

Home Economics Extension Meetings

The Summer Home Economics Extension unit will meet for a demonstration on Thursday, May 11, at the community hall, beginning at 10:30 o'clock and lasting until 3:30. Miss Lucy Lane, specialist in clothing and textiles, will present this third meeting in Good Grooming on "Your Hair and Its Care," according to Julia Bennett, home demonstration agent.

Miss Lane will give instruction in hair structure, shampooing, dandruff, and dyes and rinses, waving, and hair arrangement. A model from the group will have her hair waved and arranged by Miss Lane to fit her features and illustrate becoming types of hairdress.

A meeting on the same subject will be held in Norway on Friday, May 12.

Hair is almost a barometer of vitality, and good health, for nervous tension, worry, poor circulation and inadequate diet that detract from well-being are reflected in the condition of your topknot.

Other groups desiring this demonstration should make arrangements through the home demonstration agent in Coquille.

Home Ec. Luncheon
The R. H. S. "doubting Thomases" have been convinced. The home economics girls can really cook! They proved it to us, too. The F.F.A. boys and the faculty were guests at a luncheon in the home economics room Friday noon. About 20 persons were present. The menu consisted of a plate lunch of baked ham, baked potatoes, asparagus, pineapple-cottage cheese salad, drop biscuits, jelly, pickles, and olives. Iced punch was served as the beverage and fresh strawberry jello topped with whipped cream and served in individual molds was the dessert.

The next luncheon will be Thursday. The meals are being organized and prepared by members of the home economics III class as part of their unit on foods.

Seniors Shop
A special shopping tour to Eugene was supervised by Miss Nye on Saturday. Three of the senior girls in home economics III took the trip to purchase some of their wardrobe for the forthcoming senior activities on May 14 and 15 when the Riverton baccalaureate and commencement exercises will take place.

Oerding Talks Insurance
George Oerding was a guest of the Riverton high school orientation class on Monday morning. The class has spent the past several class periods discussing the various types of insurance and the provisions of insurance policies of several kinds. Mr. Oerding talked to the class about fire, automobile, life and accident insurance. Many questions were asked and considerable interest was evident in some phases of the insurance problem.

Boys Take Trip
Mr. Rycraft, Smith-Hughes teacher, and four boys, Erwin Plasep, Keith Young, Orville Young and Graydon Haga, attended the state Future Farmers of America convention in Corvallis. The group left Riverton Thursday morning and returned home Saturday evening. Keith Young is the present president of the F. F. A. chapter at Riverton.

Riverton Track Meet Tomorrow
Much interest is being shown in the big annual track day of the Riverton grade school. In the morning, a large number of entrants will take part in the field and track events. Participation will be in classes. At noon, a co-operative luncheon will be enjoyed by those attending. In the afternoon, a co-operative program will be held in which each school will take some part. The Riverton students expect to present a forty-five minute play for their part of the program.

The teachers in charge of the day's activities are eager to have a great number of parents and patrons present from the school being represented. There is no charge for any part of the day's entertainment.

High school students will assist as officials in the track events.

New Bandon Firm Answers Great Need

With the opening this week at Bandon by J. H. Thompson of a new, large fish refrigerator plant on the water front, one of the greatest needs of the past two years will be fully answered.

With this new plant will be 150 lockers for private use to customers and over 30-ton storage space for fresh fish. The firm will specialize in both retail and wholesale fish business and has a large market outside of the local confines for fish brought to the dock in the Port of Bandon.

The enterprise involves an investment of over $10,000 and will give deep sea fishermen another port in which to land their cargo. This possibility has not existed since the Bandon fire and it has handicapped fishermen a great deal.

So optimistic is Mr. Thompson about the new fish refrigerator, that he has plans this year of constructing another unit at the same location of the same capacity to accommodate the needs of fishermen who plan to haul to his warehouse.

Hope And Raye Mad Marrieds In Film At Liberty Tonight

Often sweethearts but never before man-and-wife, Bob Hope and Martha Raye play a pair of the giddiest young marrieds ever to hit the screen in their new comedy together, "Never Say Die." A gay story of a rich hypochondriac's romance with a girl who's trying to elude an unwanted fiance, it opens locally tonight at the Liberty Theatre for three days.

A large cast of selected comedy players assists Hope and Miss Raye in their latest antics. It includes, in important roles, Andy Devine, the gravel-voiced stooge of the recent, "Men With Wings," Alan Mowbray, Gale Sondergaard and Ernest Coe. It was directed by the starring pair's favorite chief, Elliott Nugent, who brought to the screen their previous hit, "Give Me a Sailor."

"Hopalong" Second Feature
Frontier days returned to town again with the opening of the new "Hopalong Cassidy" outdoor action drama, "The Frontiersmen," at the Liberty Theatre. William Boyd, in the role of the popular range hero, holds the reins in a galloping story of the efforts of cattlemen to make the Old West a fit place for their youngsters to grow up in.

Based on a yarn by Clarence E. Mulford, whose stories have the smell of worn leather and the tone of pounding hooves about them, "The Frontiersmen" is well up to the high standard of previous "Hopalong Cassidy's." It combines the excitement of frontier romance which only the prairies and deserts of the West can know.

From coast to coast, Beer has helped in putting men back to work... into a million new jobs in six short years. Beer also each year buys the produce of 3,000,000 acres of farmland and pays a million dollars a day in taxes.

The brewers want to preserve these economic benefits. They want also to protect the public's right to enjoy beer and their own right to make and market it.
