Paid For His Poor Judgment

He was a game loser and paid up, even though his judgment in picking basketball winners might be questioned.

Reference is to Harold Cederstrom, representative of the Kraft cheese company, who lives in Marshfield, and made a bet with Mary Jane Dunn that Marshfield would win its last game with Coquille in the high school conference.

Monday afternoon he decked out in lady wearing apparel, a hat, shirt and abbreviated slacks, with spot-painted legs showing beneath and wearing a placard on his rear with the words "I bet on Marshfield."

After he was dressed in the rear of Steve's Grocery, Mary Jane took his arm and preceded by a two piece band escorted Cederstrom across to Brandon's where he bought milk shakes and then escorted him back to Steve's. A good crowd witnessed the bet settlement.

Had she lost Mary Jane would have had to appear in male attire.

Camp Fire Girls

The Coquille Camp Fire group enjoyed their very entertaining "Bacon and Egg" hike Tuesday evening. In spite of Oregon's unusual weather, the camp fire under the tall fir trees burned brightly, the bacon turned golden brown and the eggs were fit for a king.

The girls who took the hike were Versie Willis, leader; Louis Terry, rear guard; Mary Ann Walker Roberta Medley, Anna Lee Mannell, Joyce Benham, Jean Darnell, Donna Gormley, Harritt Walker, Velma Coy, Iris Fox, Donna Mae Smith, Lucille Morse, Helen Hickam, Betty Lee Renfro, Carol Kronsteiner and Miss Hartwell, guardian.
