Lincoln School News

The six home rooms of the Junior High are entering into a three-week contest to determine which will have the highest percentage of active membership in the student body at the end of that period. To become an active member, a pupil must purchase a student body card. Those owning such cards will be admitted without further charge to all football and basketball games played at home by the Junior High teams. A subscription to the "Coquille Hi-Lights," a student publication, is also included in the purchase of such a card.

The competition should be unusually keen this year since an amendment to their constitution was voted by the pupils last spring which requires all student body officers and all members of athletic teams to own such cards. The general feeling in this regard was that only active members should be permitted to represent the student body as officers or as members of competing teams. Such cards may be purchased for a semester only at 25c, or for a full year at a cost of 50c.

The funds obtained from the sale of these cards are used to help in the purchase of athletic equipment and to take care of other expenses of the student organization.

Sammy Kramer is reported unable to attend school because of a broken leg.

Marilyn Sage has returned to school after a trip to California.

Miss Pageler reports that the Junior Band is growing rapidly. There are now 42 members enrolled.

Late registrations include Stewart and Donald Ricketts, who were members of last year's student body.

Four football games have been scheduled by the J. H. S. squad for the coming season:

North Bend at North Bend, Sept. 30.
Reedsport at Reedsport, Oct. 8.
North Bend at Coquille, Oct. 14.
Reedsport at Coquille, Oct. 29.

Riverton School

As a special project in line with the social activities of early fall, Mr. Robinson's orientation class has been working in committees on detailed plans for two school parties. Included in the study are plans for artistic decorations, unusual ideas in serving and preparing refreshments, game leadership, and all phases of party etiquette. Several books on these subjects from the Oregon State Library are being used as a source of ideas. Some of the best suggestions presented may be used for the Freshmen Initiation party, put on by the sophomores, and the freshman return party, given by the first year students, later in the year.

The students who have been listening to the plays which were read last week by Mr. Robinson have decided to produce "A Ready-Made Family."

The play depicts the efforts of a widow's three children and a widower's two children to prevent their mother and father, respectively, from marrying. The antics that they resort to to break up the match are so hilariously funny that those who listened to the play were laughing most of the time. It is hoped that "A Ready-Made Family" will be ready for production about November 4.

Mr. Rycraft is planning to add to the entertainment between acts of the above-mentioned play by coaching some of the B. E. S. "songbirds" for some vocal numbers.

Several alumni who, it seems, could not resist the call of the school bell were visitors last week. They were Lee Cox, Quentin Church, Glenn Church and Bob McCue.

Randall Johnson has been busy around the school grounds during the sunny fall weather getting rid of the blackberry vines and brush.

The county road department has been very generous in improving the road from the bus sheds to the highway. They have hauled several loads of gravel for this section. This week the WPA road gang has also been busy ditching the upper side of the road for better drainage, putting in culverts to run the water from the school yard under the road instead of down the ruts and in cutting the blackberry vines from the right-of-way south of the bus sheds. All of these improvements were very badly needed, and the school much appreciates having the work done.

Mr. Robinson attended the first meeting of the Coos County Schoolmasters Club. He was elected vice-president of the organization, representing the "B" schools, for the school year 1938-39. There are six "B" League high schools in Coos county: Coos River, Powers, Bandon, Lakeside, Arago and Riverton.

In line with the policy of the school, all seniors and juniors who wished to take typing were assigned machines first; then, sophomores were given opportunity to take the subject. However, only two of the four available machines were occupied. Margarette Carlson and Mayme Royer were the sophomores who enrolled in the typing class. There are twelve typewriters as a total.

The freshman class received two new members last week when Rufus Sell and Nancy Roberts enrolled in the high school.

In order to prevent having to pay for the school telephone during the summer when it was not in use, it was removed from the school and replaced again during the telephone company's free installation period this fall. During the summer, the telephone number listed for Riverton School was assigned to another telephone. The school number is now "1R24."

At recent meetings of the various classes of the Riverton high school, the following officers were elected:

Seniors—president, Miles Hartwell; vice-president, Max Mullen; secretary, Muriel Herman; treasurer, Hazel Heffley; sergeant-at-arms, Orville Huff.

Juniors—president, Clifton Guerin; vice-president, Glenys Gilbert; secretary, Ferril Schrader; treasurer, Ronald Holbrook.

Sophomores — president, Keith Young; vice-president, Genevieve Fitch; secretary-treasurer, Margaret Carlson.
