Summer Bargains By Marshfield Retailers

Marshfield retailers have announced a community-wide bargain sales event for all of the southwestern Oregon trade territory, in which all participating stores have pledged themselves to offer "red hot" values to the shopping public. The sales event will last three days, today, Friday and Saturday, June 23, 24 and 25.

Planned by the retail trades division of the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce, the special sales event is scheduled to be the biggest, cooperative community bargain period of the year.

Merchants announced they are preparing unusually attractive bargain specials, which are being advertised in The Sentinel and in other advertising media of southwestern Oregon.

Every retail outlet in Marshfield has been invited to share in the event, and response has been unusually widespread, according to Leo H. Beckley, general chairman, who reported merchants are enthusiastic about the bargain period, and plan special offers of merchandise calculated to appeal to the buying public between Florence and Gold Beach.

Fred Ross is chairman of the finance committee and Mrs. A. S. Kohler is chairman of publicity. Both head active committees intent upon making the sales period the greatest success of its kind in the history of Coos Bay merchandising.
