Bridge News

At a pretty wedding held Sunday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. Beckett, their daughter, Myrtle, became the bride of Clarence R. Fiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Fiser of Paducah, Kentucky. The ring ceremony was used, with J. L. Ellis officiating. Miss Zella May Moon, of Myrtle Point, was the bridesmaid and the best man was Elwood Reeves, from Paducah, Ky., and now stationed at Middle Fork CCC camp. Others present were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Heath; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Beckett; her sisters, Virginia and Wilda, and brother, Alden. The bride looked lovely in navy blue taffeta and the bridesmaid was also dressed in blue. The date chosen for the wedding was the 21st anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Beckett's wedding day and the 53rd anniversary for Mr. and Mrs. Heath.

The wedding dinner was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Culver, who were also observing their anniversary, having been married 22 years on Oct. 23. Those present at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Fiser, Mr. and Mrs. Beckett, Virginia, Wilda and Alden, Mr. and Mrs. Heath, Zella May Moon, Elwood Reeves, Mrs. Lucy Culver, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Culver, Mary Lou and Evert; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McIntosh, of Eureka, Calif. The latter is a sister of Ray Beckett and they arrived too late for the wedding.

The newly married couple left Sunday evening for a short honeymoon trip to Grants Pass and Crescent City, expecting to return Wednesday. Clarence has made many friends since his arrival in the community last spring and Myrtle, who has spent most of her life in this vicinity is popular in a wide circle of friends. They have the best wishes of many for a happy married life.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatfield and two sons, Edson and Lyman, and Edward Morrison were Coquille visitors Saturday.

Miss Pauline Farmer will have charge of the Christian Endeavor meeting next Sunday evening. The topic is "Workers for Peace."

Frank Culver returned home Saturday on the afternoon bus, from a short business trip to Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Huff, Billy and Lois, motored to Coquille Saturday afternoon.

Misses Mabel Hill and Hazel Jarvis, who have recently come from White Salmon, Wash., where they had been working, are visiting at the home of the former's grandmother, Mrs. Melissa Brownson.

The Frank Culver home was the scene of jolly gathering Friday evening, when the Christian Endeavorers met there for their October party. Those in attendance were Mrs. Frank Culver, Mrs. A. O. Hooton, Nadine Ellis, Myrtle, Virginia and Wilda Beckett, Lou Hooton, Lynn Culver, Marian and Charlotte Finch, Mary Lou Culver, E. J. Walker, Glenn Hutton, Clarence Fiser, Gene Finch and Tommy and Edson Culver.

Mrs. Lavinia James, who was here from Central Point for the week-end, was surprised late Sunday afternoon with a delightful party in honor of her birthday. The party was held at the Joseph Leclere home, where she was a guest. Among those who enjoyed the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Heath, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Culver, Mary Lou and Evert; Mrs. Ida James, Mrs. A. O. Hooton, Mrs. Frank Culver, Mrs. H. A. Hatfield, Lou and Maude Hooton, Nadine Ellis, Rosemary Moore, of Myrtle Point; Mrs. Lavinia James, Mr. and Mrs. Leclere and Roger.

Everett and Earl James and their mother, Mrs. Ida James, are leaving this week for Kansas. They left here Monday afternoon, taking Mrs. Lavinia James and son, Ronald, back to their home at Central Point, and will go on from there to Kansas.

Juniors Rehearse 'Pleased to Meetcha'

This lively three-act comedy, written by J. Bernard Chichester, and produced by special permission of the Banner Play Bureau, Inc., will be presented by members of the junior class of Coquille High School at the Liberty Theatre, November 15, at eight o'clock.

The plot of "Pleased To Meetcha" concerns Mr. Bixby (Danny Cardwell), who has lived all his life in a country town; just recently he has come into a considerable amount of money and has moved with his wife (Jeanne Claterbos) and daughter (Gretchen Clinton) into the city. As the play opens, all is in readiness for Betty's birthday party; and Mrs. Bixby, having social aspirations, has invited Archie Pomeroy (Charles Hawkins) because his family has money and social standing. This fact irks Betty but it is turnabout when Mrs. Bixby learns that Betty has invited Elmer Hicks (Bill Yarbrough), one of her childhood friends and a typical rube, to her party.

During the progress of the party it is suggested they play a game called "Murder" which necessitates turning the lights off and when the lights are again turned on, Mr. Bixby is found unconscious on the floor and a valuable necklace, Betty's birthday gift, is missing from his pocket. At this point we meet all the characters who help to develop the enjoyable three acts of entertainment: Binks, the butler, Bill Smith; Marie, the maid, Shirley Nye; Bevy, the detective with the excellent opinion of himself, John Williams; Andrew Grimes, who claims to be a detective, Farrel Bailey; Howard Wills, a very helpful friend, Vern Knox; Helen Maxwell, a most excitable young lady, Jean Laird; and Ruth Adams, a calmer girl friend of Betty's (Eunice Howe).

Musical numbers are being arranged for between acts with the assistance of Miss Pageler. Remember Tuesday evening, November 15.
