

Coos Ministers Met Here Monday

The ministers of Coos county gathered at Pioneer Methodist church last Monday for their monthly meeting. While the local ministers were not present in any large numbers, yet the different preachers of the county responded and a very profitable and enjoyable day was held. Rev. Mr. Adams, pastor of the Church of Christ, North Bend, presided as president of the association. Rev. Wm. Burgoyne, pastor of the Methodist church in Marshfield, presented the program of the afternoon. This was followed by a general discussion. Rev. Mr. Burgoyne presented the list of radio speakers for the devotional hours during the next months. Dinner was enjoyed in Pioneer hall at noon. The next meeting of the association, which includes all ministers of all denominations in the county, will be held in Bandon on December 15.

The pictures presented Tuesday evening at Pioneer church under the auspices of the young people of the Epworth League, were well attended and enjoyed. Mr. Zedric donated his machine and time for the interest of the League group. The pictures show the interest taken in the beauty of nature and reveal a wide range of subjects, having been gathered from extensive travels, especially in our great Northwest country. At a later date these will be shown again in short periods with a few rolls at a showing. When shown again the regular screen will be used which brings out better coloring. General interest in the pictures has been found on the part of all who were present on Tuesday evening. The League thanks all who made this possible.

Church Societies

Mrs. Lloyd Persing was pleasantly surprised after the Friday evening Bible study meeting, when she was presented with a large myrtlewood sandwich tray and a myrtlewood creamer and sugar, also a decorated birthday cake. A little later light refreshments were served to those who were present.

To rush last minute preparations for their annual Christmas Bazaar, members of the Women's Society of Christian Service of Pioneer Methodist church worked deftly Thursday afternoon at their regular business meeting on dainty handwork to be offered for Christmas gift buyers at the bazaar. Rev. Charles G. Brown was present at the meeting to lead the devotions. Mr. Brown chose his text from the Book of Ruth.

At the meeting, it was announced that the bazaar would be held Saturday, November 15, at the U. E. McClary Appliance store.

Refreshments were served by a committee composed of Mrs. William Ireland, Mrs. W. P. Laws, Mrs. F. G. Leslie, Mrs. L. A. Lundquist and Mrs. Floyd Peterson to the Mesdames R. B. Rogers, L. P. Fugelson, D. B. Kesner, Clyde Minard, Elton Savage, Miranda Way, L. W. Oddy, Birdie Skeels, H. A. Wood, A. J. Nussell, Floyd Peterson, T. S. Stevens, E. Purvance, C. C. McCurdy, Harold Ziegler, O. B. Harriman, Emily Hersey, George Taylor, Walter Oerding, Lucella Davis, Jane Erickson, Frank Schram, Harold Withnell, Paul Snyder and H. Varney.

November 1 the young people of the Assembly of God church were entertained at the Anton Schroeder home in honor of Wayne's eighteenth birthday. The guests arrived attired in Hallowe'en costume. Randolph Johnson, Sr., Mama Johnson and Mr. Poewee were represented among the guests. After much merriment and some Hallowe'en games, Wayne opened his birthday gifts, after which cookies, cider and two decorated birthday cakes were served to the following guests: Harriet and Ernie Wallace, Lena Martin, Wallace Howard, Ray and Carl Jewel, Walter Exely, Naomi, Virginia and Winnifred Van Fleet, Waneta Wardrip, Paf Thomas, Ruby Marney, Melvin and Margaret Steward, Gordon Howard, Jean and Mary Lou Newton and their three visiting cousins and the guest of honor, Wayne Schroeder.

The Women's Missionary Council of the Assembly of God church met Wednesday, Nov. 1, at the church, with eleven members and one visitor present. After the regular business meeting Mrs. Newton led the devotions. Mrs. Coy had charge of the program and read a very interesting letter from Mr. and Mrs. Plymire about their work on the border of Tibet. She also said something of climatic conditions and life and religious ceremonies of Tibet from the book entitled "In Disguise to Lassa." Those present were Mesdames Ada Howard, Frances Holmstrom, Fern Schroeder, Elsie Newton, Ida May Seward, Hattie Coy, Bessie Cooper, Lucy Train, V. R. Wilson, Lloyd Persing and Miss Aileen Wilson.

A quilt for the Children's Farm at Corvallis kept members of the Helping Hand Division of the Church of Christ Missionary society busy Thursday afternoon, when they were entertained by Mrs. W. H. Wimer. While the members worked on the quilt, Mrs. Lulu Woodward, who presided during the absence of the president, conducted a business meeting. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Wimer to the following members: the Mesdames Elmer Souder, Gladys George, Maud Bean, Dan Brown, A. N. Foley, Berlyn Billings, Floyd Dalton, Alice Rhey, Elva Philpott, Pearl Cardwell, Ed Davidson, John Saunders, Aurora Willard and Geo. Chapman.

The women of the Baptist Church met yesterday in the fellowship room of the church for a missionary program. The meeting was opened by singing and the devotionals were led by Mrs. E. C. Swanson, who read selections from the Bible and with the theme, "Giving Thanks."

After a short business meeting, the following program was conducted by Mrs. Ralph Keunzli: "Pilgrims' First Thanksgiving," Georgia Davidson; "Geo. Washington's Thanksgiving Proclamation," Mrs. Parrish; Abraham Lincoln's Thanksgiving Proclamation," Mrs. T.R. Rutledge; "The Most Beautiful Thanksgiving Proclamation," Mrs. John Stone; Psalm 100 and Thanksgiving Prayer, read by Mrs. Keunzli. Mrs. Short, retired missionary and wife of the Nazarene minister of Coquille, was then introduced. Mrs. Short gave a very interesting talk on her former work as a medical missionary in South Africa. Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Elmer Holverstoit to the 23 ladies present.

Dorcas Division of The Church Of Christ Missionary Society

Members of the Dorcas society sat down to a tempting dessert luncheon served by Mrs. V. L. Bailey at her home last Thursday. She was assisted by Mrs. John Boots. Devotions were led by Mrs. A. M. Willey and Mrs. Joe Murphy. Mrs. Alton Dungey reported that twenty dish towels are being worked on and one pair of pillow slips is completed and ready for sale. According to a report given by Mrs. Alton McCue, one quilt is finished and a second one almost ready for completion.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Smith, who are missionaries in Alaska, wrote interesting letters about their life and work in the far north in two letters which were read by Mrs. Elwyn Nosler.

A cleverly written selection for a reading was supplied by Mrs. Della

Towne, and presented to the group by Mrs. Alton Dungey in a most entertaining manner. After a vote was taken to dress a doll for members of the cradle roll, the afternoon closed with an engrossing parcel post party. Members present were Mesdames V. L. Bailey, John Boots, Arthur Hooton, Belle Hooton, Guy Kelley, Harold McCue, A. M. Willey, Irvin McKee, C. R. Murphy, Elwyn Nosler, E. H. O'Dell, Amos Payne, Della Towne, and Miss Jennie Lafferty.
