

New Parsonage Nearly Done

Work on the Baptist parsonage is rapidly nearing completion this week as the interior is being finished throughout. The five-room frame house, built three years ago but never completely finished is being put into condition to rent since the church has no use for it during Mr. Minter's pastorate.

Work repairing the church building will be commenced in the near future, including such improvements as laying a new floor, repainting the roof, redecorating the interior and finishing the primary department.
