Coquille Eagles

Another week gone and here I am scratching the old Noggin trying to think what has happened, but not having what it takes to do any heavy thinking, I will hazard a wild guess and here it is. I guess we had a whale of a time last Thursday night. I also guess we had a lot of water-melons. For what I am going to guess now I may need a lot of protection, but here goes. Coos Bay Aerie No. 538 has had a sort of superiority complex for some time, but we showed them we were their equal in one way at least.

The boys from the Bay came over with their biggest, roughest and toughest man they had, and while not exactly boasting the prowess of their man, they were never-the-less chuck full of ego. Consequently, we picked out a member from Coquille and tossed them out in the middle of the room to fight, wrestle or foot race—and they decided to wrestle. And man, oh, man, I never have seen so much kicking, biting and gnashing of teeth in my life with so little blood shed. To escape murder the referee called the bout a draw which was good enough for me.

I made mention last week of our collection of antiques and the old-timers have started bringing in more, so step down to Kelley & Gilkey's Place and look it over and watch it grow. Maybe you have some article that could be added. If so, bring it down and give them the history as to who made it, used it, or owned it, and when.

I understand quite a few of the members and their wives went to Marshfield last night. The reason? Big feed and dance. Now don't take me too serious on this news item, for as I said in the beginning, this is one big guess.
