English I Notebook
The English I class is starting a collection of some of the fine pieces of contemporary literature created by its members. A committee of Patricia Rawe, Geraldine Guerin and Rhea Anthony is to choose the best theme in each composition assignment for the class notebook.

Miss Rowland Goes Home

Miss Rowland is again making her periodic visit to see mama and papa and the home town, Eugene. This time, however, besides the domestic attractions, she expects to see the U. of O. team "take" O. S. C. (she hopes) in the big football battle of the year.

Mr. Beall Divides Squad

Mr. Beall is being confronted with the delicate and difficult task of choosing and classifying his basketball players. He is dividing the squad of about thirty boys into three groups. One group he will consider to be the boys who will have to play most of the first team games. The other two groups will have all the rest of the talent divided as evenly as possible for the purpose of scheduling practices. The first group will practice four or five days per week. The second and third groups will practice with them, each alternating two days per week, with the remainder of their practices being among themselves. In that way, every boy will be given a chance to make the first team whenever he becomes skillful enough to deserve the position.

Typing

Mr. Beall reports that Alice Church with twenty words net per minute and Philip Childers with sixteen words per minute for fifteen minute tests are the "speed kings" of his typing I class at the end of nine weeks instruction.

High School Paper

Because of the great amount of last minute news that was turned into the newspaper staff, it was necessary to defer issuance of the "Trojan" from last Friday to the early part of this week.

General Mathematics

Margie Rogers led the General Math. class at the end of the first three weeks of this period with 323 points, with Geraldine Guerin following closely with 317 points. Six of the class leaders were only 23 points apart.

Hansel and Gretel Nov. 17

The pupils and teachers in the grade school are making every effort to make "Hansel and Gretel," their forthcoming operetta, one of the most colorful and polished musical events of its kind.

An exceptionally large number of boys and girls are taking part. All of them will be in costume. The boys, under Mr. Leonard, are well on their way in the construction of the scenery which will show elaborate stage settings.

In order to enlist the help of the high school artists in advertising the operetta, two tickets are being offered for the best poster produced and one ticket for the second prize. Several high school students are submitting posters.

A free ferry will run from 7:30 to 8:30 and for thirty minutes after the operetta on November 17 for the convenience of the people on the North Bank. Admission will be 25c and 10c.

Grade Basketball

Eleven boys have been reporting for basketball practice, which started last week.

The present practice schedule provides for grade school boys' basketball practices alternating every other day with the girls' volleyball. After the operetta on November 17, Mr. Robinson will coach the boys about twice a week on the boys' off days until the teams get into shape for the season.

Mr. Leonard reports that the girls' volleyball team is developing very satisfactorily and should have a successful season.

"Trojan Jr."

The grade school mimeographed the first issue of the Trojan Junior for this year and distributed it Friday afternoon. It was well written and a paper of which the grade school and staff can justly be proud.

Missionary Society

The Woman's Missionary Council of the Assembly of God church met Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 1, at the home of the president, Mrs. H. L. Johnson. Devotions were led by Mrs. Steward, who read and discussed the third chapter of Colossians, after which special prayer was offered in behalf of foreign missions. Mrs. Holmstrom was in charge of the program. Members present were: Mesdames Hattie Coy, Martha Denzer, Darwell, Theresa English, Frank Fish, Frances Holmstrom, Ada Howard, H. L. Johnson, Bessie Marney, R. D. E. Smith, Ida May Steward, V. R. Wilson, Lucy Train, Misses Aileen Wilson and Margaret Steward. Visitors were: Mesdames May Bates, Ella Nelson and R. Wilkins. The next meeting will hold Dec. 6 at the church and the ladies of Bandon, Myrtle Point and North Bend churches are invited to attend.

Zanuck Makes A Great Film Of Bromfield's "The Rains Came"

Three great stars head a great cast in a great film. Tyrone Power as the romantic Major Rama Safti; Myrna Loy as the lovely and amorous Lady Esketh; and George Brent as the world-weary Tom Ransome in Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "The Rains Came," the sensational successful best-seller by Louis Bromfield, which 20th Century-Fox presents Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Roxy Theatre.

Myrna Loy, Tyrone Power And George Brent Are Stars Of Picture At Roxy

The power of one of today's great novels finds its full scope on the screen in Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "The Rains Came," the sensational successful best-seller by Louis Bromfield, which opened Wednesday at the Roxy Theatre, with Myrna Loy, Tyrone Power and George Brent sharing stellar honors.

These fascinating strangely-assorted humans, cut off from the world in the colorful mythical city of Ranchipur, India, with all restraint swept away, as the angry forces of nature made life a fading hope and love a desperate longing, are brought vividly to life in this 20th Century-Fox film. Faithful in mood and detail to the book, "The Rains Came" preserves all of Bromfield's characters.

Myrna Loy breaks with the "perfect wife" tradition to play the amorous Lady Edwina Esketh; Tyrone Power has his most romantic role as the high-caste Hindu surgeon, Major Rama Safti, who proves the one great love of Lady Esketh's life; and George Brent is seen as the worldly Tom Ransome, a ghost out of the lady's romance-strewn past.

Brenda Joyce, discovered by star-maker Zanuck as the climax of a nation-wide search, heads a brilliant supporting cast in the role of Fern Simon, the fresh, young beauty whose love gives the world-weary Ransome a new lease on life.

Others who bring Bromfield's colorful characters to life are Nigel Bruce as Lord Esketh; Maria Ouspenskaya as the Maharani; Joseph Schildkraut as Mr. Bannerjee; Mary Nash as Miss MacDaid; Jane Darwell as Aunt Phoebe Smiley; Marjorie Rameau as Mrs. Simon; Henry Travers as Rev. Homer Smiley and H. B. Warner as the Maharajah.

Zanuck entrusted the direction of his most ambitious production to the distinguished Clarence Brown, while Philip Dunne and Julien Josephson prepared the screen play. Harry Joe Brown acted as associate producer.

"The Rains Came," which has been hailed by preview critics as one of the truly great pictures of all time, was given the hearty approval of author Bromfield.

The earthquake, flood, fire and plague which highlight the novel have been faithfully reproduced in the motion picture production and are said to provide the most breath-taking spectacle scenes the screen has ever shown.

Townsend Club

Coquille Townsend Club met Tuesday evening with a good attendance. They had an interesting meeting, followed by a dance. Next week is the regular business meeting. Ladies please bring sandwiches and men, coffee.—Press Correspondent.

Supreme Court Says It Is A Scheme To Defraud

A warning was read at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Tuesday noon, from the Coast Highway Association office, telling of representatives of a "Standard Research Bureau," who offer to sell an $89 encyclopedia for 50 cents. The salesmen present a questionnaire "for the purpose of gathering local information," and ask for a letter of endorsement. Somewhere along the line the prospect signs an agreement to buy the revision sheets, for insertion in the encyclopedia from year to year.

The U. S. Supreme Court has ruled that such practice is in the category of "criminal schemes to defraud."

W. C. T. U. Institute Held At Bandon

Thirty-eight attended the Coos County W. C. T. U. institute held at the Bandon Baptist church Tuesday. The committee for the day were: Mrs. Harold McCue, of Coquille, and Mrs. T. H. Thompson, of Marshfield. The following directors were appointed for the new year: Flower, Mission and Relief, Mrs. Louise Horton, Marshfield; Children's Farm Home, Mrs. Harold Minter, Coquille; Alcohol Education, Mrs. Jas. Richmond, Coquille; Evangelistic, Mrs. T. H. Thompson, Marshfield. Mrs. Pearl Cardwell, of Coquille, gave an interesting account of her recent visit to the Children's Farm Home at Corvallis, where she was a dinner guest at the new Frances Elizabeth cottage.

Friends of Betty Thurman will be glad to learn that she is a most attractive girl and has won the love and confidence of the Farm Home folk. Betty has a lovely voice and is one of four girls who sing at entertainment. At the home, between five and six thousand pieces are washed each week; 4860 jars of fruit and vegetables have been canned this year from their own garden for use in the Home. Articles most needed there are pajamas, all sizes, bedspreads, overalls, underwear and material for girls' dresses.

Mrs. Louise Horton, of Marshfield, spoke on the awards given at the state convention, Coos county W. C. T. U. bringing home six. Mrs. T. H. Thompson led the morning devotional hour with "Faith" as her topic. Much of the devotional time was given to a review of the "Quiet hour talks" at the convention. This year's work will be along the lines of local work and support of the resolutions adopted at the national convention in Rochester, one to the President of the U. S. "to do all in his power to keep this country out of war and continue to use his good offices to bring peace to warring nations of the world" and the other to the Congress of the U. S. for the same purpose.

The following statement of principles was presented: Total abstinence and prohibition, local option, a study of alcohol and social welfare, commendation for radio stations which have refused advertisements of alcoholic liquors including beer, opposition to lotteries, pari-mutuel betting and prize fights, opposing indecent literature and objectionable motion pictures and favoring an enactment of the uniform drug act in the seven remaining states and opposing the proposed establishment of narcotic clinics as contrary to the purpose of the narcotic laws of the federal and state government.

The next institute will be held at Myrtle Point in January at which time Mrs. Necla Buck, state president, will be invited to be guest speaker. Those attending from Coquille were: Mesdames A. M. Willey, Ida C. Smith, Ione Billings, Pearl Cardwell, Geo. Chapman, Jas. Richmond, Inez Pinkston, Harold McCue, Harold Minter and C. C. Farr.

C. E. Elects At North Bend Saturday

Herbert Hall, of North Bend, was elected president of Myrtle Union of the Christian Endeavor by 75 delegates at the annual convention in North Bend Saturday afternoon.

Other officers were: E. J. Walker, of Bridge, vice president; Lorraine Fox, North Bend, secretary; Zella Mae Moon, Myrtle Point, treasurer; Rev. J. R. Adams, North Bend, pastor counselor; Ruth Towne, Coquille, executive adviser; Dan Cardwell, Coquille, social superintendent; Don Bailey, Coquille, publicity superintendent; Marvin Floyd, Myrtle Point, Christian Endeavor publications head; Leland Cramer, Reedsport, extension superintendent; Mrs. Leeling, Green-dell, junior superintendent; H. T. Mitchelmore, Myrtle Point, evangelistic superintendent; Ruth Walker, Bridge, missionary superintendent; and Bernice Gillespie, Myrtle Point, educational superintendent.

John Barney, of the Roseburg Christian Church, was the main speaker in the Friday night session, also on Saturday morning.

The convocation adjourned temporarily in the afternoon to allow members to see the Coquille-Marshfield game.

At 5:30 in the Presbyterian church the banquet was held, with about 60 Christian Endeavorers present. Homer A. Rodeheaver was guest speaker. Also on the program was Miss Helen Whitaker, instructor at North Bend high school. She told of life in China, where she was in missionary service for years and she also presented a Chinese style show.

After the banquet the delegates went over to the Community hall to hear Mr. Rodeheaver.

Red Cross Roll Call To Start the inroads of accidental death which each year claims approximately 100,000 lives.

From 1910 to 1935 the Red Cross trained a million persons in First Aid. Increased need for qualified persons to fight accidental death and to prevent serious injury, however, resulted in the broadening of the program. In the four years that followed, another million were trained, covering the same ground that previously had taken 25 years.

This year needs are even greater. Farm accidents, accidental deaths in the home and on the highway have created new problems for a reserve of civilians equipped to render emergency service.

In addition to training firemen, police, CCC and WPA workers, and tens of thousands of civilians, the Red Cross last year established several hundred First Aid stations throughout the country, bringing the total number in operation to 5,362. Highway stations are manned by Red Cross trained First Aiders, forming part of a nation-wide network organized to provide emergency facilities within call of injured motorists. Motoring was not alone in its high incidence of fatal accidents during the last year. Automobile accidents took a total of 32,400 lives last year as compared with 31,500 fatalities which occurred in home accidents during the

Services At The Assembly of God

Evangelist Price E. Robertson, of St. Helena, California, is now holding revival services at the Coquille Gospel Tabernacle, (Assembly of God). The meetings began Tuesday night, with a good congregation present, and will continue every night, except Monday, for two weeks.

Marriage Licenses

Nov. 4—Lars Gisholt, of Coquille, and Josephine Neal, of Myrtle Point. They were married last Saturday by Justice C. A. Barton at his office here.

Nov. 4—Robert Powell Yarborough and Louise Woodyard, both of Coquille. The ceremony is to be performed Sunday.

Nov. 6—Clyde Mitts and Lois Conlee, both of Coquille. They were married by Justice C. A. Barton at his office here on Monday.

Nov. 6—Edward J. Lafferty, Jr., of Roseburg, and Rosalie Tigard, of North Bend.

Nov. 7—Raymond E. Byers, of Empire, and Mary Eleanor Culin, of North Bend.

Hike To Reservoir

The Camp Fire group, under the direction of Miss Cherie Mae Hartwell, put on old clothes, grabbed their lunch and left Tuesday evening for an interesting hike on the road to the city reservoir. There were thirteen girls on the trip including: Donna Mae Gormley, Donna Mae Smith, Mary Ann Walker, Carol Kronsteiner, Joyce Benham, Roberta Medley, Harriett Walker, Louise Terry, Betty Lou Renfro, Lucille Morse, Jean Darnell, Iris Fox and Velma Coy.

same period. In an effort to prevent accidents in the home and on the farm, the Red Cross carries on a daily program of educating home owners and farm people on hazards that create accidents. Last year this service of the Red Cross reached more than ten million homes throughout the nation in an effort to remove the hazards leading to serious injury and accidental death.

This year the Red Cross will seek a million more members. Only through strengthened membership can the Red Cross meet more effectively the eventualities of suffering in the year to come. Support Coquille's Red Cross and help those the Red Cross serves.

Guardian of Life and Health

A reserve of 44,000 Red Cross registered nurses stands ready to aid in preserving the life and health of the nation. Typical activity of Red Cross nurses is shown, working in clinic under doctor's supervision. Red Cross nurses are nation's reserve for Army, Navy and Government hospital service, and also to serve civilians in epidemic or disaster. The Red Cross Nursing Service is supported by members who join the Red Cross during Roll Call, November 11 to 30.
