Coquille Eagles

I am as jittery as a young June bride packing for twenty-four hour overland honeymoon. What for? Sure I'll tell; I am going to Roseburg to the convention. Now I suppose you want to know why I was delegated and I will tell that too. I was picked for a delegate for bravery, any way, that is what I was told. I think it is for taking the chances I do in writing this column every week.

Last week we had a chance to see our new officers strut their stuff and take it from me they sure took to their work like veterans, in fact, they did so well that if they try to slack off later in the year it will kinda look bad for them. But I don't think we need worry about that.

The final arrangements were made last week for the delegates to the convention at Roseburg the last two days in June and the first day of July. There will be about fifteen men and twenty nine women, including the ladies drill team, so I guess they will know Coquille is on the map when we arrive. The convention committee has hung up some nice prizes this year and Coquille is going out to bring home the bacon if possible. The Auxiliary drill team is entered in the field competition and I think they have a mighty good chance of taking first place. They have also entered their officers and drill team in class A ritualistic competition. The Eagles are going in for class B competition, as it is necessary to have a drill team to enter class A, but next year we intend to have a drill team and I can't see a reason in the world why we can not have a team as good as the best, with over three hundred members to choose from it should not be too hard to do. If we can get a drill team as good as the Eagles soft ball team is at present, we can be sure of winning a prize. But it may not be a first prize. I see a ball player coming in the door, so I better knock off until next week for safety's sake, or mine. —PRESS COR.

Marshfield To Have $6,000 Salvation Army Home

H. J. Leaf, of Marshfield, met with some of the Chamber of Commerce directors at a noon luncheon last Saturday, asking Coquille's co-operation in financing the $6,000 Salvation Army home which it is hoped to build at Marshfield. The matter was brought before the directors at their session Tuesday when it was decided that the chamber would not make a drive for funds but would sanction any soliciting the Marshfield chamber might make here for that purpose. The Salvation Army does a very fine work at the Bay and any contribution made here will be a welcome donation to a good cause.

Mr. Leaf reported that they had raised $1600 of the $6,000 needed.

Some of the fire department boys went up to the Dutch John reservoir Tuesday evening to extinguish a fire which boys had set under an old snag there Monday evening. The tree was five feet through at the butt, 40 feet high and its hollow center served as a flue. They cut the tree down and put out the fire as protection for nearby property.
