

Lights On Labor Problems

(By Robert H. Chowning)
 In the realm of democracy we have but two choices for president. If Willie wins he must never make the mistake of assuming that his opponent's defeat was because of any desire on the part of the people for a too radical change in our social and labor legislation. It is my hope and belief that the republicans recognize the necessity of every social and labor reform made within the last few years.
 If Roosevelt wins it will be because of the social and labor legislation he has championed. If he loses it will be for only one reason, accepting a third term nomination.

In an unprecedented decision Judge Phillips of Grays Harbor City sitting on Tacoma bench has ruled that a Union has the right to collect back dues from members.

He says any member working under conditions brought about and maintained by a union can be compelled to pay a reasonable dues.

One of the famous cases against labor was the Danbury Hatters case. The Hatters Union boycotted a certain manufacturer of hats. He sued the union for triple damages under the Sherman Anti-trust-law. He obtained judgment and proceeded to take everything the union as a body had, and then took homes and banks, savings of individual members, some of whom hadn't attended a meeting in 20 years. The total damages collected amounted to more than half a million.

Finally the American Federation of Labor raised enough to restore to the individuals their homes and all losses incurred.

Similar cases are now pending in several courts of our land as a result local unions affiliated with the Carpenters and Joiners are being assessed 50 cents a month for 6 months to help fight these cases.

Twenty-seven physicians at Eloise hospital in Detroit have affiliated themselves with Wayne County Employees Local 28, A. F. C. M. E.

No sneering representative of old fashioned conservatism can point at these men and refer to them as un-ambitious workers who were regimented into a union by conniving business agents. They are a group of intelligent men, well versed in the duties of their work.

They are the men who feel that affiliation with a union will be to their best interests. They know what they are doing.

Last month, memberships (paid up memberships we mean) in the A. F. of L. passed the 4 1/2 million mark. Since the membership was only slightly above two million in 1933, it can readily be seen that Lewis and the C. I. O. have practically wrecked the A. F. of L.

All these co-operation walkouts except one have been settled. Two locals received their 7 1/2 cent increase. One received five cents with a week vacation with pay. One is still out after five months.

Many Matters Heard By Council

 Assembly Building is ready for the use of the 6th Column members and that the practice will be supervised by a competent expert.

The application of East Ninth street property owners who offered funds to a 20 foot right of way for a water pipe line through a block where no street has been dedicated, was referred to the street committee for investigation.

The council discussed at length with Mrs. Emily Horsey and Mrs. Julius Rubin how the repair of the sidewalk on the north side of First street just west of the Qualls Cafe, should be made. The man with whom she had contracted to put in the concrete pillars for support of the sidewalk on the property side will not be able to start work before next Monday and the city's street department and the councilmen feel that the city is liable for damage should an accident occur there.

Fire Chief Ted Snyder reported that the bell tower needs strengthening and other repairs are needed on that and the steeple tower. He was instructed to get estimates of what the repairs would cost and the finance committee was given authority to pass on the bids and have the work done.

A north Coquille street resident asked that the city spend some money on that street before the football season opens. The property owners there, who spent money a few years ago for a temporary gravelled improvement, take the position that because it is a street leading to the ball park that the city should maintain the street there, something the city has never done on a gravelled street. When the property owners put in a gravelled parking improvement, it is then up to the city to keep it in repair.

Mrs. Lena Alley asked if the city would pay part of the expense of moving her two houses back about 45 feet. The property is that on the east side of Taylor street where the state highway department has begun work of making a permanent sidewalk. The houses are practically on the street line and a bulkhead to retain the fill there would be squarely up against the two houses where they now stand. The city attorney was asked to consult the highway engineer to ascertain if the state had funds available for that purpose. The city has already turned over to the state its check for $1000 to help pay for the sidewalk construction.

Notwithstanding there were two objections to the proposed Fifth street gravel improvement, between Fifth and Sixth streets, the council adopted an ordinance approving the project. Some property owners there have no way of getting to their property in the winter time while those objecting have ingress and egress from another street.

The council asked the recorder to make a list of all city-owned property, acquired for non-payment of street improvement assessments. The street committee is to place an upset price on these several lots and they will then be advertised for sale.
