If the next time you drive into a service station for gasoline, the attendant asks to see your ration book before he pumps the gas it is not because he doubts your honesty. He has set up rules for him to follow which make it difficult for the unscrupulous person to get any gasoline to which he is not legally entitled. Motorists are protecting their own right to a share of driving when they follow the regulations printed on the new service station poster which is being displayed by many of the local filling stations.

The red, white and blue poster carries an "official notice to gasoline consumers" issued by the Office of Price Administration. The OPA urged all car owners, when they buy gasoline to read the regulations as printed on the poster so that they can better understand how the rules are intended to protect the honest motorist and make it difficult for the wrongdoer to get by. The poster reads:
