

Minor Mention

E. T. Stelle, manager of the bank here, and Mrs. Stelle and their daughter, returned Sunday from his two weeks' vacation which they spent at Eugene. Out there they occupied the home of Mrs. Stelle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Auld, who enjoyed their vacation by occupying the Stelle home on Knowlton Heights here.

Miss Annabelle Martindale, who had been up in Spokane for the past seven months, came home last Friday and has decided to remain at home. She came down from eastern Washington with Mrs. Orville Weekly who stopped at Winchester Bay, to visit her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn Nosler and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Rhay, who drove to Portland last week were accompanied home on Friday by Mrs. Rhay's mother, Mrs. Dan W. Brown, who now resides in Spokane. She lived in Coquille a few years ago when her late husband was minister of the Church of Christ here.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ward returned last week from San Francisco, where she had been living for some time and she expects to remain in Coquille now.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton H. Grimes, who returned from Portland Sunday, were accompanied by Miss Jean Young, who spent four days with her parents here and left last evening with Miss Alice Fish on a ten-day trip along the Oregon beach resorts to the north.

Walter Krantz makes his contribution to the large onion score. He pulled up a couple from his Victory garden, planted this spring, which measured 6 1/2 inches through, the greatest diameter.

Mrs. Maud Woodyard was a visitor for a day in Coquille on Monday, coming from her home in Eugene. She was a house guest over night at the J. S. Barton home, a dinner guest of Mrs. Florence Hallock and a breakfast guest of Muriel Dae Ardath.

Mr. and Mrs. Oren B. Coy, who have been living in Lebanon, where he was employed in the plywood plant, returned Tuesday morning to Coquille to make their home. "Coquille is our home," said Mrs. Coy, "and besides it was too hot out there."

Miss Alfa Bang, formerly a teacher in the Coquille schools, has been a visitor here this week. She is now teaching, eleven and one-half months of the year, at Vanport, that new 35,000 population city near Portland, composed almost entirely of shipyard workers. She says that are 5,000 children in the Vanport schools.

Natalie Burns, from Toledo, who came to attend the B. P. W. conference in Marshfield over the week end was a house guest of Mrs. J. S. Barton.

Julien Freeman returned Saturday from a vacation trip of two weeks in southern California and San Francisco, where she visited friends. While in Los Angeles she saw Patricia Peterson.

During the absence of Mrs. Leila McClure, manager of the Excel Dress Shoppe here, who will be on her vacation from Aug. 22 to 29, Miss Jewell Lairmore, from the Grants Pass store, will be in charge.

Celebration Pictures Shown At Rotary

Moving pictures in color of the recent Fourth of July celebration in Coquille were shown by Dr. James Bunch at the noon meeting of the Rotary Club at the hotel on Wednesday.

The pictures gave a very comprehensive delineation of the celebration, including the land and water parades and the sports events, both on the street and the river.

Report on the softball game was made by Clarence Osika, who deduced the reason for the Rotarian defeat was the date, Friday, the 13th.

Louis Holimon reported on the Golf match played between the Lions and Rotarians Sunday, which was won by the latter with a substantial lead.

Lud Scharfer had the cigars passed around in honor of the recent addition of a young lady to his family and was initiated into a very mysterious secret order and decorated with the raiment and working tools of said order.

Distinguished guests for the day were Harvey Cole, just returned from the campaign in North Africa, and Bob Churchill, who is on leave from participation in recent events in the South Pacific.

Other guests present were James F. Hodges of Seattle, and Royal Davis of the International Harvester Co.

Plans were perfected for the annual stag party at J. Arthur Berg's cabin at Laurel Lake on Friday evening and cars will leave from the hotel from 5:30 on that evening and dinner will be at 6:30.

Mighty Fine Spuds Grown In Parkings Here

Herb Wood brought in to the Sentinel office last week some spuds that he and John Jayes grew in the parkings in front of their places. They were nice, big potatoes and Mr. Jayes secured four sacks of Earliest of All from his 40x40 patch. Herb's Beavers were a trifle smaller but he harvested four sacks from his 40x50 tract.

Mrs. Brandon Says Kansas Is Beautiful This Summer

Mrs. Laura Brandon returned Tuesday evening from a trip east on which she visited a sister in Colorado and at her old home in Kansas City.

"You never saw such a beautiful spot as Kansas is this year," was her greeting to the Sentinel editor who lived for more than 30 years in the Sunflower state and has seen its dust storms, blizzards and floods, as well as its myriad attractions. Mrs. Brandon made it a point to travel through what is called the "dust bowl" during the daytime and she says the wheat, corn and other crops are marvelous.
