To Open R.E.A. Bids Next Monday

The Coos Electric Co-operative will open bids next Monday for the 80 miles of electric transmission lines which are to serve the rural communities from Sitkum to Remote. Several contractors are expected to submit offers—unit bids—and the contract will not be let for one lump sum. Ivan Laird, president of the co-op, stated yesterday that several applications are in, and more expected, for the position of manager, which is now being temporarily filled, very efficiently, by Ted Kirsch.

Hiway Association to Meet April 21-28

The semi-annual meeting of the Coast Highway Association is to be held in Crescent City on Sunday and Monday, April 21-22. J. E. Norton and Lafe Compton are planning on attending and the former said this morning they would like to make it a carload if anyone else from here can go.

A trip to the Mill Creek grove where one of the early highway meetings was held in the Redwoods, some 22 or 23 years ago, is one of the features for Sunday afternoon.

Fish and game conservation, Advertising, Roadside Beautification, are to be the subjects considered. At the noon luncheon on Monday, Marshall N. Dana, editor of the Oregon Journal, will speak on "Hospitality."

Myrtle Point To Have $3500 Catholic Church

A new Catholic church, to cost about $3500, is to be built at Myrtle Point, construction of which is to start next week. It will be built by A. J. Schall, Marshfield contractor, on the old church site near the city park. It is to be shake-covered, with myrtlewood panels in the interior.

Penney's To Have New Millinery Bar

E. H. Gyer, of Portland, district manager for the J. C. Penney Co., was here last Thursday and Friday conferring with F. W. Martin, local Penney manager. One of the improvements decided upon was the installation of a handsome new streamlined bar for the millinery department on the mezzanine floor in the store here. Mr. Gyer stated that the store showed a nice gain in March in department merchandise and that they are anticipating an improved business condition this spring and summer.

Duane Fitzgerald, Reserve Officer, Called to Active Duty

Duane Fitzgerald who recently finished his course at O. S. C., left last evening for Fort Jackson, North Carolina. He is a second lieutenant in the Field Artillery Reserve Corps and was summoned for active duty for a period of six months. He did not know whether a longer period in the army awaited him or not, but with more of the world becoming involved in the European conflict almost daily it is probable the U. S. forces will be augmented to a nearly war footing basis.
