

Arkansas Scufflers On Card Here Friday Night

What happens when a bunch of Arkansas hillbillies who call themselves "scufflers" challenge a bunch of city bred wrestlers will be found out tomorrow night (Friday) at the Coquille Community building. At that time, three Arkansas scufflers and their manager will come to Coquille to take on Ernie Piluso, Walter Achlu and Elton Owens.

The hillbillies are Dale Haddock, Billy Spedlove and Pat York. Their Arkansas manager is Jeremiah Greene.

They travel together all in a decrepit machine, live in a tent, work out in the open and cook their meals over camp fires. There is no such thing as wrestling among the hillbillies. It is all "scuffling," an art which is as much the mainstay of the mountain folk as their own corn "cider."

Haddock will wrestle Piluso, Achlu will meet Billy Spedlove and Pat York will meet Elton Owens. The Haddock-Piluso shindig will be the main event and Achlu and Spedlove will be the semi final. Owens and York will be the prelim.

Piluso, Achlu and Owens will meet Ernie Piluso on the main card when they shake hands in the Coquille ring. From then on it will be hillbilly versus city boy. Which will win? That is what many Coquille fans will find out Friday night.

Jeremiah Greene is supposed to be the "brains" of the outfit. It was his idea that the good name of Arkansas and the hill folk should be spread throughout the land, and incidentally a few shekels brought in. That the "hillies" are real wrestlers has been attested by midwest promoters who informed Promoter Elliott of the Arkansas trio's abilities and advised him and other northwest promoters to try to get them.

The first bout will begin at 8:30 sharp.

First Football Casualty

The first football casualty of the season occurred yesterday when Emerick Hultin, the son of Jack Hultin, broke his right arm. The break, which was not serious, occurred just above the wrist. The accident happened before practice had started as the boys were playing with the ball. Emerick is a freshman.

Arago Dairy Club at Fair

Three members of the Arago 4-H Dairy Club, including Clyde Lillie, Junior Gulstrom and Gerald Lillie, left Coquille Sunday, September 4, accompanied by George Jenkins, county agent, to attend the Oregon State Fair in Salem, and represent Coos county in the annual state 4-H livestock judging contest.

This team earned the privilege of representing the county in this contest by tying for first place with members of the Myrtle Point Dairy Club in the local contest conducted in connection with a livestock judging tour held in northern Curry county on August 19 and 20, in co-operation with club members from Curry and Douglas counties. Members of the Myrtle Point Dairy club team will enter the contest at the Pacific International Livestock Exposition to be held in Portland early in October.

Woman's Relief Corps at Bandon

The Woman's Relief Corps held their usual luncheon at the Legion Hall last Friday with Miss Lillian Farley as the newest guest. Very few were able to attend the noon meal but 21 were out for the afternoon session. Coquille ladies were greatly missed.

There is always an urgent need of a large attendance about this time of year to prepare for inspection, which may be any day now. The president of the local W. R. C. is planning to hold a next meeting so as to have a voice in the plans for a contest. Come and see what it is all about.

Mrs. Edith Doyle was welcomed back after attending the summer session for teachers at Monmouth Normal. She will teach at the upper Two Mile school the coming term.

Word was received that Mrs. Gonderman, a sister of the Corps who resides at Central Point, Ore., is very ill. Every member is asked to send a card of cheer.

Mrs. Pratt, the Leg Hospital nurse, was pleasantly surprised with a gift by the Corps as appreciation for her helpfulness to them.

Next meeting will be held Sept. 16. Don't forget the date, Coquille sisters. Mrs. Ella Sell, Press Cor.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Magee, of Dunsmuir, Calif., brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Roy Wheeler, have been visiting at the Wheeler home for a week. They left Friday, taking Irving Murray, son of Mrs. Wheeler, with them.

Calling cards, 50 for $1.00.

Land Classification in Coos Co.

policy met with members of the Clatsop county court in Astoria during the latter part of July.

While in Clatsop county, representatives from the various counties visited the Northup Creek Experimental seeding where approximately one section of cut-over land has been seeded and fenced for livestock grazing. Forty different forage plants and mixtures of these have been seeded in different plots as an experiment to determine the most practical grasses and mixtures of grasses to be used for seeding this type of land. Through this experiment it is hoped to determine which of the plants will last longest, which are most palatable for livestock, and which will compete to best advantage with weeds and brush which normally grow on this type of land. Observations to date from this experiment indicate that some grasses will do better than others when seeded under hill land conditions, also that a fair profit may be earned by grazing the cut-over land which is suitable for this purpose.

Following the visit to this experiment and the discussion at the Astoria meeting regarding difficulties encountered in some sections in obtaining co-operation in carrying out range development practices, it was decided that a committee including representatives from the County Courts or others selected in the counties interested in this problem, would meet as soon as possible with the State Board of Forestry in an effort to develop a more workable program of range land development.

The Coos County committee will endeavor to have the County Forest Land Classification Act clarified by the State Board which will provide the same benefits to owners of grazing land that has been classified as best suited for grazing that owners of other land receive. Livestock operators do not object to paying the fire patrol tax on this land providing they can obtain some benefits through the fire patrol association, it was stated at the meeting. If this interpretation of the forest land classification act, which was passed especially for that purpose, cannot be taken by the State Board, then a determined effort will be made by livestock associations and others interested in seeing this type of land put to a profitable use, to amend the present laws.

Tentative plans were explained at the Coos county meeting for the establishment of a grass nursery in Coos county to provide more information on grasses which will do best when seeded on cut-over land in Coos county. These plans call for seeding approximately 40 one-acre plots to that number of different forage plants and mixtures of same on land which will be grazed normally, which is located where conditions will be representative of the county and which will be accessible for field meetings it was stated.

FAIRVIEW

The Fairview Ladies Aid met at the church on Thursday afternoon and held the regular monthly meeting. The meeting was opened with song and scripture reading. Mrs. Lena Moore, secretary-treasurer, read the minutes and treasury report. Committee chairmen gave reports on their respective committees. Discussion of dish towels, aprons, panholders, etc., for the club bazaar was followed by a motion to adjourn. Those present were Mesdames Blanche Yeoman, Lena Moore, Sophia Tosten, Pamela Hatcher, Hazel Benham and Karyn, and Misses Frances McCarthy, Bette Yeoman and Viola Johnson.

The LaVerne Park was the scene of a picnic last Sunday given by the Women's Auxiliary of the Coquille C. I. O. union.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Ellis and son, of Eugene, visited the Cortland Ellis and George McNeil families at Fairview last week-end.

Miss Carlene Alley returned home from her work last week-end to start her high school course.

Mr. and Mrs. Cal Ray are in Seattle. Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Arnes, Leah and Jimmy, of Camas, Washington, spent from Saturday to Monday with Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Benham and family. Mrs. Arnes and Mrs. Benham are sisters.

Mrs. Etta Davis and Solomon Brownson, of Petaluma, California, Mrs. Melissa Brownson and Mrs. Carrie Benham, of Bridge, called at the T. H. Benham home on Thursday of last week.

Mrs. Mildred Waldo and family, of Junction City, moved to the Riverside teachers' last week, where Mrs. Waldo will teach this term. Mrs. Althea Harrah, Mrs. Eula Richardson and Mrs. Bogard will teach at Fairview. Both schools started Tuesday.

Phillip Jensen, of Fairview, is confined to the Coquille Hospital with a broken back, following an accident here last Wednesday.

Riverton School

On Monday, September 5, the Riverton schools found an incomplete enrollment in the high school of forty-two students and sixty-seven in the grade school. Since many Riverton families were vacationing over the Labor Day holiday, it is expected there will be considerable increase in both the high and grade school by the end of the week.

Riverton High was pleased to welcome as new members to the student body twelve freshmen including Earl Abbott, James Childers, Orton Stanley, Margie Riggs, Helen Haga, Geraldine Guerin, Ernest Kight, Orville Young, Winston Gibson, Junior Gilbert, Bobby Georges and Tom McKinney; one junior from Portland, Clifton Guerin, Jr.; one senior, Oran Holbrook, who attended Riverton school his freshman and sophomore years and who is re-entering from Coquille for his senior year.

Everyone was pleased upon entering the Riverton school building to find the floors sealed with penetrating seal and waxed; the cream-painted part of the study hall, painted to match the rest of the room; the girls' toilet downstairs repainted, and the building in general good order.

Riverton High is trying to make this year. Several new Voit balls have been purchased for the use of the athletic teams. Voit balls are the same weight and size and look and bounce the same as leather balls but they are made of rubber and cost only about one-sixth as much. The shipment of Voit balls which just arrived include a football, soccer ball, a volley ball and indoor baseballs.

In addition to the Voit balls, a new seamless leather basketball was also received in preparation for the basketball season.

The book exchange was on the job Tuesday with a large assortment of text books, sold to student body members in good standing at a 15 per cent discount, plus postage from Portland.

The members of the high school teaching staff met at Mr. Robinson's home on Friday, September 2, for their regular pre-school meeting. Those present were Miss Elda Gilman, Miss Sarah Margaret Nye, and Wayne Robinson. Carroll Rycraft was busy with 4-H activities and was not able to be present.

The grade school teachers did not have their regular meeting Saturday as usual but attended the Coos county teachers' meeting called at the courthouse by County School Superintendent Mulkey. Monday afternoon, all the grade teachers met in Mr. Robinson's office. One badly needed improvement was decided upon—that of completely cataloguing the grade school library, using a master card file and making all the books in all the rooms available to every one in school without "hit and miss inspection" of all the books in every room. It was further decided to embark upon a program of diagnostic testing in order to determine more accurately the needs of the children and thereby to improve the effectiveness of the instruction offered.

Mr. Rycraft is making extensive preparation for a creditable Riverton Smith-Hughes exhibit at the County Fair in Myrtle Point.

Miss Nye is planning with her home economics students to enter as many cooking exhibits from her classes as the shortness of the time until the fair will allow.
