LET'S COME BACK TO EARTH AGAIN
We believe that in entertainment, as in life, it's time to get back to earth again.
We believe that you've had enough dizzy nonsense, enough phoney sophistication, enough stark tragedy. We believe that in your heart, you like to thrill and laugh and cry over the kind of people whose joys and sorrows you can share.
And so we come back to earth again with David O. Selznick's Technicolor production of the most heart-warming and beloved story of American literature, Mark Twain's THE ADVENTURES OF TOM SAWYER.

Intelligence, Ignorance
Intelligence is the faculty of understanding, the capacity of knowing or apprehending. One is ignorant who is without knowledge, who is uninformed or un instructed. A person with a fair capacity for knowing might (and often does), by force of circumstances, lack so much in knowledge of the common places of civilized life as to be called ignorant—though ignorance is very much a relative term. All persons are born ignorant, but may expect that experience will dissipate this condition to some extent. There is not so much hope for one born unintelligent.

Everything Must Breathe
Everything that is alive must breathe, whether it is in the earth, on the earth, in the sky, or in the water. It dies if it cannot get air. When the worm crawls about in the earth he has no trouble at all for there is really all the air he needs anywhere near the earth's surface. Of course, deep down in the earth there is very little air and no worm could survive. There you find microbes and tiny plants which require very little air to live. If you go down far enough you will find no living thing and you may know that there has ceased to be any air at all.

Shake: are Knew Rogues
Shakespeare certainly needed no foreign tutelage in crime and criminals, for, ready to hand, he had good English matter in the beggar-books and in the actual life of his day, and his was the genius of all others for transferring this matter to art, says the Rocky Mountain Herald. Small wonder, then, that his rascals remain vitally distinct and individual; for where the Spanish novelists and their continental followers are intent upon society seen through the eyes of the rogue, Shakespeare in Falstaff has anatomized the rogue himself.

Oldest Plants
The Red Woods are not the oldest living individual plants by any means. Plants of Sphagnum Moss of the peat bogs appear to have had continuous growth from the inception of the bogs at the close of the glacial period many thousands of years ago.
