Second Travel Picture Ready

Second in the series of outstanding natural color reproductions of Oregon's scenic wonders, a new and interesting picture of Mount Hood as seen from Lost Lake will be available beginning Monday, August 8, at any Standard Station or dealer, according to local Standard Oil Company executives. The picture has been taken from the famous "scenic point" at Lost Lake where many motorists think the best possible view of majestic Mount Hood is obtained. Lost Lake is in the Mount Hood National Forest which also contains the newly completed Timberline Lodge. By taking the Mount Hood Loop road motorists can easily visit both Lost Lake and Timberline Lodge on the same trip.
