Howdy Folks:

Did you ever think of what all you expect when you have your motor worked on?

A fellow made it plain to us a few days ago just what he wanted. It was exactly what we expect of every motor we rebuild, and we must give our equipment due credit for us being able to do this.

He wanted his motor to start quickly and keep running; to respond with a smooth flow of power without sounding like an anvil churning under the hood; to go farther on every drop of gas and use no oil; and to last for the duration of the war or of the car—which was very considerate.
