$10,000,000,000 BIRTHDAY

"LOOK behind the automobile, Johnny Tax Collector, and you will find a nice birthday gift of $10,000,000,000."
 If you heard that come out of the radio loud speaker, you would probably think that Orson Welles had taken over one of the popular birthday salute programs, in which listeners with birthdays are told about hidden gifts.
 Such a message, however, would be entirely appropriate for use on Tuesday, Feb. 25. That day is the 22nd birthday of the American gasoline tax. Behind the automobile is more than $10,000,000,000 that has been contributed in gasoline taxes by the motoring public since the birth of the youngster.
 These billions of dollars in gasoline taxes are being paid largely by families with modest incomes. According to studies by the federal government, more than half of the car-owning families in the United States have incomes of less than $2,000 a year. The reason they have small ability to pay taxes.
 First inaugurated in Oregon in 1919, the gasoline tax was soon adopted by all the states. In 1933 the federal government imposed a duplicating levy, the rate of which was increased in 1940. Most of the states also have increased their tax rates, chiefly in the depression years of 1930 to 1933. The overall burden of federal and state gasoline taxes averages about 46 per cent of the retail price. For every $1 that the average motorist pays for gasoline, he also pays an additional 46 cents in taxes.
 At this time America may well salute the gasoline tax on its birthday, for the roads built with the revenue have eliminated the isolation of the farm. These roads have facilitated the movement of market products of field and factory. By opening up the scenic beauties of the country, they have made real the slogan, "See America First."
 These roads, built with gasoline taxes to serve the peacetime needs of the nation, now stand as the first line of defense in our great program of national security. These roads already have been produced. They do not have to be built. Men, equipment and supplies can be moved over them today. There is no waiting until roads. In a national emergency the entire nation could be moved, with a seat for every man, woman and child in the passenger cars and buses now operating on our highways. The 4,500,000 trucks now on our highways could service the biggest army that this nation could put into the field.
