Manufacturer Has Success With Product

J. E. Leclerc, of Bridge, is finding a great deal of favorable response to his White Rose Wash Day Wonder, which is now being sold up the coast nearly a hundred miles and down to the California line and into the inland market as far as Medford and Eugene. Nearly every independent dealer of grocery stores is handling the product.

So large has the demand been that Mr. Leclerc has had to enlarge his plant at Bridge considerably since he started operations four and a half months ago. He has now a capacity of 3500 gallons per week of this product and could supply more for his present market were he able to produce it.

White Rose Wash Day Wonder is an exclusive, patented formula for use in domestic or commercial laundering and comes in a clear, transparent bottle. Housewives of this vicinity who have not used the product cannot afford to pass it up in view of the favorable response already given it and the fact that it is a local product.

Accident Victim Is Awarded $5508

The only jury case heard in circuit court here this week was that of Rose Robison who was suing Roy F. Condon, of the Reedsport district, for $30,000 for damages and injuries sustained in an automobile collision on the bay side several months ago. She was quite seriously injured. Condon did not claim that he was not responsible for the collision, the case hinging on the amount of damages which should be paid. The jury's verdict was for $1,008.25 special damages and $4500 general damages.
