Thoughts By R. A. Easton

The following letter is from the Sentinel's former East Fork correspondent, R. A. Easton, who has resided at Ashland for many years past. The thoughts he presents are some which it would be well for one and all to ponder.

We had a beautiful Christmas, it seemed as though the Spirit of Christmas was in the air signifying a growth of "good will to men" that will continue with the centuries of time.

On the old home farm in Putnam, N. Y., the Rice place was a hill sheep pasture and every spring the grass showed green earlier, especially where the salt troughs were. And the feel of spring was in the air and every day the grass enlarged its surroundings and became more green. It is 66 or 67 years since I have seen the green of that springtime grass but I know that this year, 1943, in March or in April, that grass will show an early green again, as it has done in all the years of the past since the first seed was sown there. That was long before my day.

So also the continuous growth of the Christmas Spirit was, is and ever shall be. It is in the roots of the intelligence of the Almighty that man has absorbed throughout all the countless ages of the past and as long as there is life in a root the plant lives and puts forth new growth, and there will be a victorious peace.

Thoughts in the night:
The ideals and teachings of Jesus

Christ are not something to be worshipped but something to be lived by and for.

When mankind attempts or acquires anything that is worth while, the worthwhile part of his manhood has to pay the price of defensive and offensive action.

A man's brain is the power plant of his thinking and actions.

—R. A. Easton.

Bonus meats in the menu

There's no need of too much worry about making your meat allowance stretch when there are all those delicious bonus meats that can be had (at least at this writing). I speak of ready meats such as liver, heart, kidney, pigs' feet and all those extras that don't come in on the meat quota, as far as nutritional value goes, they have everything that other meats have, and in most cases, more too. Liver, heart, and kidney are right on top of the list when it comes to contributing iron to the diet. They're vitamin foods, too, for they contain vitamins A, B, C, and some D.

If you've built up a psychological resistance toward them, it is most likely because you've probably never tried them. But if you like chicken gizzards, then you're bound to like these bonus meats.

MOCK OISLET NOODLES—Scute small pieces of liver or kidney or pre-cooked heart in hot shortening. Make a sauce out of the pan drippings or use mushroom sauce and add meat and sauce to hot noodles. Don't pass judgment on sundries until you've tried this dish.

SPANISH KIDNEY—Remove white centers and tubes of kidneys; slice into thin slices, brown quickly in hot shortening along with chopped onion. Cover with tomato sauce or canned tomatoes and steam for about 15 minutes. Serve with rice or spaghetti.

LIVER BURGERS—Grind uncooked liver, using the coarse knife of the grinder, add about 1/2 as much bread crumbs, chopped onions and seasonings to taste. Add enough beaten egg or evaporated milk to bind mixture. Shape into patties and fry quickly. Grand with whole kernel corn.
