August 15 Last Day For Farm Loans

Thursday, August 15, is the last day upon which applications for tenant farm loans can be accepted in Coos county for this year's program, advises Norman Fletcher, county Farm Security supervisor, 301 Laird building, Coquille. Application blanks are still available for interested tenant farmers and farm laborers.

Interest in the farm purchase program is county-wide as evidenced by applications already filed for the four to six loans expected to be available for the county, said Fletcher.

As soon as applications are closed, the county tenant purchase committee will begin reviewing the applications, farms intended for purchase, and prepare to make their recommendations as to applicants best qualified for farm ownership. While only a small number of loans will be made this year, funds are expected to be available for the next fiscal year, beginning July 1, 1941, to make additional loans in the county.

Travel Offer Attracts Youths to Marines

The restless spirit of American youth is becoming more evident every day, and even when there are no pressing economic problems at home, there is an inborn desire on the part of every young man for travel and adventure.

Such is the opinion of Major James B. Hardie, in charge of the Marine Corps recruiting station at Portland, Oregon, who states that the first question asked by each applicant is "where do we go from here?"

They do not always put the question in that fashion, but the examining officer can readily see that their chief desire is to get started for one of the numerous Marine Corps posts at home or abroad, and especially one which happens to be in some far corner of the globe.

Most of the young men who seek enlistment in the Marine Corps nowadays are not of the hitch-hiking type. Many of them are natives of localities from twenty-five to thirty miles from the city.

They enlist for nearly every reason under the sun, and mainly because they have either failed to find satisfactory employment at home or have succumbed to the natural desire of nearly every normal youth to travel about a bit and see what is going on elsewhere.

Happily the Marine Corps is able to fulfill that desire very satisfactorily. The entire Corps is trained with a view to quick mobilization or the rapid shifting of units here and there.

Officers and men change locations constantly. The main training stations at Parris Island, So. Carolina, and San Diego, Calif., have virtually an entire "turn over" every few months with men leaving for sea duty, for foreign service, or for one of the widely-scattered posts where Marines are serving.
