THE PATRIOTIC MONTH

February is the one month of the year that we enjoy with reminiscences of the glorious past of our country. The customs and the society of the revolutionary period are always portrayed during this month. We think of our civil war president, Lincoln, and the father of our country, Washington, in terms of the social activity in which they lived.

So, it is that we find the theme of many parties and public affairs patterned after the style of our romantic past during February.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hughes entertained some friends Saturday evening at their home on Second street. Pinochle was played, Mrs. Jas. MONARCH RANGE DEMONSTRATION

A large number of persons visited the Biegger & Gunderson Furniture store last Saturday, where John Schruth, of Minneapolis, Minn., a representative of the Monarch Range company, conducted a baking demonstration.

Without any chimney pipe connection at all in range, Mr. Schruth baked with the range in the store and virtually no fumes at all were given off by the stove, indicating the great efficiency of the range. His demonstration was well liked.
