

SOLVING THE MYSTERY

A Manchester commercial traveler met another "knight of the road" in the dining car.
 "Of course, you're from Lancashire?" said the latter.
 The Manchester man replied that he was, and asked why the question had been asked.
 "Oh, I was just accounting for your accent," was the reply.
 Then the Manchester man said: "And where do you come from?"
 "Worcester," replied the other, innocently.
 "Ah, well," remarked the other, "now I can account for your sauce."

In Perfect Health

Smith, a chronic borrower, had exhausted all his friends, and one day tackled a mere acquaintance, Brown, outside the latter's home.
 "Excuse me," began Smith diffidently, "but I've come away without any money. Can you lend me $10?"
 "I'm sorry, but I haven't a cent with me," said Brown.
 "And at home—" queried Smith hopefully.
 "All very well, thank," murmured Brown.

No Conveyance Handy

Husband (furiously)—Here I come home and find nothing but a pile of bills! D'you want to drive me to the workhouse?
 Wife—Fraid I can't. The finance company came and took the car this morning.—Stray Stories Magazine.

WOMAN RULES

"Your husband is in business for himself, isn't he?"
 "Well, no. He's in business for me."

Repentance

Two women were waiting for a bus. As one came up, the conductor cried:
 "Room for one on top and one inside."
 "But surely you wouldn't separate a mother and a daughter?" protested the elder of the women.
 "I did once," replied the conductor bitterly, as he rang the bell, "but never again!"

To Put It Bluntly

A Vermont pastor of the old school met one of his parishioners on Monday morning.
 "I haven't seen you in church for some time," said the preacher.
 "No, parson, I've lost my religion."
 "I hope no one finds it," was the comment as the parson went his way.

Only One Feather

"I shall put you fellows in this room," said the host; "you'll have a comfortable night, for it has a feather-bed."
 At two o'clock in the morning one of the guests awoke his companion.
 "Change places with me, Dick," he groaned, "it's my time to be on the feather."—Annapolis Log.

Obedient Orders

Doctor—Merciful heavens! Who on earth stuffed that towel in the patient's mouth?
 Patient's Husband—I did, doctor. You said the main thing was to keep her quiet.

GOLF BALL BREAKFAST

"Sunday morning at the Jungla Country Club."

Why Not?

Customer—I don't like the looks of that haddock.
 Fish Dealer—Lady, if it's looks you're after, why don't you buy a gold fish?

Fear Same Result

"Every morning when I go out driving with Bill, he keeps on kissing me. How can I avoid this?"
 "Drive with him in the evening."

Free Bulletins On Christmas Cookery

With the coming of the Christmas season and the holidays until New Years, many women will be wanting to make holiday sweets, Christmas cookies, plum puddings, salted nuts, candies, etc.

Are you always successful when making candy, do you know why your fudges sometimes sugars, or why one time it may be soft and creamy white while the next batch is crumbly? If you wonder about any of these or other questions, you will be interested in obtaining one or more of the following bulletins which may be obtained by writing to Julia Bennett, home demonstration agent, Coquille. The names of the bulletins are: Whole-some Sweets for Christmas, HE-109; Fruit Cakes and Plum Puddings, HE-260; Christmas Cookies, HE-272; and Holiday Sweets, HE-816.

Just a sample of the many recipes which you might like to try is: Spiced Nuts—1 cup blanched nuts (walnuts, almonds, pecans or filberts); 1 tsp. salad oil; 2 tsp. salt; ¼ tsp. each of nutmeg, allspice and cloves. Place the nuts in shallow pan, pour the oil over them. Stir well. Put in moderate oven to brown, stirring frequently. Remove to soft paper to drain. While still warm, sprinkle with the spice mixture. Cool thoroughly before serving.
