Junior Woman's Club Hears Mrs. Sanford

The Junior Woman's Club met Monday night, March 23, for a regular meeting at the Guild Hall with the president, Marjorie Knight, presiding and the secretary, Helen Ayres, present.

The members were fortunate in having Mrs. O. C. Sanford for their speaker, and were enthusiasts over the lovely talk she gave, which many of her hearers said was truly inspirational. She spoke first on the subject of Fine Arts, complimenting the members for their last meeting when the subject had been emphasized by an exhibit of representative local arts and crafts. Following up this subject was a resume of Mrs. Sanford's trip to Washington for the national convention.

As a war time economy the Junior Club voted to hold the rest of their meetings in the members' homes. For nearly three years their meetings have been held in the St. James' Episcopal Guild Hall.

An invitation was read to the members to attend the district meeting at Taft April 12. Also a letter was read from Federation headquarters, stating that Coquille, being one of the larger clubs, was eligible to representation of one at the national convention at Fort Worth, Texas, in late April.

A report was given on a benefit card party, the first since the plan for such benefits was launched, and the amount given, by Blanche Sandon. Helen Ayres reported on the Nutrition meeting which she had attended recently as a representative of the Junior Club. Eunice Barrow urged the girls to see Mrs. McLarrin, president of Bundles for America, and to start knitting articles at once so that next meeting their work in progress may be evidenced. Mrs. McLarrin has sent out a call for more knitters, as now the agency has plenty of yarn.

During the program and social hour, Jean Griggs high school girl, sang three songs, accompanied by Marybelle Yarbrough. In charge of refreshments were Eunice Barrow and Dorothy McCue. Members and guests present were: Donna D. Bosserman, Jean Laird, Marjorie Knight, Dorothy Harris, Blanche Sandon, Irene Beadner, Leah Bradley, Marjorie Jones, Carol Young, Yvonne Kern, Lunelle Chapin, Gertrude Swinney, Ruth Clayton, Ruth Dey, Alta Matejka, Lucille Livingston, Ellen Braxton, Jane Martin, Dorothy McCue, Eunice Barrow Helen Ayres, Mrs. O. C. Sanford, Mrs. Geo. Maynard, Mrs. J. A. Berg.

Thursday Contract Club

Stewart, Mrs. Geo. Chaney, Mrs. R. A. Wernich, Mrs. D. E. Rackleff, Mrs. J. A. Lamb and Mrs. Lafe Compton.

Saturday Night Pinochle Club

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Smith entertained their Pinochle club last Saturday night for Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hand who are leaving soon for Medford. In order to make the round of homes before their leaving, two members will entertain this week, on Wednesday and Saturday. At Pinochle, J. D. Gillespie was high, J. L. Stevens, low, and Mrs. Taylor won the traveling prize. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hand, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Drue Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Don Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Stevens.

Many Coquille Women Attended A. A. U. W. Tea and Style Show

Several smartly-dressed groups of Coquille women were observed about the audience last Saturday afternoon when the A. A. U. W. presented their annual tea and style show. The style show this year was given through the courtesy of The Paris at Marshfield.

Mrs. Jas. T. Brand, now living at Salem came down to act as commentator. With her usual assurance and ready wit she injected unexpected humorous angles frequently to her style comments. Among the changes in this spring's trend were less padding in the sleeves and shoulders, a demarcation in the skirt length of the young girl, the mature woman wearing her skirt definitely longer. Mrs. Brand repeatedly referred to the changes through the years of names used for the same colors, principally cerise is now fuchsia and Kelly green is now "parsley green."

A charming highlight was the modeling by Mrs. Bernard Barkwill in a short black dress and worn with it was a wide black hat with long veil drawn back and loosely caught together, hanging long. This costume gave a definite Spanish effect. A certain tall dark-eyed woman trekked to the store for further scrutiny of this loveliness only to find that the model herself had succumbed to its temptation!

Diana Powers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Powers formerly of Coquille, poised and happily smiling, tripped forth with a fairy lightness as one of the younger models.

The style show closed with a wedding march before which a model displayed a rich ivory satin wedding gown with bride's attendant beautifully garbed and a dainty little blond child as flower girl. Before and during the show there was an elaborate dance by three of Miss Meredith's pupils and solo by Mrs. Barnett. Some stayed on for cards but many left at the close of the style show.

Omit Club

Miss Nurne McKewen entertained the members of the Omit club at her home last Thursday evening. The occasion was something of a farewell party for one member, Mrs. Vi-

The hostess served dessert of table decorated with the national colors, small ships in military arrangement and place cards carrying out the same idea. At bridge Marjorie Knight was high, Margaret Belloni low. Members present were Maxine Johnson, Mary Edna Swindall, Marjorie Knight, Aloha Allen, Lillian St. Clair, Margaret Belloni, Virginia Wood and the hostess.

Bachelor Girls

The regular meeting of the Bachelor Girls was held at their luncheon last Friday at the Coquille hotel. A special meeting on this Thursday was planned to arrange details for a coming dinner dance. The new song books were put to use at the luncheon. These songs are original words by some of the club members. Covers are in red and gold, club colors and were cleverly made by Hazel Moffet. Present were Margaret Belloni, Maxine Johnson, Aloha Allen, Lydia Holstein, Gladys May, Carol Young, Marjorie Knight, Winifred Stone, Helen Ann Shaw, Dorothy Coffin, Alice Jane Fox and Noreen McKewen.

Party at Midway C. S. C. Club

Lovely daffodils arranged about the room made the home of Mrs. Neil McGilvery springlike on Tuesday when she entertained the C. S. C. club. Dessert luncheon was served at one-thirty and a pleasant afternoon was spent by the members in sewing and visiting, though many were absent for various reasons. Those present were Mesdames Jan. Watson, Jack Arnold, Earl Cross, Geo. Gilman and Harold Varney.

Seven Teas Meet

At the meeting last Thursday of the Seven Teas club, it was agreed to vote Juanita Culbertson, formerly of the club an honorary member. Juanita has moved away from Coquille. Gloria Chapman was hostess at her home. The business meeting was held as usual and all old matters cleared away. New projects were discussed. This group, too, is taking part in supplying the soldiers stationed here with home-made cookies. Present at the meeting were Martha Berg, Patricia Berg, Barbara Barrows and Gloria Chapman.

A young group who made up an impromptu party last Saturday night went to Midway Club for dancing and returned to town for dinner. Included were Messrs. and Mesdames Ken Hulse, Ed Brown, Max Landis, F. H. McKibben, Jim Hill, Elmer Barrows, Heitzelman, Gus Brown.
