W. C. T. U. Message Alcoholic Education

The March message on alcoholic education was given at Friday's meeting of the W. C. T. U., held at the home of Mrs. V. L. Bailey, by Georgia Davidson, Alice Holverstott and Mrs. Fred Schaefer. The meeting, which was conducted by Mrs. C. C. Farr, opened with devotions led by Mrs. Fred Schaefer. Mrs. Harry Ross, program chairman, presented Mrs. Flora Dunne, who gave a paper entitled "Glimpses of Frances E. Willard's Girlhood." Mrs. Edwin Swanson, accompanied by Kathryn Trendell, sang "There's a Rose Blooming." Barbara Davidson, accompanied by Georgia Davidson, sang "Sweet and Low." Mrs. H. A. Minter reviewed an article entitled "Scientific Methods in Alcoholic Education," which was written by John C. Almack, a professor at Stanford who was at one time superintendent of Coquille schools.

Fred Schaefer reported that $66 was cleared at the recent rummage sale. The Union voted to send ten Union Signals to pastors and educators. Members gave their endorsement to Morris Sheppard's bill S-860, a defense measure. Decision was made to postpone the institute meeting until after April 1.

Hostesses for the meeting were

Mesdames R. B. Knife, V. L. Bailey, Alice Holverstott and W. A. Ireland. Members present included Mesdames B. A. Davis, Del Towne, Ed Davidson, F. G. Leslie, Harold Varney, H. A. Camp Fire Girls 29th Anniversary

Coquille Camp Fire Girls are joining with the more than 280,000 Camp Fire Girls throughout America who are holding a nation-wide celebration during March of the 29th birthday of their character-building organization, it is announced by Cherie Mae Hartwell, member of the Camp Fire Guardian Council. In observance of this anniversary, Miss Hartwell pointed out, the Camp Fire Girls are working on a national Birthday project called, "Treasure Trails," which deals with America's creative arts.

In carrying out the Treasure Trails program, each Camp Fire girl decides for herself whether to investigate the arts of an ancestor's native land, examine the arts which have influenced their home community or study the arts of a neighboring country, particularly those of the western hemisphere. The girls are also making illustrated "Treasure Books" recording the achievement of five or more great composers, painters, sculptors, poets, dancers or actors. Supplementary activities include, according to the group's choice, listening to music at concerts, over the radio and on the phonograph, visiting a craftsman's workshop or factory, compiling an anthology of favorite poems, collecting prize-winning photographs from newspapers or magazines, and attending professional plays or outstanding movies.

Special creative work in honor of Camp Fire's 29th Birthday covers a wide range: Writing a poem; composing music for a favorite poem or instrument; doing an original illustration, portrait, or landscape; making a wood block or a plate for etching; modeling or carving a statuette or plaque in bas-relief; photographing and making prints of six different subjects; composing and presenting an original dance; designing costumes for a play; and arranging poems for a choric speech group, having them performed on a public program.

Though "Treasure Trails" the Camp Fire Girls of 1941 are following in the footsteps of their founder and first president, Dr. Luther Halsey Quilck, who believed firmly in the value of creative activities, in doing things with one's hands and making one's own designs. In planning the program 29 years ago, Dr. Quilck and his associates stressed the importance of "learning by doing." This idea has continued to be the underlying educational principle of the Camp Fire Girls.

The "Treasure Trails," Council Fire will take place at the High School Auditorium, Friday evening, March 28. Mrs. Pearl Ellingson will speak on "The Art and Literature Influences in America." Parents and friends of Camp Fire are invited to come to the 29th Birthday celebration.
