disease and accident on the road from infancy to maturity. Through its department of child welfare and health, and especially through its program for alcohol education in relation to disease and accidents, the W. C. T. U. has much to offer in every community where this objective is carried out. Not only does the child frequently pay the penalty for prenatal parental indulgence in alcoholic beverages—"even into the third and fourth generation" where disease is contracted because of drink—but children always suffer most in the home where the alcohol problem makes for poverty, neglect, or even only unhappiness despite economic plenty. Mrs. Bunch closed her talk with that lovely poem, "Mother," by Edgar Guest.

After the program, refreshments were served by Mrs. Mattie McGuffin, Mrs. Clara Wheeler and Mrs. Farr. Those present were: Mesdames Sadie Jayes, Louis Fugelson, J. R. Bunch, Esta Ellis, Oren Hardenbrook, Frank Leslie, Flora Dunn, Geo. Gray, Ella Nelson, Ella Rose, Pearl Cardwell, Ione Billings, Geo. McCullough and H. L. Johnson. The next meeting will be held June 10th at the home of Mrs. H. L. Johnson, the topic being, "Flow-er Mission."
