Black Simoon Roars in "Suez" Bringing Terrifying Climax to Spectacular Screen Romance at Roxy Theatre Thur., Fri., Sat.

Tyrone Power, Loretta Young Annabella in Drama

When the savage black simoon roars in from the Sahara to provide a climax of terrifying power for "Suez," audiences at the Roxy Theatre will witness a spectacle and experience an emotion the screen has never been able to capture before. Twisting, torturing, destroying—the devil-wind of the desert is one of the production miracles of the spectacular story of Ferdinand de Lesseps and the building of the great canal that has become the jugular vein of the world.

Darryl F. Zanuck, producer of many of the screen's most memorable pictures, has re-created on the screen the stupendous effort of de Lesseps to tear two continents apart and join the Mediterranean with the Red Sea that ships might sail the desert.

A canal half a mile long, 100 feet deep and 150 feet across was dug by movie crews in the American desert near Yuma, Arizona, for scenes in the film. Other dramatic sequences were filmed on a 20-acre desert constructed on an abandoned golf course on the 20th Century-Fox lot. Royal courts of Europe and Egypt were built for the film, which is highlighted by the romantic story of the loves that drove de Lesseps to the realization of his dream.

Tyrone Power interprets the flaming heroic role of the canal-builder, sharing stellar honors with Loretta Young and Annabella. "Suez" latest in the Movie Quiz $250,000 contest, opens tonight at the Roxy Theatre for three days. Allan Dwan directed.
